LODGE SEES PERIL IN FREE TOLLS

Halts Bristow's Attack on President, Saying Nation Is in Serious Situation.

EVEN DANGER OF WAR

Hints That Canal and Other World Problems Threaten the Nation's Prestige.

BRISTOW ACCUSES WILSON

Pictures the Executive as Being Under Spell of the Railroads—Republicans Join in His Defense.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The international situation confronting the United States was discussed on the floor of the Senate this afternoon with greater frankness than had been heard there since Spanish war days. The isolation of the United States from the great powers, which President Wilson sketched to Senators of the Committee on Foreign Relations three weeks ago, was referred to in unmistakable terms, while Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts, ranking Republican of the committee, told the Senate that unless the President's wishes for the repeal of the discriminating Panama Canal toll provision were carried out, the hostility of many nations might lead the United States to "serious loss or serious injury or wars or something like war."

Mr. Lodge's statement of the "perilous character" of the foreign problems, now in the hands of the President, made a profound impression on the Senate.

His speech was the final expression of the general indignation, aroused by insinuations of Mr. Bristow of Kansas, a radical Republican, that the great railroad interests had induced President Wilson to violate the pledge in the Democratic platform for free tolls to American coastwise shipping. Mr. Bristow denied that he intended any reflection on the President's integrity, but Republicans and Democrats alike interpreted his remarks as an assault on the President's honesty and repudiated the suggestion.

"I certainly caught the impression," said Mr. Lodge, "that the Senator implied that the influence of great corporations had been very strong in determining the President's attitude. I don't believe the President has changed his mind. I believe he has held this conviction all along. I believe he has been guided entirely by considerations of the honor and credit of the United States in her relations with foreign countries.

"I think the President sees that the time has come to retract some steps taken subsequent to March, 1909. I think he has the feeling that somehow or other the United States has fallen into the unfortunate and unhappy position of incurring the active dislike of many nations, instead of the friendship which she once possessed, and the distrust of many more.

Outlaw Among Nations.

"The President does not like to put the United States into the attitude of an outlaw among the nations. He feels she should have all the prestige she ever had, and this prestige is not to be obtained by disregarding international obligations and reversing policies long held by the United States, simply to gratify some passing fashion or whim. I believe the President regards foreign relations as above party.

"I am not in any position where I must defend the President, but I cannot sit by when an injustice is done to the President of the United States, in whose hands rests the conduct of all foreign affairs, without making some protest simply as an American citizen.

"I differ as much as possible from the President on general political principles, but that does not hold me here when the President is dealing with foreign relations in some respects of a most perilous and difficult character. And when he says on his high responsibility to the Congress of the United States that a certain step in foreign relations is necessary to the good name and to the safety of the United States; necessary to aid him in saving the United States perhaps from serious loss or serious injury or wars or something like war—if he says that on his high responsibility I think it becomes those, who feel as I do on foreign affairs, not to block his plans."

President Wilson had made no such statement to Congress as that described by Senator Lodge, but those who heard the Senator got the impression that Mr. Lodge was referring to the President's unfolding of the situation to the Foreign Relations Committee at the White House one evening about three weeks ago. While Mr. Lodge did not go into particulars as to the perilous aspects of the situation, it was understood that he meant the strained relations of the United States with Great Britain on account of the Panama tolls dispute; with all maritime nations sympathizing with England; with Japan on account of Japanese exclusion; with Russia on account of the abrogation of the treaty of 1832, with Colombia on account of the spoliation of Panama, and with Mexico on account of the continuing disorders in that country.

Bristow Started It.

The discussion of the Panama tolls came up suddenly in the course of a speech by Mr. Bristow in favor of woman suffrage. He spoke of the President's explanation to a delegation of women that he could not publicly indorse woman suffrage because he had to confine himself "to those things which have been embodied as promises to the people at an election," and compared that with his action in regard to the platform declaration for discrimination in canal tolls.

"The ladies were very much impressed as well as depressed," said Mr. Bristow, "by the party shackles with which our President seemed to be bound hand, foot, and tongue. The platform, politically speaking, was sacred to him. These good women went away sore in spirit and sick at heart. They had read of the fine courage of our President and

CHINA BEING "SOLD UP."

Another Sensational Contract—Yuan Issues an Appeal for Funds.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Thursday, Feb. 19.—The Peking correspondent of The Daily Telegraph wires:

"The semi-official press declares that another sensational contract has been secretly signed at Shanghai between the Chinese Directors and a powerful Japanese syndicate, mortgaging completely for £2,500,000 ($12,500,000) the valuable Tayeh iron ore mines and the allied concerns near Hankow.

"It is daily, almost hourly, growing more patent that China is being sold up and that a general scramble is beginning.

"The publication of a remarkable Government appeal to the Provinces has caused a sensation in diplomatic circles. The President declares that 'if the liabilities now existing are not paid the financial control will be seized by foreigners. The ruination of Egypt and Korea should warn us that should China be partitioned through foreign intervention all will share in the general calamity.

"'The Government actually lacks money to meet any single obligation, while the lack of funds renders it impossible to erect an efficient administration.'"

IRISH CRISIS ACUTE.

London Times Warns the Public That the Situation Is Grave.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Thursday, Feb. 19.—The London Times in an editorial this morning on the Irish question strikes the following grave note:

"The speeches of Mr. Arthur J. Balfour and of Sir Edward Carson in the City yesterday and the letter from Sir Frederick Harrison to the Prime Minister must deepen the growing sense of thoughtful men that we have entered upon a crisis without a parallel in our history since the days of the Long Parliament. They warn us ho wnear we are drawing to a calamity so unspeakable that the nation even yet is but beginning to think it possible.

"It has become the first duty of all who realize what that catastrophe means, and how close to us it is, to warn the public to fix their thoughts upon this one issue without being diverted from it by minor questions which arise from day to day. Important though many of these may be in themselves, they sink into insignificance compared with the menace which has arisen to our civic peace.

"Time, it must be borne in mind, is of the essence of peaceful settlement and time is fast running out."

CORK, Feb. 18.—William O'Brien, leader of the Independent Irish Nationalists, was re-elected unopposed to-day as Member of Parliament for Cork City.

He recently resigned in consequence of a speech by Augustine Roche, Nationalist member for North Louth, who who declared that the independent leader had lost his hold on Cork. Mr. O'Brien accepted the implied challenge and immediately vacated his seat, but the regular Nationalist Party decided not to oppose him, John Redmond desiring to keep in the background as much as possible any differences between the two wings of the Nationalist Party.

NO BRITISH MANOEUVRES.

Government to Save $2,500,000—Extraordinary Decision, Says Mail.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Thursday, Feb. 19.—The Daily Mail says it is able to state on high authority that there will be no British naval manoeuvres this year. An outlay of about $2,500,000 will thus be saved for the first time since 1907, when, also, the manoeuvres were suppressed from motives of economy.

The ostensible reason for the abandonment this year is said to be that nothing new can be learned from fresh manoeuvres. The Government, it is stated, considers that all that was necessary was learned from last year's exercises. The results of the 1913 manoeuvres were never made known to the public.

The Daily Mail says the decision is the more extraordinary because last year's manoeuvres showed that the British plans for defense were faulty. Lord Roberts stated that they revealed the fact that a considerable force might be landed on the British Coast.

4 DEAD, 30 HURT IN CAR.

Indianapolis Trolley Crushed Between Two Traction Cars.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 18.—Four persons were killed, five probably fatally injured, and twenty-five others hurt here to-night when an out-bound English Avenue street car was crushed between two heavy traction cars. The accident occurred at Virginia Avenue and South Street and was caused by slippery rails.

The dead are: Fletcher Roark, motorman, English Avenue car; Harry Oliver, James Horan, 16 years old, and Jacob K. Hardy, 48 years old. The seriously injured are John Kaney, Mrs. E. C. Fessler, George Shirka, Harry Virney, and P. C. Jochun.

The English Avenue car, loaded with persons homeward bound from the business section, had stopped at the foot of a steep grade, just behind a Columbus and Southern Traction car, when a large Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction freight car that was following sped down the hill and crashed into it. The four persons killed and a majority of the injured were standing on the rear platform of the English Avenue car, which was telescoped. Rain which froze when it struck the car tracks is said to have made the rails so slippery that the motorman of the freight car was unable to stop it.

ROCKEFELLER TO Y. M. C. A.

He Gives $50,000 to the Springfield Training School.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 18.—John D. Rockefeller has given $50,000 to the International Y. M. C. A. Training School here. Dr. L. L. Doggett, President of the institution, is in New York, but the report is confirmed by other members of the faculty. Mr. Rockefeller's check has already reached the city. Until Dr. Doggett returns it will not be known whether the gift is for a specific purpose or is to be used at the discretion of the Trustees.

H. L. Pratt of New York City is Vice President of the school, and it is thought that Mr. Rockefeller's gift is the result of Mr. Pratt's good offices.

CASTILLO BLAMES DISASTER ON VILLA

Bandit Says He Is an Innocent Patriot and Was Not at Cumbre Tunnel.

HAS FAITH IN AMERICANS

He and His Men Will Be Held at Fort Bliss—Washington Puzzled Over His Case.

Special to The New York Times.

HACHITA, New Mexico, Feb. 18.—Maximo Castillo, the bandit, who fired the Cumbre Tunnel, is now a prisoner of the United States Army, and will be locked up in the guardhouse, with his six followers, next to Gen. Ynez Salazar, the former red flag rebel.

Castillo was brought here on horseback to-day, his hands tied behind him and his straw sombrero pulled down over his eyes to keep the sun out of them. His beard was unkempt, his hair untrimmed, and he looked like the grandfather of the dapper Captain of the Presidential Guards, who commanded the Madero Mounted Rifles after the victory of Juarez.

Castillo was as vicious in mood as he was ugly in appearance. His answers to questions were in monosyllables, and he confined himself to "Yes" and "No" replies, except when prodded on his sore spot, the Cumbre tunnel disaster, in which fifty-five Mexicans and Americans lost their lives.

His wolf-like eyes sparkling and his hands raised in dramatic gestures, Castillo fairly shouted:

"It is not the truth. I never killed a single man except in self-defense, and to charge me with the destruction of the Cumbre tunnel and the taking of all those innocent lives is but another demonstration of the length to which my enemies will go to villify me.

"I never set fire to the train at Cumbre tunnel, I knew nothing of the accident, and I had nothing to do with it. Villa's men blew up that tunnel to loot the train, and they never dreamed that it would result as it did. I am innocent, and if I am to be shot to-morrow I will swear that this is the truth.

"My men were not near the tunnel on that day, for we had met the enemy at El Valle, and they drove us back in the mountains to the west, while Cumbre is east. Villa's men were near Cumbre that very day, and I am firmly convinced that they dynamited the tunnel themselves to rob the passengers.

"You ask for what I was fighting? Justice, liberty, and lands were promised us by Madero. He did not live long enough to fulfill his promise. I thought that Orozco would make it good, but instead he turned against the poor people and joined with the traitor Huerta. Then we knew that we could expect nothing from the men we had trusted; so a small following of my loyal guards joined me and we went to Western Chihuahua, which had been our home before the start of the Madero revolution, and we resolved to take some land from the foreign invaders there and hold it for ourselves and for our children.

"That was what we were doing. We never robbed any one who was poor, and only made the rich Americans pay to us what they should have paid to the Government, but did not. We were not seeking to loot or kill, but only wished to establish our homes there, so we might have our people there.

"Then Villa came into the field, and he undertook to harass us because he wished to favor the American Government and its people. They placed a price on our heads, and we were hunted like animals. The climax came when the Cumbre disaster was placed at our door.

"I will stand trial for anything I have done and will abide by the decision. But to take me to Juarez now! It would be better that your good Gen. Scott should shoot me on this side and not make me suffer mentally as well as physically.

"I am your prisoner, and you are a civilized people. I do not fear the outcome."

Castillo will be held at Fort Bliss until orders are received from Washington.

Dispatch to The Associated Press.

HACHITA, N. M., Feb. 18.—With Maximo Castillo, when he was brought here to-day by United States troops, were his brother, his trumpeter and the latter's wife, and two Indian women.

On his person Lieut. Rothwell found the check for $1,000 given him by W. A. Roxby as a ransom. Roxby, an American, who is manager of a Mexican ranch, was held up by Castillo a week or more ago. He is now in El Paso, where the bank has been instructed not to honor the check.

The troopers and their prisoners camped last night at Las Cienegas, fifteen miles south of here. The trip was over the roughest roads and required five hours.

AMERICAN MAY BE SHOT.

Bauch's Sister Begs Villa to Spare Him—Held as a Spy.

JUAREZ, Feb. 18.—Two foreigners, one a British subject and the other an American, are under arrest here, and the American, Gustav Bauch, whose sister, a Mrs. Patterson of this city, says he was born of German parents in Louisiana, may be shot as a spy.

Bauch was arrested on Sunday and tried by a court-martial yesterday. He was found guilty and sentence was left with Gen. Villa. Mrs. Patterson last night entreated the General to release her brother, or at least to spare his life, but the rebel leader declined to commit himself.

Thomas D. Edwards, United States Consul here, succeeded this afternoon in seeing Bauch. He, with two reporters, was conducted by Señor Ramon, chief of the rebel secret service, into a dark angle of the building, where the prisoner was held incommunicado. From somewhere out of the darkness the prisoner appeared.

His round face, fringed by a ring of beard, was a picture of fright until he saw that his visitors included Americans. Until then he had no way of knowing that he was not being brought out to be executed.

A rebel officer spoke sharply to him, warning him to say nothing. The young man blinked at the feeble ray of light,

HASSETT TO THE BAR; FEAR IN TAMMANY

Emissaries' Visits Start Reports That Ex-Secretary May Become Whitman Ally.

Thomas Hassett, formerly Secretary of State Engineer John A. Bensel and also formerly Secretary of the Board of Water Supply of this city, must plead to-day to an indictment accusing him of attempting to get $50,000 from a prospective Catskill Aqueduct contractor. Mr. Hassett, through counsel, has attacked the indictment vigorously, and has raised novel points of law in efforts to have it quashed. Justice Davis in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court yesterday, however, denied the motion to dismiss. If Mr. Hassett pleads not guilty District Attorney Whitman will move immediately for his trial.

The name of Mr. Hassett frequently has been mentioned since the graft investigation began. Mr. Hassett, according to testimony, knew what the Board of Water Supply was doing long after he resigned as its Secretary. In the indictment against him he is accused of accosting Anthony C. Douglass of Niagara Falls, the lowest bidder for the contract to construct the Hudson River siphon of the aqueduct system at the psychological moment when Douglass's bid was hanging in the balance in the Water Board. Mr. Douglass refused to pay the $50,000 and he didn't get the contract. The Commissioners of the Board of Water Supply have denied all knowledge of Hassett's hold-up, and they will appear at the trial to testify against Hassett if he pleads not guilty.

Representatives of Mr. Hassett have visited District Attorney Whitman's office recently, and in consequence reports have spread that Hassett was willing to tell the District Attorney about his relations with well-known officeholders. State Engineer Bensel, according to information which has reached the District Attorney's office, has been active in aiding Mr. Hassett. Mr. Bensel's refusal to waive immunity before the Grand Jury has lent strength to this rumor.

Mr. Hassett, it is believed, could strengthen much of the evidence in Mr. Whitman's possession. Tammany Hall has been at odds with Mr. Hassett for a long time, and the fear is prevalent in Tammany that Hassett may turn against it for that reason. If Mr. Hassett does decide to help Mr. Whitman it is certain that James E. Gaffney, the [illegible] Murphy, will gain nothing. Gaffney, in one of the famous "letters to a boss," demanded Hassett's removal by Murphy as secretary of the Board of Water Supply. Hassett resigned shortly after, but the action it was thought was forced by Tammany.

The Grand Jury will meet again this afternoon and try again to trace the graft money which was collected from Paterson & Co. of Pittsburgh, aqueduct contractors. State Engineer Bensel temporarily blocked the investigation on Tuesday when he refused to testify before the Grand Jury without assurance of immunity. Mr. Bensel's action has angered Mr. Whitman, and it is a secret no longer that the graft hunt has as targets Mr. Bensel and other State officials and politicians. Mr. Whitman has determined to get along without Bensel's aid. Surprising developments are expected soon.

Transcripts of Mr. Bensel's bank accounts are in the Grand Jury's hands. So are those of Henry Steers, a former partner of Gaffney, Tammany Leader Murphy, and "Jim" Gaffney. All of these accounts will be considered at to-day's inquiry, it was learned.

New witnesses have been subpoenaed for to-day's hearing. They include John R. McArthur, a contractor for the Ashokan Dam; John J. Hart, a Peekskill contractor; William Bradley of the Bradley Construction Company, formerly a business associate of Gaffney, and Henry Wheeler, an engineer, formerly in Gaffney's employ. Henry Steers will be recalled.

HENNESSY DECLINES OFFER.

Is Going Abroad and Can't Be Assembly's Graft Investigator.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 18.—John Leo Sullivan, Chairman of the Assembly graft investigating committee, conferred this afternoon with John A. Hennessy and was informed that Mr. Hennessy could not accept the position of chief investigator, although he would give the committee what help he could. Mr. Hennessy recommended the appointment of any one of several men who had aided him in his investigation of highway scandals, and one of these was Joseph Curran, who has been before James W. Osborne several times as a witness and who is now under charges made by the Department of Efficiency and Economy, it being alleged that he swore falsely to the statement that he had had ten years' experience in road building in qualifying for a position in the State Highway Department.

Mr. Sullivan was informed that Mr. Hennessy was about to leave on a European trip, which he had postponed for several months, and that he would be absent about five weeks. On his return, Mr. Hennessy said, he would aid the committee in any way he could. Mr. Sullivan said the committee would accept Mr. Hennessy's help, "and we expect that this will give the committee several leads for its inquiry."

It was stated that Mr. Hennessy told Mr. Sullivan what he had learned about the "printing ring" and that this was one of the matters the committee would take up. It was also stated that the committee would examine the affairs of the Excise Department, the Conservation Department, the State Controller's office, the State Engineer's department, and the matter of Capitol contracts.

The committee held a meeting last night at which John K. Clark, its counsel, read to the members portions of the testimony brought out by District Attorney Whitman regarding the exploits of Democratic bagmen among highway contractors in 1911 and 1912. Chairman Sullivan said that in all probability the hearings would be begin early next week.

When the Osborne graft inquiry is resumed to-morrow, Attorney J. H. Dealy, representing the Mohonk Contracting Company of Amsterdam, will be present to oppose further inquiry into that company's affairs after the manner followed heretofore. If any attempt is made to continue the hearing in regard to his client publicly, he will object, and,

W. J. BURNS TO SIFT THE FRANK MYSTERY

Detective Will Investigate Conviction of Mill Superintendent to Get at the Truth.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 18.—A declaration by Detective William J. Burns that he would undertake a personal investigation of the case of Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of little Mary Phagan; an announcement by Frank's attorneys that they would to-morrow ask the State Supreme Court, which yesterday refused to grant Frank a new trial, for a rehearing of the case, and a remarkable statement to the public by the prisoner himself were to-day's outstanding features in the remarkable case which has so stirred Georgia.

The grounds on which Frank's attorneys will base their motion for a rehearing are not known. The attorneys are silent beyond the statement that they will make the motion to-morrow.

"We are not done with the case yet by a great deal," said Luther Z. Rosser, leading counsel for Frank.

The appearance of Detective Burns in the case caused a sensation. Mr. Burns, who is here to deliver a lecture, said a New Yorker had talked to him about the Frank case, and had got him interested.

"I shall begin a personal investigation next week," said Mr. Burns, "to make sure that no injustice has been done. I have no intention of interfering with the courts, but there still seems to be an element of mystery about the case that I would like to clear up. Sometimes in circumstantial cases a chain of evidence is woven about an innocent man, and I want to be sure that this has not happened in the Frank case. I shall need to start at the very beginning and by the process of elimination seek to arrive at the truth.

"I do not say the case has not been well handled. I do not know. I do know that many detectives are crooks and grafters of the worst sort, and that they frequently muddle up a case and obscure the truth."

Mr. Burns held a long conference with friends of Frank during the afternoon. He will go from here to fill engagements in Florida, and return to Atlanta next week.

Frank, the convicted prisoner, says in his statement:

"My faith in men is unshaken, my faith in my fellow-citizens of Georgia steadfast, my faith in God supreme. I can truthfully say that there rests no bitterness or recrimination in my heart against those, who, with the authority of the law behind them, have enmeshed me, an innocent man, in the meshes of the law's machinery. I feel that they all have made a great mistake, a mistake which I trust has been unwillingly committed and the error of which I hope they may soon see. I feel toward them like the [illegible] Nazarene, who said: 'Forgive [illegible] for they know [illegible]

"A fabric reared upon a foundation of sand and a case upon a basis of error cannot and will not stand the acid test of reason, truth, and fairness. I do not ask for pity, for sympathy, or for quarter, I stake all on the truth. That alone is unshakable, uncrumbling, and lasting. I feel confidently that the truth will out; that God will not let an innocent man suffer for the crime of another; that 'the truth is on the march.'

"There is one fact connected with this case that lifts it from the realm of mystery and places it in the category of just plain, dastardly, ordinary brutal murder. I refer to the two notes which were found by the body of little Mary Phagan. Unquestionably, the person that wrote those notes killed Mary Phagan. There can be no doubt of that.

"The two notes form a piece of evidence which is in a class by itself. They cannot be twisted or rattled on the witness stand, nor can any amount of third degree coercion, star chamber session or training make them change what they indelibly will always proclaim to the world—that the hand that wrote those two notes tied the cord around poor little Mary Phagan's neck. The study of those notes must show the truth.

"The study of those notes brings up another ridiculous, though sinister, element of the case—Jim Conley. I am not going into Conley's story in detail, for the facts concerning him are too well known to the general public for me to dilate upon them. His tale is replete with incongruities and impossibilities.

"The simple fact shows that Jim Conley's recital is not alone a vicious lie, but was impossible. In the last analysis the public, seeing clearly through the maze of contending and conflicting emotions, will recognize the truth, and cry out for fair play, and decency will be vindicated. Good people of the State of Georgia will never be a party to a judicial murder and stand aloof and watch a man wrongfully done to death. Truth must out, common sense and decency be victorious.

"The lamentable conditions prevailing at my trial were born of excitement and sensation. I feel secure that the great mass of the people will cry out for the full measure of justice to be given me and fair play meted out to me. That is all I ask, more I do not want. The truth is on the march."

STRIKERS ACCUSE DEPUTIES

Michigan Miners Describe Alleged Assaults and Illegal Arrests.

HANCOCK, Mich., Feb. 18.—Assaults alleged to have been made on strikers by Deputy Sheriffs and other unlawful acts resulting from the copper mine workers' strike were described before the Congressional Investigating Committee to-day.

O. N. Hilton of counsel for the strikers charged that deputies had broken down doors, had opened trunks, and had stolen money and property "without a shadow of legal authority."

Peter Martinelli testified that he was severely beaten by deputies in the branch office of the Sheriff at Quincy mine on Dec. 10 last. He said Sheriff Cruse was present and stopped the beating by saying "That's good enough." Afterward he was kept in jail for thirty days.

Charles Makkinen, another striker, said that deputies invaded his home at South Range on the night of Dec. 2, got him out of bed and took him, handcuffed, to Houghton jail, where he was kept until 4 o'clock the next day. On his return he said he found a satchel broken open and a gold ring and chain were missing. On cross-examination witness said he thought the deputies stole the articles.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 18.—The State Supreme Court denied to-day the petition for the write of habeas corpus filed by "Mother" Jones, a military prisoner in the southern Colorado coal fields. Two of the seven Justices dissented.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 18.—Capt. J. He was employed by a lumber company and it is not known here whether he died from exposure or was murdered.

GORE EXONERATED, CHEERED IN COURT

Verdict in Mrs. Bond's $50,000 Suit Causes a Wild Demonstration for 15 Minutes.

MRS. GORE WEEPS FOR JOY

Charge Made That Alleged Conspiracy Was Planned by J. F. McMurray, a Lawyer.

Special to The New York Times.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 18.—Upon the testimony of Mrs. Minnie E. Bond and her own witnesses, Senator T. P. Gore was vindicated of any wrong conduct toward Mrs. Bond by a jury in the District Court here to-day. The jury was in the jury room two minutes and a half, and one ballot was taken. It was unanimous for Senator Gore, and denied Mrs. Bond one cent of the $50,000 she asked from the blind Senator, whom she charged with attempting to assault her in a hotel in Washington on March 24 last.

The jury, which was composed of nine farmers, a grocer, a banker, and a broker, retired at 5:30 o'clock, and in ten minutes had filed back into the courtroom and taken their seats. The packed courtroom was silent as Judge Clark read the verdict, which was as follows:

"We find the evidence submitted by the plaintiff entirely insufficient upon which to base a suit; that said evidence wholly exonerates the defendant, and had the defendant at the conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence, announced that he desired to introduce no evidence and rested his case, our verdict would have been the same in that event as now returned by us, in favor of the defendant."

At his final words, "in favor of the defendant," those near the front of the room heard Mrs. Gore utter a stifled cry as she leaped from her chair, grasped the hand of Senator Gore, and whispered something into his ear. When she turned and shook hands with Henry Carpenter, the foreman of the jury, tears were streaming from her eyes as well as from those of the aged farmer. Senator Gore merely smiled.

Simultaneously with the cry of Mrs. Gore a great cheer arose from the spectators. Hats were thrown to the ceiling and the Court House rang with the name of Gore. Women laughed and cried as they pushed forward with hundreds of men in an attempt to offer their congratulations to Senator and Mrs. Gore.

"The verdict confirms my faith that truth will triumph," the Senator told them. "I never for a moment doubted the outcome at the hands of a jury."

The demonstrations continued unchecked for fifteen minutes when Judge Clark rapped for order and dismissed the jury.

From the time the jurors left the room to prepare their verdict until the demonstration was under way, Mrs. Bond sat in silence leaning on a table and scribbling on a piece of paper. She seemed in no haste to leave the room until she was approached by her attorneys, when she arose and walked away with them and her husband.

E. J. Giddings, of counsel for Mrs. Bond, announced to-night that he would appeal the case to the State Supreme Court, on the ground that the jury was influenced by the applause and demonstrations of the audience throughout the trial.

In the final arguments to-day before the jury, Robert L. Rogers, an attorney for the defence, made the charge that the alleged conspiracy against Senator Gore was planned by J. F. McMurray, an Oklahoma lawyer, now living in Washington. Several years ago, he said, McMurray sought to prosecute claims for nearly $3,000,000 fees from Indians of Oklahoma in connection with the transfer of their lands. He asserted that Senator Gore opposed McMurray's claims, and in retaliation the conspiracy had been planned. "Oklahoma has a home for such conspirators," he shouted. "It is over at McAlester." The State penitentiary is situated at McAlester.

Mr. Rogers contended that evidence in the trial showed that Mrs. Bond was a party to the alleged conspiracy, and that she knew the motive behind it all was political opposition to the Senator.

Trial of the suit against Senator Gore began Wednesday of last week. In her declaration, Mrs. Bond alleged that Senator Gore attacked her when they conferred at a hotel in Washington last March in connection with the possible appointment of her husband, Julian Bond, an internal revenue collector at Oklahoma City.

Senator Gore asserted that he was the victim of a plot. He testified that he went to the hotel at the telephone request of Mrs. Bond, who pleaded that she did not like to go to his office, and, moreover, was busy packing her trunk to catch a train for Oklahoma. When he reached the hotel, he said, Mrs. Bond met him and took him to a room on the pretext that the hotel parlor was filled with children. Once in the room she seized his hands and screamed, whereupon three men appeared at the door. They were James R. Jacobs, a widely known political leader of Oklahoma, in whose room the affair occurred; T. E. Robertson, and Kirby Fitzpatrick, also Oklahomans, and all unsuccessful candidates for Federal positions.

The two last named were witnesses for Mrs. Bond at the trial, as also was Dr. J. H. Sarp of Oklahoma City, who asserted that he had been importuned by Senator Gore to have Mrs. Bond leave Washington and "hush the matter up."

WESTPORT WRECK VERDICT.

Mail Clerk Injured in New Haven Crash Gets $8,000.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 18.—The first verdict resulting from the Westport wreck on the New Haven road, which occurred Oct. 3, 1912, was reached by a jury here to-day, which awarded $8,000 to Edward J. Bridgett of Wallingford, Conn., a United States mail agent. Bridgett had sued the road for $15,000.

The railroad company admitted liability and the case was tried before a jury to determine the amount of damages the plaintiff should receive. Bridgett's injuries included concussion of the brain and numerous cuts and bruises.

TOWN HAS A POLICEWOMAN.

Mrs. Goetchius Will Make Rutherford's Corner Loafers Move On.

Mrs. Agnes Viola Goetchius, President of the Township Improvement Association of Rutherford, N. J., was appointed a marshal of that town yesterday by Mayor Oscar F. Gunz. She is to serve without pay, but will wear a badge and have full police authority. Mrs. Goetchius is 50 years old.

The appointment of Mrs. Goetchius as a policewoman followed many complaints received by Mayor Gunz of insults to women and girls by corner loafers. Mrs. Goetchius is well-to-do, and for that reason will serve without compensation. She also will have supervision over weights and measures in the borough.

DECIES ARE MAROONED.

Bridge at Santa Barbara Falls Soon After Peer's Car Passes.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Feb. 18.—Within a few minutes of the arrival of Lord Decies and his wife, formerly Miss Vivian Gould, in their private car today, the Southern Pacific Railroad bridge over which the car passed was swept out by a freshet and Santa Barbara was marooned for the second time within a month.

Heavy rains which swept Northern California last night reached here early to-day, traveling as far south as Los Angeles. Downtown streets in Los Angeles were under two feet of water to-day. The safe deposit vaults in a bank building were flooded and many children were marooned in school buildings.

REJECT MRS. YOUNG'S IDEAS

Chicago School Board to Revise Her Course of Study.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—A new course of study suggested by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, Superintendent of Schools, was rejected by the Board of Education today and sent to the Committee on School Management for revision. The course was described by John J. Sonsteby as lacking in many fundamentals.

"Instead there are courses in leather working, cooking, bead work, and other fads," said Mr. Sonsteby.

Mrs. Young said the course had been recommended by a majority of the Principals who had studied the needs of the schools.

CIRCE'S BATH WAS COSTLY.

In the Process Statue Fell on Servant, Who Gets $950 Damages.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 18.—A bath given to a statue of Circe in the home of Miss Florence Mathews of Norwalk, by Mrs. Ellen McIlhony, a domestic, in November, 1912, proves to have been an expensive one, for a jury assessed damages of $950 in favor of Mrs. McIlhony to-day. She was hurt by Circe falling upon her.

Miss Matthews asserted that her maid handled the statue without proper care. Mrs. McIlhony declaring that she still suffered from her injuries, asked for $1,000.

BOY CONFESSES MURDER.

He Says He Shot a Woman "to Do Something Exciting."

Special to The New York Times.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Feb. 18.—Harry Ullery, a 17-year-old schoolboy, is under arrest here charged with the murder of Mrs. Emma Dayhuff, 44 years old, a storekeeper at Fairfield.

The boy, who is a member of a highly respected family, says that an impulse to do something exciting caused him to kill the woman. Ullery in his confession says he awaited his opportunity to shoot Mrs. Dayhuff, and after doing so grabbed the money in the till, filled his pockets with chewing gum and candy and then hurried home. The weapon, stolen money, and confections were found in his room.

STUDENTS' GIFT TO U. OF P.

Mask and Wig Club to Present a House to Provost Smith.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—The Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania, announced to-day that it had completed plans for the erection of a residence, to be presented to the university for the use of the Provost. The building will cost between $75,0000 and $100,000, and will be in the nature of a gift to the university from the celebrated dramatic organization.

The house, when completed late this Spring, will be presented to Provost Edgar Fahs Smith, who will accept it on behalf of the university. The Mask and Wig productions have been money makers. Recently the club completed a domitory at a cost of $40,000. At that time $15,000 remained in the treasury, and since then additional subscriptions have raised the amount to the sum required for the erection of the Provost's residence.

MOUSE CRIPPLES SERVICE.

Frightened Telephone Operator and Calls Went Unanswered.

MIDDLETOWN, N. J., Feb. 18.—The telephone service of this locality was crippled throughout the night and early this morning because a mouse stole out from its hole in the floor and frightened Gertrude Lynch, the night operator.

Shortly before midnight Miss Lynch heard a scratching noise near her foot. Looking down she beheld the mouse and fainted. When she came to she found herself on the floor and the mouse was eating the crumbs from a sandwich which she had eaten some time before. Jumping to her feet she ran into a clothes closet and shut the door after her. The lock sprang and she was made a prisoner.

All calls throughout the night went unanswered and subscribers thought the snow had crippled the service. The janitor arriving at the building this morning heard sobs coming from the closet and, investigating, found Miss Lynch. She says she will go on strike unless the company can guarantee to keep the office clear of mice.

ARREST ILL HOTEL GUEST.

Parker, Wanted in Montana, Taken From Manhattan to Bellevue.

Detective James Frazer of the East Fifty-first Street Station arrested Arthur M. Parker, 52 years old, described as an oil well owner, at the Hotel Manhattan last night at 10:30 o'clock on a warrant issued by Sheriff Driscoll of Butte, Mon. Parker is charged with grand larceny and the amount involved is stated in the warrant to be $550. At the time of his arrest he was in bed and under the care of a trained nurse, being ill with nervous trouble. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital and is now there a prisoner.

He told the hospital authorities that his best friend for purposes of record could be put down as Mrs. Smith, the trained nurse, who had been attending him at the Hotel Manhattan for the past three weeks. Parker told the police he was married. No details of the charge which is made against Parker have been given out.

Shortly after Parker's arrival at Bellevue Hospital Mrs. Smith appeared in the hospital dressed in full trained nurse costume and said she had come down to nurse at his bedside while he was in that institution. The Bellevue authorities, however, informed her that this would not be permitted and she left to go back to the Manhattan.

MACKAYS OBTAIN DIVORCE IN PARIS

Postal Telegraph Co. Head and Wife Get a Mutual Decree from French Court.

BASED ON DESERTION

DISCORD OF LONG STANDING

Mrs. Blake Sued Mrs. Mackay for $1,000,000 for Alienation of Husband's Affections—Wed in 1898.

Clarence H. Mackay, the President of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company, and his wife, formerly Katherine A. Duer, were divorced in Paris a week ago, it was learned here last night. Each charged the other with desertion, and decrees of divorce were granted to both. The custody of the three Mackay children was awarded to Mr. Mackay, but Mrs. Mackay will have the right to see them at all reasonable times.

John B. Stanchfield, as attorney for Mrs. Mackay, and Frederic R. Coudert, representing Mr. Mackay, issued statements last night confirming the report that the divorce had been granted. Mr. Stanchfield's statement read:

"In December last Mrs. Mackay sailed for Europe and took up her residence in an apartment at Paris which she had held under lease for a considerable period of time. She brought suit in the Tribunal of the Seine against Mr. Mackay for a divorce on the ground of desertion. He voluntarily appeared in the action and interposed a counterclaim, alleging desertion on the part of the plaintiff. No other charge was involved.

"The Court, as is the practice in France, endeavored to bring about a reconciliation. Being unable to accomplish such a result, a divorce was granted on or about the 11th of February to each of the parties. The custody of the children was awarded to Mr. Mackay, with the right to Mrs. Mackay to see them at all reasonable times."

Mr. Coudert's statement was:

"On Feb. 11 the French Courts granted a mutual divorce to Mr. and Mrs. Mackay in an action brought by Mrs. Mackay on the ground of desertion, Mr. Mackay having interposed a counterclaim on the same ground. No other charge was involved. The decree grants the full custody and control of the three children to Mr. Mackay, with the right to visit them accorded to Mrs. Mackay."

Leased Apartments in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackay established their legal residence in Paris by leasing apartments for long periods. Mr. Mackay took his apartment several years ago and Mrs. Mackay leased one a little later.

Last February Mr. and Mrs. Mackay met after a separation of several months to arrange an amicable settlement of their financial affairs and then separated again, Mr. Mackay going South and Mrs. Mackay, after a few weeks, to Maine. Their $6,000,000 estate at Harbor Hill, Roslyn, L. I., was deeded to their six-year-old son, John William Mackay, with the stipulation that Mr. Mackay was to retain possession of the property as trustee.

The estate, which is one of the finest on Long Island, was given to Mr. and Mrs. Mackay in 1899 as a wedding present by the late John W. Mackay, Mr. Mackay's father. Under the terms of the deed Mrs. Mackay surrendered her dowry rights in the estate, but it was agreed that if it was leased the rental should go to her. What other financial arrangements were made in the division of the property of Mr. and Mrs. Mackay were not made public. An attempt at secrecy was made when the deed of the property was filed in the County Clerk's office at Mineola, L. I. Across its outer cover was inscribed, "Please do not publish."

Immediately after the filing of the deed Mr. Mackay went to his game preserve in North Carolina and Mrs. Mackay took up her residence at the Hotel Plaza, where it was said that she was ill. She had just returned from Paris, where she had been for several months.

Mackay Takes Children Abroad.

In the latter part of June the Mackays' relations again aroused comment, and there were renewed rumors of an impending divorce. Mr. Mackay sailed for Europe with his three children on the Imperator, and it was said after they had left that he had used an assumed name, and that detectives had guarded him and the children until they were on the boat to prevent any one's serving papers at the instance of Mrs. Mackay. Mr. Mackay later denied that he used an assumed name.

Mrs. Mackay admitted that the departure of her husband with the children was a surprise to her and she held a long conference with her lawyer, Henry W. Taft, after the news had been conveyed to her. She denied, however, that she had attempted or intended to serve any papers in a divorce or other action against Mr. Mackay.

In July, while Mr. Mackay was in Scotland, Mrs. Mackay leased the home of former Mayor Adam P. Leighton in Portland, Me., and went there to live. She remained there in comparative seclusion until she went to her Paris apartment to begin the action that resulted in the mutual divorce last week.

The most sensational development occurred last September, when Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, the surgeon's wife, filed a suit against Mrs. Mackay for $1,000,000, alleging the alienation of her husband's affections. The Blakes and Mackays had been intimate friends, and, although it was known that Dr. Blake and his wife had been on no better terms with each other than had Mr. and Mrs. Mackay, no suggestion that their difficulties were interlocked was made until Mrs. Blake's suit was announced.

Asked $1,000,000 Damages.

The suit was filed in the New York Supreme Court, with the law firm of O'Gorman, Battle & Vandiver, representing Mrs. Blake and Arthur C. Train as counsel for Mrs. Mackay, who was still in Portland, Maine. In her complaint Mrs. Blake alleged that Mrs. Mackay "willfully, wickedly, and maliciously" enticed her husband from her and lowered his earning capacity, so that she suffered damages to the extent of $1,000,000. She said that she had lived happily with Dr. Blake until four years ago, when he began to come under the influence of Mrs. Mackay.

In her answer Mrs. Mackay denied all the charges against her. She said that the Blakes had not lived together since 1905 and that Mrs. Blake had lost her husband's affections by "her jealous disposition and ungovernable temper." Furthermore, Mrs. Mackay asserted that Mrs. Blake had sought to injure the surgeon's good name by "spreading among his patients, friends, and relatives unjust rumors and accusations," and that she had threatened to kill him.

Less than a month later the $1,000,000 suit was suddenly withdrawn. No explanation was given. Arthur C. Train, Mrs. Mackay's attorney, simply issued a statement saying that Mrs. Blake had discontinued the suit and signed "an instrument releasing Mrs. Mackay from all claims of every description and character." It was also said that nothing had been paid or promised to Mrs. Blake in consideration of her discontinuance of the suit.

The sequel of the Blake-Mackay suit was a suit for separation filed by Mrs. Blake against her husband in October, charging him with desertion and non-support. On Dec. 22 Referee Wilbur Larremore reported in Mrs. Blake's favor, and on Jan. 19 Supreme Court Justice Newburger affirmed the referee's finding. No alimony was awarded by the Court, it being announced that counsel for Dr. and Mrs. Blake, had agreed upon an allowance for Mrs. Blake. The amount of the alimony was not given out, but it was said that $10,000 a year, with $5,000 as an allowance for Mrs. Blake's living expenses during the time the suit was pending, was agreed upon.

Inherited His Father's Fortune.

Clarence H. Mackay is the only son of John W. Mackay, a California pioneer, who became wealthy from Western mine holdings and was the founder of the Postal Telegraph Company. Mr. Mackay was born in San Francisco April 17, 1874, and received the greater part of his education abroad. After the death of his father Mr. Mackay succeeded to the control of the Postal Company and the other Mackay companies and also inherited the large fortune his father had accumulated.

Mr. Mackay's clubs here are the Racquet and Tennis, Metropolitan, Union League, Riding, Knickerbocker, The Brook, New York Yacht, Country, City, Turf and Field, Tuxedo, and Meadow Brook. He is a Director of the Metropolitan Opera Company and was one of the founders of the New Theatre, now the Century.

Mrs. Mackay, who was Miss Katherine Alexander Duer, comes of an old Knickerbocker family. She was a writer of some repute and was acknowledged one of the most attractive debutantes of New York society. According to report, she first met Mr. Mackay when returning from Europe on a liner in 1898. They were married the same year.

After her marriage Mrs. Mackay soon became a leader in society, and she achieved additional prominence by espousing the woman suffrage cause a few years later. In 1908 she organized the Equal Franchise Society and became its first President. She became one of the most active suffrage workers in the city, speaking in the interests of the cause from many platforms, before the Legislature and Governor in Albany, and in interviews from time to time.

In April, 1911, Mrs. Mackay resigned as President of the society, and gave as her only reason that she was uncertain of her movements in the future. It was said at the time that the real reason of her resignation was dissatisfaction over the management of the campaign to get suffrage bills passed by the Legislature. Her activity in the suffrage cause practically ceased when she retired from her office.

In Roslyn Mrs. Mackay also was active in many ways. She took a decided interest in the public schools there and was elected to the local Board of Education. In a contest over the election of Trustees Mrs. Mackay put forward two victorious candidates.

Built $50,000 Church in Roslyn.

She built a parish house and a $50,000 Protestant Episcopal Church in Roslyn in memory of her mother. Dispute over the plans for the building of the church led to the resignation of the rector, the Rev. Isaac Peck, and the installation of the Rev. Norman O. Hutton, one of Mrs. Mackay's friends, as his successor. It was said that the dispute between Mrs. Mackay and Mr. Peck arose over the rector's refusal to accept certain designs made for the church by Standford White.

Mrs. Mackay's activities at Roslyn continued until the first rumors of her differences with her husband began to become current. It was there that her three children were raised during their infancy. They are Katherine Duer, 13 years old; Ellin Duer, 10 years old, and John William, 6 years old.

Harbor Hill is one of the finest estates in that part of Long Island. The cottage on it is a spacious three-story building, with lodges, farm barns, and a dairy. Other outhouses erected to harmonize architecturally with it are scattered over the grounds, which cover 540 acres. A large stock of horses and cows of the finest breed is kept on the place.

ALIENS BURDEN ON CITY.

Many Who Should Have Been Barred Cared For, Say Investigators

According to a report of the Hospital Investigating Committee to the Board of Estimate yesterday New York City spends more than $1,000,000 a year for the care of aliens in its hospitals and almshouses, and nearly $400,000 is spent on aliens who have been in the United States less than five years. A large proportion of these aliens, says the report, were afflicted, before they came to this country, with diseases for which they are now being treated, and adds that if the United States Public Health Service had sufficient Inspectors and facilities at Ellis Island to make more searching examinations many of these aliens would not have been allowed to enter the country.

"Many thousands of dependent aliens," the report says, "who are a proper charge upon the steamship companies that have brought them into the country, or upon the Federal Government, not only are a heavy burden upon the city for maintenance in public institutions, but they also occupy beds to the exclusion of many citizens of the city who are in need of custodial or medical care.

"The State Board of Charities has not fully exercised the function of removing aliens delegated to it by law. It has in known instances failed to examine a substantial proportion of the aliens referred to it for investigation for deportation, and has in other instances removed only a small proportion of cases that seemingly should have been made. The present power of removal vested in the board has not afforded adequate relief for the city, nor does it seem likely to do so."

WILSON REAPPOINTS NEGRO.

Vardaman Will Fight Confirmation of Terrell as Municipal Judge.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The renomination of Robert H. Terrell, a negro, to be a Municipal Judge for the District of Columbia was sent to the Senate to-day by President Wilson. The incumbent has served one term.

Senator Vardaman of Mississippi has served notice that he will fight confirmation. He had informed President Wilson that he was opposed to the appointment of any negro to public office.

COL. GOETHALS HERE FROM COLON TO-DAY

Mayor Still Sure That Canal Builder Will Become Police Commissioner.

NOT USING HIM AS A BLIND

Expects His Police Bills to Pass and Thinks Colonel Will Call on His Return from Washington.

Col. George W. Goethals, Chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, and recently nominated by President Wilson as the first civil Governor of the Panama Canal Zone, will arrive in New York from Colon this afternoon on the United Fruit Company's steamship Metapan. Col. Goethals is coming home to confer with President Wilson and Secretary of War Garrison on the subject of the civil government of the zone that will come into existence on April 1.

Col. Goethals is sure to be asked when he lands from the Metapan this afternoon what he proposes to do with respect to the offer made to him by Mayor Mitchel of the Police Commissionership of New York, which offer Mayor Mitchel insists the Colonel has accepted.

The Mayor was told yesterday that the impression prevailed in some quarters that the Colonel's name was simply being used to further the passage of the so-called "Goethals Police bills" at Albany, despite the very general belief that Col. Goethals would not accept the Police Commissionership.

"I have heard something like that," replied the Mayor, "and I assume that when Col. Goethals gets to New York he will speak for himself. He has said that he would come here under certain conditions, and I assume that he is a man of his word. His name is not being used in order to pass the bills. He has given his word verbally and by letter that he will come. There have been no indications to me or any one else that he will not do just what he said he would do in his letter, and I shall stand on the word of that letter. We are not bluffing, and he is not being used as an excuse to pass the bills."

The Mayor appeared to be very confident that the bills would be passed and when asked the reason of his confidence replied that he had the word of the leaders of the Legislature to that effect.

"It is said that the bills will not pass unless they are made a Republican Party measure," the Mayor was informed.

"Well," he replied, "the Republican Party in this city was party to the Fusion movement, and I assume Republicans will consider these bills a party measure, especially those Republican members of the Legislature who are from New York City, bcause they are administration bills and the Republican Party is a part of the city administration.

"Of course," continued Mayor Mitchel, "I expect that Tammany, as such, will oppose the bills and the 'system' in the Police Department will oppose them. In fact, all the forces that have been fought by District Attorney Whitman will be against them, and these forces comprise the 'system.'"

The Mayor added that Gov. Glynn was for the bills and had said he would do all he could toward their passage.

While he had no definite engagement with Col. Goethals, Mr. Mitchel said, he expected to see the Colonel on his return from Washington.

At 8 o'clock last night the Metapan was reported by Marconi wireless to be 283 miles south of the Scotland Lightship. She should reach her pier about o'clock this afternoon.

The City Club issued invitations yesterday to the presidents of civic organizations and district leaders of all parties in the city to attend a conference at the club on Tuesday afternoon to discuss the Goethals police bills. The Mayor and District Attorney Cropsey of Kings County will be present.

William J. Schieffelin, Chairman of the Citizens' Union, and Cleveland H. Dodge wrote to the Mayor yesterday that they were in favor of the bills.

THE GREETERS GIVE A BALL.

Hotel Men from Other Cities Help Make It a Success.

The Greeters, an organization whose members are hotel clerks, held their sixth annual ball last night at Palm Garden, Fifty-eighth Street and Lexington Avenue. More than six hundred persons were on the floor at midnight.

James A. Stokes, the National President of the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia, was present with half a hundred of his friends, including J. J. Donvan of the Continental, Elmer Sager of the Rittenhouse, and W. B. Hornebeck, representing the national secretary. Hotel men from many other cities also were numbered among the guests. The Greeters said the ball was a huge success.

M. J. Donohue of the Churchill, William M. Creamer of the Imperial, and Edward French of the Waldorf-Astoria had charge of the ball. The officers of the Greeters for the present year, elected recently, are R. L. Barnett, Gotham, President; H. H. Fitz, Imperial, First Vice President; Edward French, Waldorf-Astoria, Second Vice President; A. L. Hawkes, Imperial, Financial Secretary; Charles Goodman, Secretary, and H. B. Mettler, Treasurer.

To Elect Bremner's Successor.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, Feb. 18.—A proclamation was issued to-day by Gov. Fielder calling for a special primary and a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Robert G. Bremner of the Seventh Congressional District. The primary will be held March 24 and the regular election on April 7.

Kansas Senatorial Candidates.

LANSING, Kan., Feb. 18.—Jeremiah D. Botkin, warden of the Kansas State penitentiary here, announced his candidacy to-day for the United States Senate on the Democratic ticket. There are four candidates for the position held by Senator Joseph L. Bristow. The Senator seeks re-election, and Charles Curtis, former Senator, is contesting with him for the Republican nomination at the primaries next August. Congressman Victor Murdock is campaigning for the Progressive nomination.

HELD UP IN HER HOME.

Bogus Gas Inspector Breaks Woman's Teeth in Brutal Attack.

Mrs. Charles Rose of 354 Cypress Avenue, the Bronx, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning admitted a man to her apartment who said he had come to read the gas meter. The man went to the kitchen and asked for a chair to stand on while he looked at the meter. When Mrs. Rose returned with the chair the man pointed a revolver at her and said he would kill her if she made a sound.

Mrs. Rose nevertheless shouted for help and grabbed at the revolver with both hands. The man grappled with her and struck her across the mouth with the revolver, breaking two of her teeth. The blow sent the young woman to the floor and her assailant endeavored to stop her cries with one hand while he pulled at her engagement ring with the other. When she continued to struggle and shout, however, the man released her and ran. Several women living in the house who had heard her cries saw the man running down the stairs.

Detectives Tierney and Wagner found the man's hat which he had left behind him in his haste to escape. They have no other clue.

PEACE FLAG AT PANAMA.

Emblem to be Flown by Ship Making Official Trip Through Canal.

Dr. William O. McDowell, the President of the League of Peace, received a letter yesterday from Col. George W. Goethals, Chief Engineer of the Panama Canal, in which the Colonel promises to fly the peace flag on the first ship to make the official and direct passage through the canal. Continuing his letter, the Colonel says:

"The canal is now in shape to pass ships drawing twenty-five feet of water, but, according to the present programme, it is the intention to delay the first official trip until it can be arranged to have the President, members of his Cabinet, and committees representing the two houses of Congress present. The peace flag will, according to our understanding, be placed on the vessel selected for this purpose."

EARTHQUAKE IN NEVADA.

Walls Cracked or Shaken Down—Miners Flee to Surface.

RENO, Nev., Feb. 18.—An earthquake shock was felt here at 10:18 A. M. to-day. It was violent and lasted about three seconds. The direction was from southeast to northwest. Windows were broken and in a few cases walls were cracked. Hundreds of persons, badly frightened, rushed into the streets. Part of the front wall of an apartment house crashed to the pavement.

Reports from Virginia City and Carson say that the shock was severe there. Miners left their work in the Comstock mines and made their way to the surface. Windows and walls were cracked in both places.

KINDEL OUT FOR SENATOR.

Tired of Being a "Fool Representative," He Seeks Thomas's Toga.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Representative George J. Kindel of Denver, today announced his candidacy to succeed Senator Thomas. He will make his campaign in the Colorado primaries next Summer upon transportation rates and commercial equality for Denver and the rest of Colorado.

"I now shy my hat into the ring for the Senatorship," said Mr. Kindel, "on these two big questions. I can get nowhere in the House with them and have made up my mind that I'd rather be a dead Senator than a live fool Representative."

BISHOP KENNEDY VERY ILL.

Special to The New York Times.

NORRISTOWN, Penn., Feb. 18.—Bishop Thomas F. Kennedy, rector of the American College in Rome, is threatened with pneumonia.

He is at the home of his sisters in Conshohocken, having arrived from Rome on a visit about three weeks ago.

$5,000 for Boy's Leg.

A jury yesterday in the Queens County Supreme Court at Long Island City gave a $5,000 verdict to Stanislaus Nowakowski, 10 years old, a son of John Nowakowski of Bayside, for the loss of a leg. The father also got a verdict of $1,000. The boy was run over by a car of the New York & North Shore Traction Company. In a previous trial of the same case a verdict of $9,000 in the boy's favor was set aside as excessive.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—Mayor Joseph G. Armstrong to-day sent to Charles S. Hubbard, Director of Public Safety, an order to have all the moving-picture theatres in the city divided into three sections—one for men, one for women, and one for women accompanied by men. The order followed many complaints of women and girls being subjected to annoyances while the lights were out.

DEFENDS KENNEDY AS HE IS BURIED

State Treasurer's Attorney Issues Statement Denying Perjury and Other Charges.

FUNERAL HELD AT BUFFALO

Gov. Glynn and Large Delegation of Officials from Albany Present—Fifty Honorary Pallbearers.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Following the funeral of John J. Kennedy, State Treasurer, here to-day, Michael F. Dirnberger, Jr., his attorney, gave out a statement in which he answered some of the stories circulated during the last few days as alleged reasons for Mr. Kennedy's suicide.

Mr. Dirnberger denied flatly that any intimation had been conveyed to him from any source that a charge of perjury was to be made against Mr. Kennedy because of his testimony before a New York Grand Jury in regard to his relations with Charles F. Murphy, Jr., and George McGuire.

"Mr. Kennedy," he said, "told me that when questioned before the Grand Jury he answered that while it was true that these men were representatives of the company which he had formerly represented here in Buffalo, and which company his son now represents as Resident Secretary, he never at any time had any relations whatever with them in the bonding business."

Mr. Dirnberger also classed as manifestly absurd the statement that a prominent Tammany official had control of $80,000,000 of State funds and that Mr. Kennedy was to have testified in regard to this before the Grand Jury last Monday.

"In the first place," he said, "the largest amount of money that the State Treasurer has ever had under his control was in the neighborhood of $65,000,000, and that has been only recently—during the last few years. During most of last year the amount of money under the State Treasurer's control never exceeded $40,000,000. Moreover, under the law the banks in which the general funds of the State are deposited must be made by both the Controller and the Treasurer. The District Attorney is left free to subpoena the State Controller, so that if there is any truth in this story it can still be verified."

Mr. Kennedy's body was buried to-day in the family plot at Holy Cross Cemetery, Limestone Hill, on the outskirts of the city. All of official Buffalo, a delegation of 100 from Albany, representing the executive and legislative departments of the State Government, officers, and committees of numerous fraternal organizations, and hundreds of personal friends of the dead man followed the body from the Markeen Hotel to the Church of the Blessed Sacrament on Delaware Avenue, where low mass for the dead was said by the Rev. James F. McGloin.

The active pallbearers were: John P. Hopkins, former Mayor of Chicago; John C. Clahan, John H. Cannon, John P. Sullivan, Louis P. Fuhrmann, Frank L. Bapst, Norman E. Mack, and James Hanrahan. The honorary pallbearers numbered over fifty, among them being Martin H. Glynn, Thomas Carmody, Mitchell May, John A. Bensel, William Sohmer, Robert F. Wagner, Thaddeus C. Sweet, Duncan W. Peck, Albert Haight, W. H. Cuddeback, John A. Dix, William J. Conners, W. F. Sheehan, John F. Conway, Herbert P. Bissell, D. J. Kenefick, D. A. Driscoll, C. B. Smith, Robert H. Gittens, Edward R. O'Malley, George W. Batten, Charles R. Huntley, William G. Warren, and E. H. Butler.

The services at the church lasted less than half an hour. Only the immediate family and relatives went to the cemetery.

Publishers Call Miss Preston's De Luxe Edition Charges Untrue.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—George Barrie & Sons, publishing firm of this city, declared false to-day the charges as far as they relate to them made by Miss Marion W. Preston of Boston in a suit filed in the United States District Court here, in which she names the firm as one of the defendants in a suit to recover $53,490, of which she swears she was defrauded in the purchase of "de luxe" editions of books, the actual worth of which was $4,000.

Miss Preston says the purchases were made from 1904 to a recent date. She also names John Scanlan and James J. Farmer, individually and as trustees, for Clara G. Farmer, and the Anglo-American Authors' Association, Inc., of New York, as defendants. A book salesman, William J. Hartley, she alleges, figured as a representative for the Barrie firm in some of her alleged dealings with the firm.

The statement of the Barrie firm says: "We find that in 1907 and 1908 she ordered three sets of elaborately prepared and especially bound sets of books with some original water colors by Jerome Ferris, amounting in all to $4,200 from our Boston branch."

PALMER AND GLYNN CONFER.

Now Believed That Chairman Will Yield to Osborn Next Week.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 18.—George W. Palmer, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, conferred for two hours to-day with Gov. Glynn at the Executive Mansion. He said he talked over Legislation and certain political matters with the Governor and declared that the question of his resigning had not been referred to. Mr. Palmer said that he had not called a special meeting of the State Committee and that he had no idea when a meeting would be called.

Gov. Glynn would see no newspaper men to-day and it was said at the Executive chamber that he was confined to his room with a cold.

Despite the attitude of Chairman Palmer it is believed that a call for a meeting of the State Committee will be made within a few days and that the meeting for reorganization will be held next week, at which time, it is expected, William Church Osborne of Garrison will be elected Chairman. It is generally believed here that Mr. Palmer will receive an appointment from the Glynn administration. He has been mentioned for a position as counsel to the Public Service Commission, Second District, and also as a Workmen's Compensation Commissioner or as counsel to the new commission.

LABOR MEN FOR CONGRESS.

Progressives Offer to Make Campaigns for Them Here.

Ernest Bohm, Secretary of the Central Federated Union, reported yesterday that representatives of the Progressive Party had been making offers to the labor leaders to start a campaign for the purpose of nominating labor men for Congressmen. These representatives of the Progressive Party, he said, held a conference with a number of prominent labor leaders at the headquarters of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, of which Coroner Timothy Healy of the Progressive Party is President.

"We have been notified by these representatives of the Progressive Party," he continued, "that the party is ready to organize the Congressional districts for a campaign in which labor leaders will be Congressional nominees. A good many of the labor leaders favor the idea and are willing to accept the nominations of the party. There are also a good many Assembly districts in which, when next election comes, labor men would have a good chance of being elected."

failing to halt the proceedings, apply for a Supreme Court injunction, he says. He believes he can effectually check the entire hearing by a court order. Peter V. Baird of Amsterdam is President of the Mohonk Company. It is charged by Mr. Osborne that road work the company did was defective.

Mr. Osborne to-day offered District Attorney H. D. Alexander of Albany County every assistance possible in pursuing his inquiry into the letting of the 318 highway contracts by the old Reel-Peck-Bensel Highway Commission. After much deliberation Mr. Alexander has employed an investigator to go into the cases thoroughly, and it now seems probable that the March Grand Jury will be asked to consider the cases. Mr. Alexander previously had refused to submit the evidence to the Grand Jury.

CALLS IT "REIGN OF TERROR."

Justice Howard Assails John Doe Procedure in Investigations.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 18.—In an address to-night before the Rensselaer County Bar Association Justice Wesley O. Howard of the Appellate Division, Third Department of the Supreme Court, attacked John Doe investigations, saying in part:

"These 'John Doe' investigations are contrary to the spirit of our institutions. The Constitution of the United States provides that the people shall be secure against unreasonable searches. But that great guarantee of personal liberty and security has become obsolete. Foreign methods have been imported into New York State.

"The 'third section' of Russia is being tried. Instead of the writ of habeas corpus to protect the citizen it is the writ of inquisition to afflict the citizen, which is conspicuous to-day. The direct primary law, even, has been supplanted; that process of placing candidates before the people has been abandoned. Now the fashion is 'nomination by investigation.' It is not the 'Constitution of peace' but the reign of terror which is now being invoked.

"And what follows all our investigations? Is it relief to the great army of unemployed? Is it the lessening of the high cost of living? Is it a reduction of the burdensome rate of taxes—is it the tillage of the soil? Not so. In the wake of these hounding inquisitions is the squandered money of the people; the demoralization of public works, the stagnation of good roads, the wrecks of reputations, the lamentations of wives and mothers, unhappiness, tragedies, suicides, funerals. It is easy to locate the wreckage of these investigations; it is difficult to discover the good."

which penetrated from a dusty pane, and a choking sound came from his throat. Then he replied that he understood.

Señor Ramon explained that Bauch's case was still being heard and that it was the rule to hold prisoners incommunicado until decision is rendered.

Nowhere in Juarez could an official be found to explain the nature of the charges against the prisoner, but Señor Ramon said there was documentary evidence which seemed to incriminate him as a spy.

Bauch has worked on Mexican railroads most of his life, and his captors believed him to be a Mexican despite his fair skin and brown hair.

The British subject arrested is William S. Benton, owner of a 100,000-acre ranch west of the City of Chihuahua. He has lived in Mexico for thirty years, and his wife is a Mexican woman. He was arrested on suspicion of having been connected with the Federal filibustering movement having its base on the American side, which became known last Wednesday when a detachment of filibusters escaped across the Rio Grande at Ysleta, thirteen miles east of El Paso.

BORDER PATROL ACTIVE.

It Will Try to Keep Diaz Adherents from Crossing to Mexico.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Feb. 18.—Having received information that members of the Mexican Cientificos, or Diaz Party, had completed plans for rushing forces over the international line, to start a revolution counter to that of the Constitutionalists, officers of the Ninth United States Cavalry to-day re-established a strict border patrol.

It is understood the Cientificos have already concentrated a force of men south of Agua Prieta, and have gathered arms and ammunition in the city with which to equip the men.

The cavalry patrol will endeavor to prevent the further running of armed men across the international line to operate against the entry port now held by the Carranza revolutionists.

CASTILLO A NEW PROBLEM.

Washington Puzzled Over Disposition of the Prisoner.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The Government is puzzled to know what to do with the Mexican bandit, Castillo, caught by Capt. George P. White of the Ninth United States Cavalry in New Mexico.

Castillo is known to be responsible for the death of ten Americans and forty-one Mexicans on a passenger train that ran into a burning freight train set on fire by Castillo's orders in the Cumbre tunnel in Chihuahua. Gen. Villa has asked Gen. Scott to turn Castillo over to him and has made a public declaration that he will execute the bandit and his men publicly in the city of Juarez.

No application has been made to the State Department for the extradition of Castillo, and doubt was expressed to-day in official circles as to what course would be followed if any demand should be made for sending him back to Mexico. He has not been taken as a refugee, fleeing to the United States for life, but for violating the neutrality law. In that situation he could be "interned," as have 6,000 other Mexicans, as a matter of humanity.

If Castillo is to be held for violation of the neutrality laws he will have the right to go into the courts and demand his freedom. All Mexicans who have been apprehended for violating the neutrality laws have eventually succeeded in getting their liberty and leaving the country.

It has been suggested that the immigration authorities might demand that Castillo be deported as an undesirable; but for the present the War Department has jurisdiction and will await the action of the State Department.

Under the extradition treaty of 1861 between the United States and Mexico, Governors of the frontier States of either country may directly, without communication with the national Governments at Washington or the City of Mexico, make requisition and honor demands for the extradition of fugitives from justice. A like power is given the "chief military officer in command of such State or Territory."

It is supposed that under this provision Gen. Villa will make a formal demand for Castillo. It remains to be seen then whether this Government will give up the bandit and his men in the face of their certain execution without the formality of a trial that in this country would be called fair. There is a well defined belief that the United States Government would refuse for some time to deliver Castillo up to Villa, but hold him in the hope that on the cessation of hostilities and the restoration of civil order he would have a fair trial.

ANTI-AMERICAN SPIRIT GROWS.

New Weekly in Mexico City Will Attack Wilson's Policy.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 18.—President Wilson, through Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Chargé, is insisting that President Huerta and Gen. Villa, the rebel leader, agree upon the maintenance of a neutral zone at Torreon, in which foreigners and other non-combatants may have some degree of safety in the event of a battle.

President Huerta has agreed to the plan, conditional upon Gen. Villa's acquiescence in it. It is understood that agents of the United States are making representations to Gen. Villa for the establishment of the zone.

There is nothing here to indicate that there will be serious fighting at Torreon for several days, although skirmishes between Federal and rebel scouting parties are being reported almost daily.

Salvador Diaz Miron, editor of El Imparcial, has been placed under police surveillance on account of the report that he threatened to kill Mr. O'Shaughnessy, who recently protested to President Huerta concerning the character of a series of anti-Wilson editorials appearing in El Imparcial.

It appears that the most serious threat made by Miron was that he "would repeat to Mr. O'Shaughnessy's face what he had written in editorials."

The Chargé takes the matter seriously and has reported the incident to Washington. The State Department has assured him that it approves of his protest, and that the American Government intends to give him and his family protection.

As indicative of the increased anti-American spirit there appeared to-day the first issue of a weekly magazine, the purpose of which, it is announced, is to attack Washington's Mexican policy. Most of the cartoons are directed against Mr. Lind, President Wilson's personal representative.

The main line of railroad from the capital to the United States, which was open for several days, is again interrupted between San Luis Potosi and Saltillo, and the rebels are reported to be gathering around the former city.

VILLA INSURES HIS LIFE.

Makes His Wife the Beneficiary of Half-Million-Dollar Policy.

Special to The New York Times.

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 18.—Now that Gen. Villa has received a carload of ammunition, he will leave Juarez for the front as soon as his affairs there can be arranged. He has insured his life for a half million in favor of his wife and has arranged all his private affairs in anticipation of a long seige at Torreon.

Until he arrives at Torreon there will be no heavy fighting, although skirmishing has started already at Gomez Palacio and at the small stations north of Torreon.

The plot that was discovered by Villa's secret service will tend to hasten his departure, as he realizes that he is so close to the border that the Cientificos have an excellent opportunity to conspire against him.

He says that his men discovered that a prominent Huerta follower promised to pay an American $75,000 in gold to throw a bomb into his bedroom window. This story is discredited by the Government authorities on this side.

GEN. TERRAZALS ESCAPES.

He and Another Federal Officer Elude Fort Bliss Sentries.

FORT BLISS, Texas, Feb. 18.—Gen. Felix Terrazas and Major Gonzales escaped from the prison camp here last night, and no trace of them has been discovered.

The absence was noticed at roll call. Gen. Scott notified Gen. Villa by telephone, in order to obtain his co-operation in apprehending the fugitives. The two Generals are well acquainted over the telephone, but have never met.

Terrazas is the first General of the nine interned here to get away. He was taken into custody with 5,000 others of the Mexican Federal Army who crossed into Texas after their defeat at Ojinaga.

NOTE MAY NOT BE HERS.

Missing Girl's Parents Fear That She Has Been Kidnapped.

Abraham Stockel of 429 East 147th Street, a cigar manufacturer, sent out a general alarm last night for the youngest of his six children, Minnie, 15 years old, who disappeared on Monday leaving the following note:

Dear Parents: Good-bye. I am going away with Frank. MINNIE.

The girl's parents said they had no notion who Frank might be. Minnie, they said, had always been a model girl. They believe she was taken away against her will. Mr. Stockel said that the handwriting of the note resembled that of his daughter, but that it was hardly legible and might not be hers.

CITY BREVITIES.

Assemblyman Solomon Sufrin of the Eighth District has invited the voters there to meet him in the University Settlement, 184 Eldridge Street, and decide by test vote whether he should support Mayor Mitchel's Police bill, and the Workingmen's compensation measure, in the Legislature. The meeting is to be held at 2 P. M. Sunday.

Miss Annie Peck, the mountain climber, will preside at a meeting under the auspices of the New York County Suffrage Association at 11 West Thirty-fourth Street to-night at 8 o'clock.

BURGLARS KILL WATCHMAN.

Robbed Coal Yard Safe and Left $1,200 Behind.

Burglars killed Gustave Lehman, 60 years old, a watchman for the Thatford & Ackerman Coal Company, Junius Street and Pelham Avenue, Brooklyn, broke open the office safe with a "can opener," took $55 and escaped. They left behind in a chilled steel receptacle in the safe $1,200 which they were unable to get at with the tools they had.

The body of the watchman was found at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning lying in a snowdrift on the Junius Street side of the yard. His skull had been broken by blows from a blunt instrument. His hands were tied with a cheap necktie, and his feet with a white piece of twine. His clock had been punched last at 1:15 o'clock yesterday morning. Lehman was last seen by his wife, who prepared dinner for him at their home, 253 Sheffield Avenue, and carried it to him about 11 o'clock on Tuesday night.

In the office where the safe was torn open, the police found a bit used to drill a hole in the door. A watch, belonging to C. F. Colyer, superintendent of the coal yard, had been taken from his desk by the burglars, who left no fingerprints. Yesterday afternoon Detectives Donnellon and Drum questioned two men whom they found in the neighborhood of the coal yard, but the men were not detained after they had given a satisfactory account of themselves.

SEE COCAINE INFORMER.

Illegal Drug Sellers Crowd Court and Recognize "Slim."

Men said by the police to be cocaine sellers, against whom it had been impossible as yet to get evidence enough to convict, flocked to the Yorkville Court yesterday to witness the arraignment of Lawrence Saggers of 8 West Sixty-fifth Street. The cocaine men came to get a good look at a young man who has been assisting the police.

The volunteer informer said he was Albert Bosworth, a graduate of Oxford University, and had contracted the cocaine habit five years ago when he was employed as a civil engineer, earning $17 a day, on the Hudson tunnel construction. He swore that Saggers had sold him cocaine last Saturday at Broadway and Thirty-eighth Street, taking a marked one-dollar bill in payment.

Bosworth stands 6 feet 2 and weighs 160 pounds. Among the cocaine fraternity he bore the nickname of "Slim." At the time the police took him to the House of Detention last Fall the habit had so broken him down that he weighed only 115 pounds. He gained 45 pounds after he took a drug cure while in the House of Detention.

After hearing Bosworth's story, Magistrate Ten Eyck held Saggers in $1,000 bail for trial.

his manly independence—they had not expected to find such abject servitude to party commands. So they went away, some in sadness and sorrow, others with possibly some symptoms of doubt and irritation. This was Dec. 8 last.

"That was his answer to the ladies. But when the powerful railroad influences, behind the mask of 'English interests,' got into action, this strict rule, which he set for himself, disappeared, and he declared that 'the exemption constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view.'

"When the women asked a word from him in behalf of suffrage, he said he had to confine himself 'to those things which have been embodied as promises to the people at an election.' When the English interests appealed to him, he forgot the promises made 'to the people at an election,' and was very willing to speak for somebody besides himself. The greed of the railroads and the audacious claims of Great Britain seem more potent with our President than the appeal of the womanhood of the nation.

"So, I say, the consideration of this amendment has been educational in more ways than one. It has given us a line upon some of the peculiar and interesting characteristics of our Chief Executive that may be exceedingly useful to the country in the future.

That Single Term Plank.

"For instance, the Democratic platform contains this declaration: 'We favor a single Presidential term * * * and we pledge the candidate of this convention to this principle.' At the proper time will the President interpret this plank in harmony with his position as to suffrage, or as to canal tolls? I believe it was the peerless Democratic leader, the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, who recently declared that 'a man who violates a party platform is a criminal worse than the man who embezzles money.' In the meantime we shall with interest watch the conflict that now appears to be going on between party promises and evasive political strategy."

Senator Owen of Oklahoma took the floor at once.

"There has not been in the great Executive chair," he said, "a man in the history of this country who has more honored it, who has been more serviceable or who has been more appreciated by the people of the United States. That the Senator from Kansas should attempt to place him in the light of an instrument of the Canadian railroads and of abject servility to the party and of equivocation and injustice toward the women of the country does little credit to the Senator.

"We all know how these conventions are conducted. There is not a man on this floor who does not understand how the Committee on Resolutions is framed, how a few—select, active, ingenious, strenuous men—will impress their view upon that platform and undertake to poison the sentiment of 45,000,000 people.

"In so far as the question is digested by the members of the convention, in so far as they represent fairly and justly the sentiment of the party, their declarations deserve to be recognized. But as far as the question of Panama tolls is concerned, that question has not been passed on by the national Democracy. That plank put into the Baltimore platform is not binding on the conscience of a Democrat. It did not in truth represent the solemn, deliberate judgment of the members of the Democratic platform, but represented only the ingenious placing into the platform of the sentiment of some gentlemen who found themselves in a position to voice what they thought was the sentiment of the party."

Bryan on the Committee.

Mr. Owen did not explain whom he meant to hold responsible for the plank. The plank was drafted by a sub-committee composed of Senator O'Gorman of New York, who openly favors American discrimination, and William Jennings Bryan, now Secretary of State. The sub-committee to which these two reported was slightly larger, and several Senators, who were members, have since admitted full knowledge of the plank and asserted that Mr. Bryan also knew what was going on around him.

"I am strongly opposed to free tolls as fundamentally unjust to the taxpayer," went on Mr. Owen. "I oppose them because not a dollar which free tolls would give as a privilege to coastwise shipping would find its way into the pockets of the people. It is common sense that when the people are taxed $400,000,000 to build the canal those using this gigantic investment for their private gain, should at least pay enough for its maintenance."

Mr. Chamberlain of Oregon, Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, and one of the warmest Senate advocates of free tolls, repudiated Mr. Bristow's suggestion that the President had been improperly influenced. He said, however, that if any plank in the Democratic platform meant anything the Panama tolls plank meant what it said.

"If the platform," he said, "is intended to stand on rather than to get in on and get off as soon as in, then this plank is binding. If the plank does not bind the party no plank does.

And if the declaration of Democrats on the floor of the House and of the Senate mean anything they mean that Democratic Senators and Representatives have indorsed the plank. All through the campaign that plank was an issue in the Coast States, and who knows how many Republicans were won by it?"

"Didn't the President himself," asked Senator Smoot of Utah, "discuss and approve the plank?"

"I am informed so," replied Mr. Chamberlain. "I did not hear him, but I have seen the speech printed. I, for one, will not stultify myself. Further than that I am not letting this delicate situation influence my judgment. We ought to stand up for our rights."

Lashes the Railroads.

Senator Smoot then read the list of the eleven Senators who voted against the Burton amendment a year ago providing equality of treatment for American and foreign ships. No Democrat's name appeared on the list.

"Low tolls through the canal," said Mr. Chamberlain, "will be an automatic regulator of freight rates. The people of the country ought to receive that benefit when they will be taxed $16,000,000 a year to maintain the canal. It is a matter of history that for years the transcontinental railways prevented the digging of the canal. And through those years of debate Senators could look into the galleries and recognize the face of Mr. Schwerin, who was lobbying against the canal."

Mr. McCumber of North Dakota, a Republican of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that he did not believe for a moment the President was influenced by the railways.

Underwood Sees Wilson.

Representative Underwood had a talk with President Wilson to-day on the canal tolls situation. His primary object in going to the White House was to endeavor to persuade the President to submit a message to Congress setting forth explicitly why it was necessary in the President's opinion that the free tolls provision should be wiped off the statute books. The House Democrats feel that the President should assume the responsibility for asking them to repudiate a party platform pledge, and that he should not expect them to reverse their previous action without pointing out the reasons for a change in party attitude.

Some time ago the President expressed a willingness to send a message to Congress, advocating repeal legislation. But it was understood that the President told Mr. Underwood to-day that on account of delicate international questions being involved he did not feel at liberty to discuss the matter in a public message or address. In view of the fact, however, that the Panama Canal would not be opened to navigation until next year, the President, it was understood, took the position that there was no reason for hurry in the proposed repeal legislation and the question needed not be regarded as of immediate concern.

Representative Mann, it became known to-day, would resist to the last ditch the President's proposal for the repeal of the free tolls provision. To-night during the discussion of the Alaskan railway bill in the House, Mr. Mann taunted the Democratic side with the charge that President Wilson was repudiating the Panama Canal toll plank of the Baltimore platform.

Mr. Mann was discussing the provision in the existing law for the payment of the Panama Canal employes for loss by death or injuries. He said he was responsible for having placed in the law a provision which authorized the President to issue regulations under which the canal employes should be so compensated. But, said Mr. Mann, the President had not issued any such regulations.

"I assume in my ignorance," said Mr. Mann, "that when the President finds time aside from his efforts to repudiate the Democratic canal tolls plank in the Baltimore platform, these Panama regulations will be issued."

It was learned to-day that there was strong opposition in Alabama, Mr. Underwood's State, to the repeal of the toll clause. The iron, steel, and coal interests of Alabama had been counting on free tolls to enable them to build up a large trade with the Pacific Coast cities.

VANDERBILT HOUSE AT JERICHO BURNS

Called a "Cottage," It Had 68 Rooms, and Loss Is $300,000.

SMOKE ROUSES SERVANTS

Notified by Telephone, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Orders Four Dogs Saved Before Art Objects.

The new sixty-eight room country house of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., facing the Glen Cove Turnpike, in the centre of the Jericho Hills on Long Island, was burned to the ground early yesterday morning. It is estimated that the combined loss of the building itself, which was one of the most luxurious of its type on the island, and the valuable tapestries, paintings, art objects and furnishings contained in it, will exceed $300,000.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was told of the fire over the long-distance telephone. She said she was deeply grieved at the loss of her beautiful home, but displayed far more concern over the safety of four pet dogs, one of which was partially paralyzed. The dogs had been rescued from the burning building by John O'Toole, her chauffeur, at the risk of his life, and when assured of their safety Mrs. Vanderbilt thanked him warmly.

The Vanderbilt house, which was recently completed, had two wings. In one of these was the servants' quarters. There were only three persons in the house when the fire was discovered at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. They were Dennis Murray and his wife, who act as the caretakers during Mrs. Vanderbilt's absence, and Catherine O'Callahan, a maid. O'Toole and his wife occupied an apartment in the garage a short distance away.

Mrs. Murray was awakened by a heavy volume of smoke which poured into her room, almost suffocating her. She aroused her husband and they groped their way through the smoke to the room of the maid, whom they awakened. None of the three was able to dress, but they managed to grab up some articles of clothing which they put on over their night clothes when they were safely outside the burning building.

Murray ran to the garage and aroused O'Toole and then hurried to the nearest house, which is the Summer home of M. S. Burrill. From there he telephoned to Mrs. Vanderbilt. Returning to the Vanderbilt home, he found O'Toole busily engaged in carrying out some of the more valuable paintings and tapestries.

"Mrs. Vanderbilt wants the dogs saved before anything else," cried Murray to O'Toole.

O'Toole fought his way through the smoke and flames to where the dogs were frantically yelping. He picked up the paralyzed dog, unleashed the other three, and made his way to the open air with the dogs close behind him. One of them is a valuable brindle terrier. Murray and O'Toole then turned all their attention to getting paintings and bric-a-brac out of the house and storing it in the garage until they could no longer stand the heat.

As far as can be learned the fire originated in the cellar and is said to have been caused by an overheated furnace. The exact cause will probably never be known, as the entire house was ablaze when Mrs. Murray was awakened.

A telephone call was sent to Hicksville, three miles away, where the nearest fire department is located. Chief George Neder and a score of firemen tried to pull the hook and ladder apparatus to the Vanderbilt estate, but soon became exhausted, as the roads were blocked with snow. Christian L. Brengel, Fire Commissioner of Hicksville, then hitched his team to the truck and managed to get it to the scene of the fire, but too late. The apparatus did not arrive until 9 o'clock, by which time the house and its contents were in ashes. Other calls were sent to Roslyn and Glen Cove, but owing to the impassable condition of the snow-bound roads, the firemen of those places were unable to reach Jericho.

Although the house burned yesterday contained 68 rooms, it was called a "cottage" by Mrs. Vanderbilt, who is planning to build a really large house on a nearby hill on her 90-acre estate. The new building will be nearer the Summer home of Mr. Burrill and will have many more rooms than the cottage contained.

The house was of the Colonial style of architecture and was planned by Mrs. Vanderbilt, who gave a great deal of her thought and time to its details. She was a frequent visitor during its construction, motoring from her Fifth Avenue residence to keep a general oversight of the work. The house was nearly a year in building, and although not entirely finished, was ready for occupancy last October. Mrs. Vanderbilt lived in it from that time until after Christmas and entertained largely. When she left she took with her the retinue of servants except those mentioned, who were instructed to have the house ready for occupancy at any moment. Mrs. Vanderbilt was planning to take a sleighing party there next Saturday. She was last in the house a week ago Sunday.

The cottage was three stories in height, and in general it was decorated in the old Holland style, although many of the rooms were decorated in accordance with various art epochs, such as the Italian Renaissance, Elizabethan, and Louis XVI. periods. It was erected on a small knoll, commanding a view of the surrounding country. Hand-split cypress shingles were used in its construction, and from the hallway, which was 30 feet square, rose a spiral staircase of old English oak imported from Kent.

The immediate neighbors of Mrs. Vanderbilt were Ralph N. Ellis, Charles Steele, and Henry Phipps, and a little further away was the country estate of Paul D. Rainey, the African big game hunter.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Vanderbilt purchased the farm just across the road from her place. It is said she paid an immense price for the property. She had been after it for a long time, but the owner refused to sell except at his price, and he finally got it. The day after the title passed a hotel on the property took fire and burned down. Mrs. Vanderbilt did not count that as a loss. One of her reasons for wanting the property is said to have been that she might get rid of the hotel.

GIRLS FIGHT SCHOOL FIRE.

Oaksmere Students Also Dig Engine Out of the Snow.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Fifty girls of the Oaksmere School in New Rochelle fought desperately to save their recitation hall and gymnasium when it burned to-day, and were driven away only when the volunteer firemen threatened to turn the hose on them. The hall, which was a large frame building, and its contents were valued at $10,000. It was on Davenports Neck, near the mansion of Adrian Iselin.

Fire was discovered in the boiler room at 11 o'clock this morning. The girls dropped their books, and while some rushed for the chemical fire extinguishers, others ran to the beach and filled buckets of water, which they dashed into the flames. Despite their efforts the fire gained headway.

A telephone message brought the Relief engine from New Rochelle. It stalled in a snowbank a half mile from the school. When the girls heard of it some of them hitched up horses to sleighs and went with snow shovels and coal scoops to help dig out the fire engine. They shoveled a path through the drift, and some rode back on the engine.

The girls who were fighting the fire refused to leave when the firemen arrived, though there was danger of the roof falling in on them. They left only when Chief James Ross shouted that he would turn the hose on them. William Noel, a member of Relief Engine Company, and Lieutenant of the local United States life saving corps, dashed into the burning building just before the roof fell, and carried out Perry Horton, a fireman who was overcome by smoke.

Oaksmere School is attended by the daughters of wealthy men from all parts of the United States. The hall that was burned was given to the school by the alumni last year. Secretary of State Bryan addressed the graduating class there last June.

MONROE WIRELESS MISPLACED, HE SAYS

USUAL FAILING ON COASTERS

Telephone to Pilot House Also Remote on Monroe, Witness Asserts —Didn't Linger After Collision.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—An alleged fault in the position of the wireless apparatus on the steamship Monroe, which was sunk in collision off the Virginia capes on Jan. 30 by the steamship Nantucket, wth a loss of forty-one lives, made it impossible to send out S O S calls except for a few seconds after the crash, Robert Lee Etheridge, assistant wireless operator on the Monroe, testified to-day at the Government inquiry here into the alleged negligence of Capt. Osmyr Berry of the Nantucket.

The witness said that the wireless outfit was misplaced on almost all coastwise ships. Condemning the failure of the Old Dominion Steamship Company to place the auxiliary or extra switches and the telephone to the pilot house at points convenient to the wireless man, Mr. Etheridge said:

"If the auxiliary switch had been placed so I could reach it under the conditions which obtained after the Monroe was hit I would have turned on a storage battery we kept in reserve and stuck until we got an answer to our S O S calls."

The witness said that he left the wireless room twenty-seven seconds after the crash, and that his chief, Ferdinand Kuehn, who lost his life after giving his life preserver to a woman passenger, preceded him by seventeen seconds.

"When the electric lights went out the power failed," Mr. Etheridge declared, "and the wireless was useless. We did not know any one was going to turn on another dynamo, so we left."

Mr. Etheridge admitted under cross-examination that if he or the other operators had remained in the room a trifle longer the distress signal could have been sent out again by reason of the auxiliary dynamo being placed in commission by the second engineer.

Mr. Etheridge resented what he appeared to regard as an insinuation against his courage made by John E. Lewis, attorney for Capt. Berry.

"Life is as sweet to me as to any one," he said. "I felt that there was no use staying there to be drowned when the wireless was out of commission."

Andrew Sjedin, the bow lookout of the Monroe, corroborated practically all that Capt. Johnson had said about the collision, and declared that all the cargo ports and passenger gangways had been firmly closed before leaving Norfolk.

THE NIAGARA AT HAVRE.

Damaged French Liner Returns to Port Under Her Own Steam.

HAVRE, Feb. 18.—The French Line steamship Niagara, which lost a propeller and was otherwise damaged while bound from Havre for New York, returned here this evening.

The Niagara, with 147 passengers aboard, ran into a heavy sea on the outward voyage, and last Saturday when 135 miles off Ushant, reported that she was in a disabled condition and was returning. She reached this port under her own steam.

FOUR OF HER CREW HURT.

Freighter Cairndon Ran Into a Hurricane and Was Swept by Seas.

Health Officer Joseph J. O'Connell received at Quarantine last night a wireless message from the pilot boat New Jersey saying that four of the crew of the British freighter Cairndon, from London, would need medical attention on their arrival. When the Cairndon arrived at Quarantine Chief Officer Hopwood, whose head was severely cut when he was hurled against a hatch by a big wave, and three seamen with broken arms and ribs and one with three fingers cut off were landed and sent to a hospital.

The Cairndon left London with a cargo of chalk for New York on Jan. 21 and encountered storms and head seas all the way across. Five days ago, when she was 800 miles east of Sandy Hook, she ran into a hurricane which piled seas over her decks fore and aft. Four lifeboats were carried away, every ventilator on deck was torn from its sockets, and the steering gear broke down. It took her engineers forty-eight hours to make repairs. It was one of the dismantled ventilators that cut off the fingers of the able seaman who was put ashore at Quarantine, Capt. Ross said.

BIG SCHOONER IN DISTRESS.

Storm-Battered Kineo Reported Off Hatteras Leaking Badly.

By Wireless to The New York Times.

STEAMSHIP CITY OF ATLANTA, via Sagaponack, N. Y., Feb. 18.—The Kineo is proceeding slowly about northward. No immediate danger unless it storms. DIEHL, Captain.

From two sources yesterday word came to this city that the big five-masted schooner Kineo of Bath, Me., was in distress north northeast of the Diamond Shoals, off Cape Hatteras. The Revenue Cutter Service was notified that the cutter Onondaga had been dispatched to the schooner's aid from Fort Monroe, and a wireless message concerning the schooner's plight was received here from the Savannah Line steamer City of Atlanta, bound from Savannah to Boston.

The City of Atlanta gave the schooner's position as sixty miles north northeast of Diamond Shoals; the revenue cutter message gave 160 miles. Both said that the vessel was leaking badly, making twelve inches of water an hour.

The Kineo, bound from Port Arthur, Texas, to Providence, R. I., is a vessel of 1,867 tons, and is owned by Arthur Sewall & Co. of Bath. She carries a crew of eleven men. She put in at Nassau on Jan. 29 with her cargo shifted and sails missing.

TYPHUS NOW HOLDS ROMA.

Case on Board Discovered at Providence—Ledge Damaged 5 Plates.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 18.—A superficial examination to-day of the Fabre Line steamship Roma, which was held on the ledges off No Man's Land for six hours on Monday, showed that five of her plates had been damaged by the pounding but that the ship was taking in very little water.

A case of typhus on board, combined with the lack of a quarantine hospital here, prevented the Roma's reparture for New York to-day. All of the 151 passengers who came aboard at Marseilles were held in quarantine on the steamer. Howard Jones, agent of the line, said the lack of quarantine facilities probably would result in the company abandoning Providence as a port of call.

AQUITANIA TO SAIL MAY 30.

Date of Cunarder's Maiden Voyage Pushed Forward—To Leave June 10.

News was received yesterday from Liverpool that the new Cunarder Aquitania will sail on her maiden voyage from that port to New York on Saturday, May 30, instead of June 20, as previously announced, and depart on the return voyage to Liverpool at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 10. This will be in place of the Campania, which was scheduled in the Cunard list for that voyage.

When the date of the Aquitania sailing was first set for June 20 the Hamburg-American Company hurried the work on its new liner Vaterland, and recently announced that she would sail from Hamburg on June 4 and from Southampton and Cherbourg on June 5.

VERNON SUES ON "AT BAY."

Says Drama Was Plagiarized from "The Threads of Destiny."

John H. Vernon, an author and dramatist, began yesterday a copyright infringement suit in the Federal District Court against Sam S. and Lee Shubert, Incorporated, John C. Huffman, a stage manager, and George Scarborough, the ex-Government detective and author of "The Lure," alleging that his play, "The Threads of Destiny," had been plagiarized in the play "At Bay," of which Scarborough was the author. Huffman is named in the suit because Vernon says he submitted his play to him, and that he is a friend of Scarborough's, and the Shuberts are sued because they have given performances of Scarborough's play.

Mr. Vernon in his complaint gives sketches of the plots of the two dramas, and asserts that Scarborough's is closely similar to his. In both, he says, the central figure is a District Attorney, whose daughter murders a man who is choking and taunting her, and that the District Attorney then gives up his political and official life to defend her.

LINERS MEET RARE PHENOMENA AT SEA

Meteor Falls Near the Lapland and Columbia Faces a Mighty Hurricane.

BAROMETER AT LOW RECORD

Registering 27.20 Before the Storm —Ice-Covered Ships Have Difficulty in Reaching Their Piers.

Two more weatherbound Atlantic steamships, the Lapland, from Antwerp, and the Columbia, from Glasgow, arrived in port yesterday three days late with stories of a hurricane in which the barometer was down as low at 27.20 and a fiery meteor which came whizzing down from the heavens into the stormy waters hard by the port bow.

Capt. J. Bradshaw was on the bridge of the Lapland at 9:30 o'clock on Friday night when it was blowing a gale from the northwest, with snow and heavy seas, in which the ship was making about eight to nine knots.

"I was standing on the port side of the bridge," said the Captain, "when suddenly I saw a ball of fire descend from the sky and explode with terrific noise just before striking the water about 200 feet away from the ship, off the port bow. It looked to me like a meteoric fragment or an electric ball of fire. Immediately afterwards the rain fell in torrents, and there was a peculiar quality in the atmosphere which is noticed at sea sometimes when the elements are in conflict."

Capt. Bradshaw, who is the Commodore of the Red Star Line, said that it was the worst weather he had ever experienced.

Capt. John Black on the Columbia of the Anchor Line, who put in sixty hours on the bridge during the heavy storms in mid-Atlantic, said yesterday that the hurricane on Thursday, when the wind rose to a velocity of 100 miles and more, was the climax of a series of gales which began when the ship left Glasgow on Feb. 7.

"When the barometer went down to 27.40," said the Captain, "I knew we were going to get something special, and at noon the hurricane started from the southeast and gradually increased in violence, reaching its maximum when it came out of the northwest at something more than 100 miles, which is the limit marked on the Beaufort scale. I stopped the ship at 12:20 oclock and kept her still while we were passing through the centre of the storm, where the sea was kept down by the wind, until 1:40, and then started half speed ahead.

"One of the worst features of the hurricane was that the wind changed its direction much quicker than the sea, and was blowing hard from the northwest when the sea was coming in great high rollers from the southeast."

The whistle cord, Capt. Black added, was caught by the wind, which dashed it to and fro with such violence that it kept the whistle blowing, creating a deafening din combined with howling of the tempest.

The Captain said that 27.40 was the lowest glass he had ever seen at sea. That was the end of the card on the barometer in the chart room of the Columbia, but the one in the Marconi room went down to 27.20.

The only incident of the great storm on the Columbia befell Johnny Duncan, the ship's bugler, a short, plump Scotch lad, who thought he would take a lookout on the promenade deck before he sounded the call for luncheon. He opened the companion door very carefully, and the next minute he was on his way down to the saloon with a cold gray sea that carried him and his bugle sheer into the middle of the dining saloon. When he got the salt water out of his mouth and eyes Johnny exclaimed: "Ah, weel, its blawing alreet."

Both liners were festooned with snow and ice and had great difficulty in getting to their piers on account of the pack ice in the slip.

The Cunarder Campania, which should have sailed for Liverpool at noon yesterday did not get away until 9 o'clock last night owing to the delay in getting the coal barges alongside. She took several passengers who were prevented by late trains from sailing on the White Star liner for Southampton at noon, including John W. Molson, the Montreal banker.

SAYS SHE WAS DRUGGED.

Hysterical Woman Tells Police a Saturated Handkerchief Was Used.

A young woman half ran, half stumbled up to Patrolman Adams, on duty at 102d Street and Third Avenue, at 7:30 o'clock last night and shrieked: "Save me! That man is following me!" Patrolman Adams could see no man, but he escorted the young woman, who was about 18 years old and wore a black plush coat, blue velvet skirt, blue silk waist, and black picture hat, to the East 104th Street Station.

The matron and Detectives Veal and Mancine, who were assigned to question her, found her so hysterical that they summoned Dr. McGlade of the Harlem Hospital. After an hour's work she regained her composure sufficiently to say that she was Mrs. Julia Capers, wife of Daniel Capers, whom she married a year ago and left a week since to live at 1,975 Seventh Avenue, with her mother, Mrs. Anna Rohlly.

Mrs. Capers told a strange story of an attack made upon her by a man with a drugged handkerchief, following which she had lost practically all memory of what had occurred in the two hours between 5:30 and 7:30 o'clock. On her way home on the Second Avenue elevated train, she said, she noticed a young man who sought to flirt with her. At Eighty-sixth Street, she said, this man had occupied a seat which just then became vacant beside her.

The man, she said, drew a handkerchief from his pocket as if to use it, when suddenly he threw it over her face. Her next impression was that she was at Hanover Square station of the elevated. Dr. McGlade said that there was no doubt that Mrs. Capers was most hysterical. He could not express any opinion as to what drug might have caused her to act the way she did. A general police alarm was sent out for the man whom Mrs. Capers described.

EXPECT VICE REVELATIONS.

Rose Barrick, Now Under Charges, Calls to See Whitman.

Importance was attached yesterday to a visit made by Mrs. Rose Barrick, formerly proprietor of the "Little Belmont," on West Forty-fifth Street, to the office of District Attorney Whitman. Mrs. Barrick, who is a colored woman, was arrested by Inspector Dwyer on Sept. 15, charged with keeping a disorderly resort. Her trial was on the calendar for last Monday, but was postponed until Friday.

Mrs. Barrick, known in the Tenderloin as the "African Queen," according to information in District Attorney Whitman's hands, ran a disorderly resort undisturbed for nine years. It was believed that she was immune from raids. Prominent politicians have been named by informers as responsible for her success. The delayed trial and the visit to the District Attorney's office gave rise to rumors that important revelations had been made.

Wife a Burglar, Too, She Says.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—According to the police, Mrs. Elmer Anschott, 17, confessed to them that she had taken part in many burglaries for which her husband, 19, was arrested and held for court to-day. Dressed as a boy, her hair cut short, she stood guard, they say, outside the houses he robbed, with a revolver hidden under her coat. Mrs. Anschott will have a hearing to-morrow.

MATTHEWS PICTURES SOLD.

A "Still Life and Landscape," by Jan Weenix, Sold for $1,140.

The concluding sale of the collection of paintings of Nicholas M. Matthews of Baltimore, under the auspices of the American Art Association, at the Plaza Hotel last evening brought $14,330, making a total of $27,490. A "Still Life and Landscape," by Jan Weenix, fruit and flowers, a little dog and a squirrel with landscape in the background, a large painting 58 by 31, for which Mr. Matthews had been offered $3,000 at different times, went to Bernet, agent, for $1,140.

"The King Is Dead, Long Live the King," an interesting picture by Frans Snyders of a bird conclave with a tiny owl presiding and a few domestic fowls taking part, went to a buyer giving the name of Mori for $650. Another picture by Snyders, "Dogs Attacking a Stag," went to Stillwager for $500, the first bid.

A "Landscape and Old White Horse," signed by the artist with the date, 1649, went to Philip J. Brett for $260. Aart Van Der Neer's "River Scene in Moonlight" went to Bohler & Steinmeyer for $400, and the charming little picture by Eglon Hendrik Van Der Neer, "Portrait of a Young Lady at Her Toilet," a pretty, fair young woman, with a round but delicate face, wearing a cap, sitting before a mirror, went to Knoedler & Co. for $650. The chair in the picture, a bright red, made a pretty touch of color.

Poelenburg's "Diana, Calypso and Others" went to F. E. Claiborn for $300. Netscher's "Portrait of a Lady" went to Williams for $900. "A Basket of Flowers," by Justus Van Huysum, went to Bernet, agent, for $400, and another "Basket of Flowers," by Jan Van Huysum, which cost $1,000 in Amsterdam in 1842, went to Chester for $350. Ferdinand Bol's "Portrait of a Lady," went to Williams for $350, and a "Kitchen Interior," by Zorg, went to the same buyer for $430.

A nice little portrait by Pierre Mignard, surrounded by blossoms by Seghers, went to Beck for $110.

SALE OF HOSKIER'S PRINTS.

Valuable Collection of Engravings to be Put Up at Auction.

Paintings in oil and water color, prints of beauty and historic importance, rare and valuable books, old English furniture, and a remarkable Greek marble statue of the third century, B. C., comprising the collection of H. C. Hoskier of South Orange, N. J., will be sold at the American Art Galleries on March 2, 3, 4, and 5.

"These engravings illustrate," Mr. Hoskier says, "in a modest way the development of the art from the cameo wood block through the intaglio copper plate down to the peculiar and nondescript mezzotint plate and onward with the pure or mixed processes of stipple or etching to the steel plates of the nineteenth century, and the revival of the great art under the moderns of the end of the nineteenth and beginning of the twentieth century. The most satisfying examples of all are included among the mezzotints of the eighteenth century. Perhaps the most agreeable plate to 'live with' in the collection is the portrait of Rembrandt himself, by himself, leaning on a stone sill, of which one can never tire.

"Besides the memories and contrasts, which such sight of it must evoke, the artistic excellencies of the portrait itself are so great and the 'regard,' as the French express it, so gracious and so idyllic, that our attention cannot be distracted from it by any other surroundings."

ACT 'WIE DIE ALTEN SUNGEN'

German Players Give Old Comedy at Heinrich Marlow's Benefit.

The German players at the Irving Place Theatre appeared last night in a benefit performance for the assistant manager of the stock company, Heinrich Marlow. The play, Karl Niemann's comedy, "Wie die Alten Sungen," was received with approval by a crowded house. Among the tokens of esteem for Mr. Marlow was a large silver loving cup presented by his fellow-players.

This play, although about twenty-five years old, had never been produced in New York. It tells the story of an old feudal lord whose gruff manner and tender heart were in continuous conflict. Aside from Mr. Marlow's excellent portrayal of the difficult rôle Grete Meyer added much to the enjoyment of the evening with her good command of dialect.

OPERA COMPANY IN NEED.

Benefit Performance to be Given for National Grand of Canada.

Special to The New York Times.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 18.—George Slezak, tenor of the National Grand Opera Company of Canada, which was scheduled to appear here last night and again to-night, left for the East this afternoon, and to-night's performance was called off.

Last night's opera was not sung because F. D. Hawkins, manager of the theatre, deducted $750 from the guarantee of $4,500, which he had made the company. Mr. Hawkins says that he took out the money because one of the best singers of the opera company was not on hand.

The other members of the company then refused to appear. Clair J. Pitcher, Commissioner of Public Safety of Denver, seized the company's baggage to indemnify the audience which assembled for Tuesday's night's opera. Slezak succeeded in getting two of his thirty-five trunks before he departed for New York.

Benefit performances are planned for to-morrow afternoon and evening by the principal singers in aid of the members of the company. The attached scenery will be loaned for these occasions.

ENGLISH ACTRESS SOUGHT.

Police Search for Mrs. Ring in Connection with Settlement of Estate.

Mrs. Edward J. Ring, an actress, known on the stage as Maud Summerville, is being sought in connection with the settlement of an estate in England. Police Headquarters received a letter from Webster & Webster, solicitors and counsellors at law, with offices at 68A Lincoln Inn Fields, London, W. C., requesting the police to use their efforts to find her.

The letter says that Mrs. Ring or Miss Summerville must appear in court or by counsel in London on or before March 27 next. It is stated that Mrs. Ring and her husband, Edward J. Ring, and a theatrical troupe came to New York in 1880. It is known that the woman lived at 64 West Eleventh Street, Manhattan, in 1891.

Lieut. Grant Williams, head of the Bureau of Identification of Unidentified Dead, was placed in charge of the case. No. 64 West Eleventh Street has been a restaurant for the last ten years. Lieut. Williams could not find any one there who remembered Mrs. Ring.

"Tosca" Sung at the Metropolitan.

Puccini's "Tosca" was given at the Metropolitan last night with Geraldine Farrar in the title rôle. Riccardo Martin sang Cavaradossi for the first time this season. Mr. Scotti was Scarpia, and the remainder of the cast included Miss Braslau and Messrs. Rossi, Pini-Corsi, Bada, Begue, and Ananian, Giorgio Polacco conducted.

Miss Robertson's Luncheon.

Miss Mabel Joy Robertson entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Ritz-Carlton for her cousin, Mrs. Wharton Poor. The guests were Mme. Henri Gorian, Mrs. Olin Potter Geer, Mrs. James Daniel Miller, Mrs. William Cooper Dickey, Miss Theresa Ingersoll, and Miss Katherine Wodell.

BENEDICT PARTY RETURNS.

Had an 8,000-Mile Cruise as Far South as the Amazon.

Commodore E. C. Benedict arrived in the harbor yesterday on his yacht Oneida and anchored off the New York Yacht Club landing at the foot of East Twenty-third Street after making a cruise of 8,000 miles through the West Indies and as far south as the Amazon River. The Commodore celebrated his eightieth birthday with his friends on the cruise, which was the sixth he has made over the same track since 1904. Among the ports touched at were St. Thomas, Martinique, San Juan, St. Lucia, Barbados, Trinidad, Colon, Havana, and Para, Brazil. A trip of inspection of the Panama Canal was also made.

The members of the party on the yacht who returned to New York with the Commodore were William M. Ivins, H. E. Robinson, S. B. Church, L. D. Huntington, Jr., P. P. Lynch, Edward Beers, W. H. Stewart, and Dr. Whitmarsh.

STOLEN FILMS RECOVERED.

Ex-Employe of Robbed Company Caught Trying to Sell Them.

Jesse J. Goldberg, secretary of a moving picture film manufacturing company at 102 West 101st Street, which was robbed on Sunday night of two valuable negatives and a quantity of raw film, was notified by telephone yesterday afternoon that a well-dressed young man was attempting to dispose of a quantity of raw film to a company at Forty-fifth Street and Broadway. Mr. Goldberg notified Detective Sergeant Quinn of the East 101st Street police station, who hurried downtown and arrested Harry Friedman, 24 years old, of 111 West 104th Street.

Friedman until two weeks ago was employed in the printing department of Goldberg's company and was discharged. He said that he had broken into the plant in order to raise money to get out of town. All of the stolen goods was recovered. Freeman will be arraigned to-day in the Yorkville Court.

RAID OVER DWYER'S HEAD.

Headquarters Squad Closes a House in West 46th Street.

Police Lieut. Scherb, from Commissioner McKay's office, ran up the steps of the brownstone house at 144 West Forty-sixth Street with a squad of detectives at 9 o'clock last night and demanded admission. The door was locked, but soon it was opened from within by another detective. At the same time detectives entered the house from the rear.

The house had been on the suspected list for some time. It was deemed significant that the raid was made from Headquarters and over the head of Police Inspector Dwyer, the man assigned to clean up the Tenderloin after the Rosenthal murder.

Lieut. Scherb found Mary Carroll, 45 years old, in charge of the house. He placed her under arrest, but permitted two other women to go. The prisoner was locked up in the West Forty-seventh Street Station charged with keeping and maintaining a disorderly house. The detective who opened the door for Lieut. Scherb was the complainant.

FRIENDS OF MUSIC CONCERT

Eugene Ysaye and His Son Gabriel, Soloists at the Ritz-Carlton.

The Society of the Friends of Music had for its fourth concert at the Ritz-Carlton yesterday afternoon as soloists Eugene Ysaye and his son, Gabriel Ysaye, with Arnold Volpe's string orchestra; Camille Decreus, pianist, and Frank Sealy, organist, assisting. There was a good-sized audience. The programme opened with the playing of Brahm's Sonata in D minor, played by Messrs. Eugene Ysaye and Decreus, after which Bach's Concerto in D minor for two violins and orchestra was given, with Eugene and Gabriel Ysaye playing the solo parts.

After this came a concerto grosso in G minor by Arcangelo Corelli, from original manuscript owned by Mr. Ysaye and arranged by him. The solo group was played by Eugene Ysaye and Frank Sealy, to the accompaniment of Arnold Volpe's string orchestra. The concert was concluded with Schumann's piano quintet, played by Messrs. Eugene and Gabriel Ysaye, violins; Arnold Volpe, viola; William Durieux, 'cello, and Camille Decreus, piano.

THE CELTIC IN CRASH IN BAY OF NAPLES

White Star Liner, Bound for New York, in Collision with the Steamship Madonna.

BOTH VESSELS DAMAGED

The Celtic's Sailing Is Delayed and Fabre Line Ship Forced to Dock for Repairs.

NAPLES, Italy, Feb. 18.—The White Star Line steamship Celtic was in collision with the Fabre liner Madonna here to-day, and both vessels were seriously damaged.

The Madonna's anchor chain was broken and the top of her stem was damaged. She was unable to sail for New York, for which port she was to have started to-day with a large number of immigrants. She has been docked for repairs.

The Celtic was seriously damaged on the counter, but is believed to have been only slightly injured below the water line. She also was bound for New York.

Lloyds posted a message at the Maritime Exchange here yesterday announcing the accident to the Celtic and the Madonna in the Bay of Naples. The Celtic, from Alexandria, was en route to New York. The Madonna was plying from Marseilles, via Naples, to Providence and New York.

It was said at the White Star offices here that because westbound travel was slack this season the Celtic probably had few first class passengers aboard. No passenger list was available here.

The Madonna is a comparatively small ship. The agents here said she had 1,400 immigrants aboard on this trip

BRIDE TO WAIT ON BORDER.

Mr. Crawford Won't Be Allowed to Take Her Into Afghanistan.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A romantic wedding of two Americans took place here to-day, when Perry Crawford of San José, Cal., and Miss Irma Zichokke of Palo Alto, Cal., were married in Regent Square Church.

The bridegroom is engaged in building a power house for the Ameer of Afghanistan, the purpose of which is to operate a factory for the manufacture of arms and clothing for the Afghan Army. The work is being done so secretly that Mr. Crawford came out of the country under military escort, and he will not be permitted to take his bride beyond the Afghan border, where she will be compelled to wait for a year until the power house has been completed.

Mr. Crawford says the Ameer is determined to equip his own army without foreign aid and to cut loose from both Russia and England.

The romance began when both Mr. Crawford and Miss Zichokke were undergraduates of Leland Stanford University. The bride is well known as a settlement worker in connection with the Russell Sage Foundation at New York.

NO 1915 PEACE CONFERENCE

Cannot Be Held Next Year, as Committee Has Not Yet Been Appointed

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Francis Dyke Acland, Parliamentary Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, informed the House of Commons to-day that it would be impossible to hold the third Hague Peace Conference in 1915, as under the rules, a committee must sit for two years in advance of the meeting to prepare a programme, and the committee had not yet been formed.

Great Britain, Mr. Acland said, could not take the initiative owing to its failure to pass the Naval Prize bill and thus ratify the agreements of the last conference.

TO STUDY THE CANAL.

Commission to Report on How It May Best Profit French Commerce.

PARIS, Feb. 18.—A commission for the study of the economic consequences for France of the opening of the Panama Canal was formed to-day. It is composed of ten officials from various State ministries, all of them familiar with different phases of the Government service and with the requirements of the French merchant marine.

The Commissioners, after their discussions, will draft a report to the Government on the steps necessary to get the fullest results from the Canal for French commerce.

The Victoria Luise at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 18.—The steamship Victoria Luise of the Hamburg-American Line, arrived to-day on schedule time after a delightful voyage from San Juan, Porto Rico. There was a dance on board yesterday, and the ballroom and broad afterdeck were crowded. A programme of athletic events is carried out daily. The weather is warm and clear. All on board are well.

Earle's Companion Leaves Norway.

CHRISTIANIA, Feb. 18.—Miss Charlotte Herman of Rotherford, N. J. the companion of Ferdinand Pinney Eearle, the American artist who was recently extradited to France in connection with the kidnapping of Earle's eight-year-old son from a school in France, left here to-day for Paris. Miss Herman was accompanied by a Norwegian policeman as far as the Swedish frontier.

Belgian King's Condition Good.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 18.—The condition of King Albert, who suffered a broken arm and contusions of the legs by a fall from his horse yesterday, was satisfactory to-day, according to the surgeon's bulletin.

Lord Weardale Savagely Attacked, His Assailant Taking Him for Premier Asquith.

"THE ACT OF A LUNATIC"

Magistrate's Remark in Refusing to Grant Bail—Wants the Woman's Mental State Examined.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A militant suffragette armed with a whip savagely attacked Lord Weardale to-day while he was waiting with 200 other guests at Euston Station for a train to Althorp Park, Northampton, to attend the wedding of the Hon. Sidney Peel, son of Viscount Peel, and Lady Delia Spencer, daughter of Earl Spencer.

Lord Weardale was walking with Lady Weardale along the platform when he was approached from behind by the militant, who struck a severe blow at him with a powerful dog whip, as a result of which he fell to the ground.

The incident caused a lively sensation among the big party of fashionable persons, many of whom were members of the nobility. Their anxiety was relieved when it was found that Lord Weardale had not suffered any serious injury.

The woman was arrested. Later, when she was arraigned at the Clerkenwell Police Court, she refused to give her name, and told the Magistrate she did not desire to say anything. It was, however, learned that she was Mary Lindsay, a Londoner.

Lord Weardale, when he gave his testimony, said the woman was a stranger to him. He added as a possible explanation of the assault that he and Lord Curzon of Kedleston were joint Presidents of the Anti-Suffargist Society.

The detective who arrested the suffragette at Euston testified that she said to him: "I meant to give him a good thrashing. You don't know what harm he has done us."

The prisoner, who wore the badge of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragette organization, was remanded. Later in the day counsel applied to the Magistrate for bail for Miss Lindsay, saying she had mistaken Lord Weardale for Premier Asquith, who she considered responsible for the maltreatment of women in prison. The attorney said an apology would be made to Lord Weardale.

The Magistrate, however, refused to grant bail, saying that the act was that of a lunatic and that he wanted an inquiry made into the state of the prisoner's mind in order to ascertain whether she was sane.

Lord Weardale is well known in this country, which he visited last May as Chairman of the delegation in connection with the Anglo-American Peace Centenary. He was accompanied on that occasion by his nephew, Earl Stanhope, and by the Hon. Neil Primrose, M. P., one of Lord Rosebery's sons.

The first Baron Weardale was formerly the Hon. Philip James Stanhope. He was created a peer in 1905 after a long career in Parliament. He is a Liberal in politics and President of the Inter-Parliamentary Union. He is considerably older than Premier Asquith, having been born in 1849, and bears but a slight resemblance to him.

"RITUAL" CHARGE DROPPED.

Accused Tailor Freed, Boy Supposed to be Slain Being Alive.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18.—Telegrams from Kieff announce that Pashkoff, the Jewish tailor of Fastoff, who was arrested and charged with the "ritual murder" of the boy Yoshel Pashkoff, has been released on bail in consequence of the discovery alive of the Christian boy Taranthevitch, who was at first said to have been the victim of the crime. Taranthevitch was reported to have been adopted by Pashkoff as his son and then murdered.

A Russian peasant named Gontcharuk, who also had been arrested, as he had been reported to have been seen with the boy on the day of the murder in December, was also set at liberty to-day.

No official announcement of the men's liberation has as yet been issued.

The dispatches state that these developments appear to dispose of the allegations of "ritual murder" put forward by the members of the organization of the "Black Hundred," the society responsible for the instigation of many massacres of Jews in Russia.

ALBANIA'S KING, HUSTLER.

Spends a Very Busy Day in London and Then Goes On to Paris.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Prince William of Wied, the King designate of Albania, to-day paid London a flying trip, which showed that he was a hustler of the first order.

He arrived in London at 8 A. M. and left here at 9 P. M. Between those hours he conferred with the German Ambassador and the Austrian Ambassador, lunched with King George at Buckingham Palace, had an interview with the Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, called on Premier Asquith, visited Marlborough House, and dined at the German Embassy.

The Prince has gone to Paris to have an interview with President Poincaré. In less than a fortnight he will have accomplished a tour which will have taken him to Berlin, Rome, Vienna, London, and Paris, and brought him into personal touch with the rulers and foreign Ministers of five great powers.

KING GEORGE AT A SMOKER.

Seems to Enjoy Himself—Walks About and Talks Animatedly.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—King George attended a smoking concert given by the Royal Amateur Orchestral Society in Queen's Hall to-night. He brought a large party from Buckingham Palace.

His Majesty appeared to enjoy himself thoroughly. He applauded several performers. During the interval he walked about, shook hands with leading members of the society, and engaged several in animated conversation on items of the programme.

Two royal servants in red liveries served the King's party with refreshments brought from Buckingham Palace. The King remained to the end of the entertainment, when the women who had performed in the course of the evening were presented to him. The King smoked cigarettes during the concert.

HISSED ROYAL COMPOSITION

Public Did Not Appreciate a Piece by Prince Albrecht Joachim.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

VIENNA, Feb. 18.—A curious incident is reported from Abbazia, the well-known Istrian watering place, where Prince and Princess Albrecht Joachim of Prussia, distant cousins of the Kaiser, are staying.

The other evening the Prince and Princess were sitting in a restaurant when they were recognized by the leader of the orchestra, who immediately instructed the musicians to play one of the Prince's own compositions in his honor. The public, who apparently did not appreciate the royal music, began to hiss whereupon the Prince and Princess immediately left the place.

KAISER AS A MATCHMAKER.

Said to Have Arranged Greek-Rumanian Union—To Attend Wedding

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

VIENNA, Feb. 18.—According to a Bucharest dispatch to the Neue Freie Presse, the Greek Crown Prince and Princess Elisabeth of Rumania will be married at Athens on May 21.

It is stated that the Emperor William arranged the match and will assist as a witness with Queen Elisabeth of Rumania.

King Constantine of Greece has already presented to the Princess his castle of Tatos and has bestowed the title of Duchess of Sparta upon her.

Tree to Produce "Pygmalion."

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree will shortly produce at His Majesty's Theatre George Bernard Shaw's new play, "Pygmalion," which had a successful run in Vienna, but has not yet been seen in London. Sir Herbert will play Pygmalion and Mrs. Patrick Campbell Galatea.

GOOD SHOWING MADE BY RHODES MEN

They Took Many Prizes at Oxford Last Year—American Gained a First in Classics.

ONE OLD FEAR DISSIPATED

Very Few of the Scholars Stay in England—The Americans Now Doing Better Than at First.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Thursday, Feb. 19.—The anual statement of the Rhodes Scholarship Trust, issued yesterday, shows that in 1913 seventy-four scholors, representing all the principal British colonies, the United States, and Germany entered Oxford University as Rhodes scholars.

The Times, outlining the work done by Rhodes scholars, says that, on the whole, they seem to be standing the test of Oxford competition fairly well in all subjects except classics. Only one first class was obtained in Literae Humaniores, and that by an American scholar from the Pacific Coast.

"On the other hand, in the School of Jurisprudence Rhodes men gained five firsts in the Summer of 1913 out of seven awarded. The presence of the scholars at Oxford has apparently affected this school more than any other.

In economics diplomas "with distinction" were taken by one German, two Americans, and one Australian.

The university prizes won during the year include the Vinerian Scholarship in Law, the Davies Chinese Scholarship, the Beit Prize in Colonial History, the Robert Herbert Memorial Prize, the Charles Oldham Prize for an essay on classical literature, the Matthew Arnold Prize for an essay on English literature, and the Gladstone Memorial Prize.

While many of these can scarcely be recognized as among the major prizes of the university, says The Times, they show that the scholars are taking a fair share in the intellectual competitions of the place. The proportion of these successes gained in 1913 by American scholars was larger than in past years.

Some interest, says The Times, attaches to that part of the report dealing with the occupations of the men after leaving the university. Of 431 ex-scholars in this list 144 turned to educational work, 113 to law, 47 to the civil service of Great Britain, Germany, or the United States; 25 to medicine, 18 to business, the same number to the Church, and smaller numbers to journalism, scientific work, and farming.

Of the 431 only 11 are traced as having taken up work in England, and in most of even these cases the employment here may be temporary.

The Times concludes that experience is evidently dissipating the fears of those who thought that the Motherland would absorb numbers of the scholars.

LILIUOKALANI IN PALACE.

Ex-Queen at Her Old Home for the First Time in Twenty Years.

HONOLULU, Feb. 18.—For the first time since her government was overthrown twenty years ago, ex-Queen Liliuokalani entered the old palace, her former home, yesterday. The building is now the territory's capital, and on the grounds in front of it 12,000 persons participated in a dance to celebrate the opening of a week's carnival.

From time to time as the exercises proceeded, the ex-Queeen wiped tears from her eyes, but she said she had enjoyed the occasion and rejoiced over Hawaii's prosperity. She will be a guest at various events of the week.

KELMSCOTT CHAUCER, $360.

Low Price Realized at Sotheby's for Morris Press Masterpiece.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—In a sale at Sotheby's to-day of books and manuscripts, the properties of Major C. L. Hendricks, Sir John Eldon Gorst, and others, the Edinburgh Edition of Robert Louis Stevenson's Works, together with "Letters to His Family and Friends," and his Life, by Graham Balfour, brought $305.

The Kelmscott Edition of Chaucer, one of 425 copies, with eighty-seven designs by Sir Edward Burne-Jones, went for $360, a low price compared with previous auction records.

"Architecture a la Mode," a collection of many hundred fine plates of interior and exterior decoration by Mariette, Le Pautre, Berain, Cotelle, and others, in three folio volumes, was knocked down for $430.

The sale will be continued to-morrow.

WALES AIDS INJURED MAN.

Takes Him to a Doctor After Frightened Horse Had Thrown Him.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Prince of Wales, who is an enthusiastic motorist, was driving his car between Charlbury and Ascot to-day when the horn of the car startled a horse, the driver of which was thrown into the road, his leg being broken.

The Prince went to the man's assistance, had him placed in the car, and drove back to Charlbury at top speed in search of medical aid.

Failing to find a doctor at Charlbury, the Prince drove to the next village. He did not depart until he had seen the sufferer in safe hands.

GOT 'SECRETS' IN PAPERS.

"Spy" Merely Cut Plans Out of Russian and Finnish Journals.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERNE, Feb. 18.—An amusing case of pretended espionage is now before the Bernese Police Court. It is that of a man who has been trying to dispose of plans of certain Russian fortresses and cities such as Odessa and Kronstadt, which he had simply cut out of Russian and Finnish papers.

A preposterous point in his allegations is that the British Admiralty negotiated with him and was even prepared to give him hundreds of francs for "documents" which it had not seen.

Germans to Reply to Dewey.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—Lecturing last night on improvements in his process of tele-photography, Prof. Korn stated that wireless could also be employed for the long-distance transmission of pictures, though the process has not yet been perfected.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 18.—The new Swedish Cabinet purposes to dissolve Parliament and, after the elections, to submit its plans for the defense of the country to the new Parliament. Premier Hammerskjoeld made this announcement in the Second Chamber to-day when outlining the policy of the Government. King Gustaf, the Premier said, had intrusted him with the task of settling the question of national defense without reference to political considerations. The funds necessary for carrying through the reform would, he said, be raised by a special tax.

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 18.—A bill for the enfranchisement of women in the Union of South Africa, which was introduced in the House of Assembly to-day, was negatived on the first reading by the narrow majority of 43 against 42 votes.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 18.—The American Ambassador, Henry Morgenthau, gave his first official dinner to-day. The Grand Vizier, Prince Said Halim, several of the Cabinet Ministers, and the members of the Diplomatic Corps were guests.

WANT INQUIRY ON TITLES.

House of Lords to Vote for an Investigation of the Scandal.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—It was decided to-day at a meeting of Unionist members of the Houses of Lords and Commons that the Peers should support the motion of Lord Ampthill for an inquiry into the charges brought by newspapers regarding the purchase of titles by subscriptions to party funds. This will be done at the resumption to-morrow in the House of Lords of the debate on the purchase of Marconi shares by members of the Cabinet.

This course means the adoption of the motion by the House of Lords, but it is anticipated that the Government will refuse to participate in the inquiry on the ground that there has already been one inquiry. Should this be the case the motion will resolve itself into a purely party affair.

BILLINGHURST IS EXILED.

Deposed President of Peru Put Aboard Warship Bound for Panama

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 18.—Guillermo Billinghurst, the deposed President of Peru, was sent into exile to-day with his son George and his Minister of the Interior, Don Gonzalo Tirado.

At midnight he was taken from the penitentiary, where he had been confined since his overthrow on Feb. 4, and was escorted to Callao, where he and his two companions were put aboard the Peruvian cruiser Lima before dawn. The war vessel then started for Panama.

It is reported that the majority of the Peruvian Congress will refuse to authorize the assumption of the Presidency by Roberto E. Leguia, First Vice President, now on his way to New York from England. It is feared that such action might cause further revolution and a state of anarchy in Peru.

THORNTON "UNDESIRABLE"?

Will Crooks's Inquiry in a Debate in the House of Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Henry W. Thornton, the new American General Manager of the Great Eastern Railway Company, as an "undesirable alien," was the proposition advanced to-day in the House of Commons by Will Crooks, the well-known Labor member.

The members of the Labor Party had been greatly incensed by a demand put forward by the Unionists for legislation to prevent such "alien desperadoes" as the Labor leaders deported from South Africa from being "dumped" in England.

A storm of protest filled the House, in the midst of which the burly member for Woolwich shouted:

"What about Thornton, the new manager of the Great Eastern? Is he an undersirable alien?"

RESERVE COMMITTEE BACK TO PICK CITIES

McAdoo and Houston in Capital Report Prosperity and Approval of Currency Bill.

AID PROMISED TO BUSINESS

Treasury's Head Will Again Aid by Crop-Money Loans if Reserve Plan is Delayed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The Federal Reserve Bank Organization Committee, back in Washington after a five weeks' trip through the country, announced in a statement issued to-night, that its selection of Federal reserve cities and definition of reserve districts would not be made until careful consideration had been given to the information accumulated on the trip. The statement said that members of the committee, Secretaries McAdoo and Houston, found the country prosperous and learned that bankers and business men were greatly interested in the new banking system and confident of its success.

In a supplemental statement Mr. McAdoo said that he hoped the new system would be established in time to take care of crop-moving contingencies next year, but that if it were not the Treasury Department would stand ready to place its funds again at the disposal of business men.

The committee's statement in part said:

In every section of the country the committee has found a practically unanimous conviction among bankers and business men that the currency bill will bring about most beneficial changes in the business of the country; in fact, the committee heard no one speak who did not say that the measure was a great step in advance.

The committee was presented everywhere with overwhelming evidence of the enormous economic strength of the country and of the rapid progress of every section. The fact that the nation's banking resources as a whole make enormous advances every twelve or fifteen years, approximately doubling in each such period, was made evident; while this is true of the country as a whole, it was shown that certain sections are advancing with more rapid strides than others, and that the country is fundamentally exceptionally sound and strong economically. The facts and figures submitted to the committee in every part of the country show amazing growth and strength and disclosed a condition of financial, industrial, commercial, and agricultural soundness and prosperity that leaves no doubt as to the future.

Bankers Condemn Present System.

The committee was impressed by the frank admission of bankers throughout the country that the present banking system not only encourages, but actually has created striking artificial conditions of banking. With practical unanimity the opinion was expressed that the new measure will restore normal conditions, with great resulting benefit; that the present system not only furnishes no protection in times of real stringency, but also, even in times of great prosperity, especially when there are bounteous crops, makes it impossible to meet the conditions; and that there has been presented the singular contradiction of having bankers thrown into fear of a panic by the emergency of wealth. The bankers were unanimously of the opinion that the establishment of this reserve system will no longer make our prosperity a peril, and that it will relieve them of apprehension and distress in those circumstances and give confidence and stability to business generally.

The committee has finished its survey in the field. It has yet to make examination of important documents and data, and cannot render any decision until it has thoroughly examined this material.

Secretary McAdoo's Statement.

Here is Secretary McAdoo's statement:

"In a few instances the question was asked if the new Federal Reserve Banks would be organized in time to take care of the crop-moving contingencies next Fall. It is hoped that the system may be established before that time, but if it should not be, the resources of the United States Treasury will be placed again at the disposal of and be used for the protection of the legitimate business interests of the country. The Treasury resources are believed to be adequate for the purpose, but if they should not prove to be, then it should be remembered that the Aldrich-Vreeland act has been extended until June 30, 1915, and the tax upon circulation taken out under this measure has been reduced to the point where bankers may resort to it with advantage in case necessity should arise. The financial situation is, therefore, sound and satisfactory, and there is every reason why business should proceed normally and with confidence and courage."

Under the new currency law national banks, required to enter the system or give up their charters, have until next Sunday to signify their intention to become members. Although only 300 national banks of the 7,500 have not yet taken action, it was understood that the committee would withhold announcement of cities and districts until the time limit expired.

Although the committee's trip through the country may have changed its opinion of the proper location of several banks, it is not doubted here that banks will be placed in New York, Chicago, and St. Louis, the central reserve cities in the present national bank system. The location of the others was still regarded to-day as an open question.

While the committee is working out that problem its members will consult with President Wilson about the make-up of the Federal Reserve Board.

WAR WASTE AND HARD TIMES

Armament Burden of Europe Felt in America, Says Angell.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The economic folly of war was discussed in an address here to-day by Norman Angell of England before the Interparliamentary Group in Congress of the World's Peace Congress. He declared that armament purchases by European Governments were directly responsible through increased bank rates for some of the industrial unrest in America, and that as wars precipitated money crises it would be folly to adopt any but a world peace policy.

Socialism, "I. W. W.ism," and the like, he said, were imported from Europe as the direct result of the cry of the people against the great burden European nations were imposing in armament.

O. Praeger, Washington Postmaster

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—President Wilson sent to the Senate to-day the nomination of Otto Praeger to be Postmaster of Washington. This is regarded as one of the most important positions in the Government service. Mr. Praeger was selected by Postmaster General Burleson, who has been his intimate friend for years and regards him as one of the best-equipped men that could be found for the position. Mr. Praeger has lived in Washington for nine years. He came here to serve as Washington correspondent of The Dallas-Galveston News and has held the place continuously. He has a wide acquaintance among public men and is greatly respected.

Mrs. Logan Poisoned by Mistake.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the civil war General, took a poisonous medicine at her home here last night, thinking she was taking a cold remedy, and for several hours was in a precarious condition. Physicians gave antidotes in good time, and to-day she was out of danger.

A Revival of the Styles that our Great Grandmothers wore

This season, the Creators of Fashion are reverting to the "days before the war" and the regime of Louis XV and Louis XVI, or the Napoleonic Period for the inspirations of their designs.

Old fashioned taffeta, laces in profusion, puffs, paniers, draperies, flounces, fichus, the shepherdess frock, peasant collars and Napoleon cape-coats are a few of the salient features of the incoming fashions.

A bevy of these delightful style rejuvenations already awaits you here, fashioned according to the latest advices from Paris.

ALASKA ROAD BILL APPROVED BY HOUSE

Party Lines Are Broken in Vote of 230 to 87 for Government Railway Project.

$1,000,000 TO START WORK

House on Fitzgerald's Motion Strikes Out Provision for $35,000,000 Bond Issue to Build Road.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—By a vote of 230 to 87 the House of Representatives passed the Alaska Railroad bill to-night. The measure provides for the construction by the United States Government of a railroad in Alaska at a cost of $35,000,000. The road is to be owned and operated by the Government and will tap the Bering and Matanuska coal fields.

The action taken to-day assures the carrying out of the Administration's project for such a Government railway, because the Senate has already passed a similar bill. While the House added important amendments to the Senate measure, they were not such as to prevent adjustment of these differences in conference.

The most important change made by the House was the elimination of the section which proposed a $35,000,000 bond issue. Representative Fitzgerald, pointing out that the Government would pay $31,000,000 in interest on such an issue in thirty years, characterized it as ridiculous, and his motion to strike out the financial plan was carried by a vote of 64 to 61.

The House then adopted another amendment by Mr. Fitzgerald fixing the limit of cost of the railroad at $35,000,000 and appropriated $1,000,000 with which to start the work. As a result of these changes, if adopted by the Senate, the railroad will be paid for by direct appropriations from the Treasury from year to year as fast as the funds are required.

Another amendment offered by Mr. Fitzgerald was adopted striking out the fourth section of the bill. This section provided for the creation of a redemption fund in the Treasury, to be known as the Alaska Railway Redemption Fund, into which should be paid 50 per cent. of all money derived from selling public lands, townsites, coal, mineral, or timber, and into which should be paid all net earnings of the Alaska Railway above the maintenance charges and operating expenses. This money was to be used upon order of the President to pay the interest on the bonds which were to be authorized.

The bill will carry this provision instead:

"That all moneys derived from the lease, sale, or disposal of public lands, including townsites in Alaska, coal or mineral therein contained, or the timber thereon, and the net earnings of said railroad or railroads above maintenance charges shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States as other miscellaneous receipts are paid, and a separate account shall be kept and annually reported to Congress."

The political complexion of the final vote was:

	For.	Against.
Democrats	152	67
Republicans	78	20
Total	230	87

An analysis of the vote shows that if the Republicans and Progressives had voted solidly against the bill they could have defeated it on final passage. Only 152 Democrats voted for the bill. The 78 Republicans and Progressives who voted for it, by lining up with the other 87 opponents, could have cast 165 votes against the bill.

Suspended from State Hospital.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Dr. Daniel H. Arthur, Superintendent of the Gowanda State Hospital, was suspended to-day by the Board of Managers of the institution. The vote for suspension was 4 to 3. Dr. Arthur was on trial on charges alleging intoxication and failure to keep a promise to the board involving sobriety. At a recent hearing held here by John H. Delaney, Commissioner of Efficiency and Economy, the removal of Dr. Arthur was recommended to Gov. Glynn.

Loeser's
Good Morning!

Men's News first this morning.

It can be told in a very few words—but this is a case where few words convey a large idea.

The idea of getting the best sort of winter clothing for about half its regular prices, and in some instances less than half.

It is clearance time—

Time to make our tables ready for the attire for spring.

For this reason all remaining winter Fancy Suits and Overcoats for Men and Young Men are reduced.

This is the story the prices tell:—

Suits that were originally $15 to $30, now $9.50 and $12.50. Winter Overcoats that were originally $15 to $35, now $10.50, $14.50 and $18.50.

At former prices Loeser clothing represented the best value obtainable anywhere.

Fine Colonial Bedroom Furniture.

Colonial Bedroom Furniture at exceptional economies is a feature of the February Furniture Sale to-day.

This is rich mahogany Furniture with all the touches of finish and good workmanship well-made Furniture should have.

The dust-proof partitions in the drawers and the finish in the hidden parts of each piece tell the story of real quality.

The reductions are about a third less than regular prices.

Such economies indicate some of the splendid things this store is doing for Brooklyn homes during this busy month

Our Last Word on Furs.

The end of our Fur-selling season is in sight so far as the big things go. While there is plenty of Fur weather ahead, the time has come for us to make our final adjustments of stocks.

So we mark choice Furs at very much less than they are really worth. They are fashionably made Furs of good skins and are calculated to give satisfactory wear.

There are many kinds of skins and many kinds of apparel—Coats, Scarfs and Muffs.

For instance, there are Pony Skin Coats with Civet collars for $25 instead of $40, and all down the list prices are from a third to a half less than the real value.

Printed Rice Voiles 29c. a Yard

Very sheer fabrics in a marquisette mesh, dotted here and there with tiny rice-like flakes.

Over this mesh are printed tiny Jouy figures, clustered roses, pink and maize, blue and maize and lavender and maize, and of maize with a slight mixture of lavender or blue.

These will be used for dresses or in combination with plain material, in tune with French designs that are just arriving. Full 40 inches wide and a record value at 29c. Indeed, this fabric and in these patternings will only be found elsewhere at a greater price.

Second Floor, Elm Place.

Fashionable Neckwear

Many of these pieces have been reproduced for us from high-priced models, in materials that would preserve all of their fashionableness, yet that enable us to place very low prices upon them.

Sleeveless, Open Front Guimpes, 49c. Up. Of fine net, of net and lace, some of all lace, some frill trimmed, some with new collars. A wide range from 49c. to several dollars.

New Plaitings, 25c. Up. Narrow laces plaited in various ways, fine nets, plain and lace edged, chiffon and other suitable materials, all correct widths.

Minaret Plaitings, 49c. Up. In the correct widths to produce the new tunics. Made of net, of lace and of chiffon, white or colored. Excellent value, 49c. up.

TUGS RAISE ICE BLOCKADE.

Coal and Raw Sugar Have Open Channel to Yonkers Now.

The ice-bound channel of the Hudson River between New York and Yonkers was cleared yesterday by two powerful tugs, aided by the rise in temperature. The tugs were sent out by the Federal Sugar Refining Company, after the Revenue Service had reported that the cutters were unable to smash through the ice floes. The two tugs plowed through the ice until they made a path by which waiting ships, loaded with coal and raw sugar, could reach the company's docks at Yonkers. The tugs ran up and down the river to keep the broken ice in motion, and if the weather does not turn cold again the company expects to have no further trouble.

It was reported that dynamite would be used to break up the ice jam, but Capt. Wild of the Revenue Service said that no attempt to use dynamite would be made.

Mayor Lennon of Yonkers also hired a tug to break up the ice in the river at Yonkers when a coal famine threatened the city.

MAIN STREETS NOW CLEARED OF SNOW

Fetherston Will Turn His Large Force To-day to Other Thoroughfares.

PARK DEPARTMENT HELPS

Mayor of Yonkers Fears a Coal Famine, with Navigation Cut Off Above 160th Street.

The Street Cleaning Department made good headway yesterday in ridding the city of the fifteen inches of snow left by the two big snowstorms. Last night Broadway was practically cleaned up from Bowling Green to 100th Street; Fifth Avenue as far north as Fifty-ninth Street was again in good shape; the Bowery looked like its old self; the snow was gone from the shopping district in Sixth Avenue, and the principal cross-town streets, from the Battery north, showed the result of the efforts of Street Cleaning Commissioner Fetherston and his aids to restore normal traffic conditions in the city.

"We received welcome aid," said Commissioner Fetherston yesterday afternoon, "from the Park Department to-day when Park Commissioner Cabot put his force of men at our disposal as well as giving us the use of his seventy-five carts. The work yesterday was marked by fine progress, and the same sort of good work is being repeated to-day. The main thoroughfares will be in good shape by to-night, and we will then have a chance to tackle the less important streets.

Mayor Mitchel was asked yesterday why more men had not been put to work piling the snow, and he replied that the trouble was not in a shortage of men, but in a shortage of trucks to cart the snow away.

"If the contract with the snow contractors did not stand in the way," said Mayor Mitchel, "we could use more men to pile the snow, but the contract provides that the men can only pile one block ahead of the wagons, so that if the city hires men to pile snow ahead of the block stated in the contract the city would be doing the contractor's work and paying him for it also. As I stated yesterday, the snow removal contract can be improved upon."

"But in an emergency can't the city hire the men to pile the snow regardless of the contract?"

"I do not think that the emergency is as great as that. If I did think so I should direct the Commissioner to hire me nto pile the snow," replied Mayor Mitchel.

A drizzling rain began to fall in New York early last night. The temperature bega nto rise early yesterday morning, and the thaw that set in made it considerably easier to remove the drifts of snow.

The weather forecaster predicted last night tha more snow would fall to-day, with fair weather following it tomorrow.

The ice situation in the Hudson River is rapidly assuming serious proportions, and yeterday navigation north of 160th Street was practically impossible because of the ice jam that blocked the river from shore to shore north of that point. In Yonkers the situation is such that Mayor Lennon of that city said yesterday that unless the ice was dislodged and navigation soon resumed that city would be face to face with a coal famine as a result of the inability of coal barges to get through.

Conditions in the Hudson from 130th Street north are the worst in years. The ice is piled high from shore to shore. In some places the great chunks are piled on top of each other until they formed fantastic pyramids and towers thirty feet above the surface of the river.

The Fort Lee Ferry from 129th Street, Manhattan, to Fort Lee, N. J., was still yesterday in operation, but the schedules were badly disarranged owing to the difficulty the pilots had in steering the boats through the ice field. Several tugs that ventured into the pack had a hard time getting back into safer waters to the south of 130th Street.

RELATIONSHIP TANGLED.

Luce by Marriage Becomes His Own Brother-in-Law.

ORIENT, L. I., Feb. 18.—Alfred Luce of Orient is his father's son-in-law, and Alfred's bride, who was Miss Ida Glover, of the same place, is her mother's daughter-in-law. Besides that, the bridegroom is his wife's stepbrother and she is his stepsister, and he is his own brother-in-law, and she her own sister-in-law.

This all came about because Luce and Miss Glover were married shortly after the bridegroom's father, A. H. Luce, a widower, married the bride's mother, a widow.

Mr. and Mrs. Luce returned from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., last Saturday, just in time to attend the marriage of their children to each other. The second wedding was kept a secret for a few days, not being announced until to-day.

PAGEANT MAKERS TO MEET.

Conference of Authors, Composers, and Artist Here on Saturday.

Pageant makers, who include playwrights, composers, authors, painters, and other artists from all parts of the country, will assemble here on Saturday under the auspices of the American Pageant Association for a conference of three days in connection with the meeting of the Columbia University Institute of Arts, in Havemeyer Hall, at the University.

In addition to the regular sessions on Saturday and Monday in Havemeyer Hall the members and guests will have a dinner in the National Arts Club on Saturday evening, a Sunday afternoon session in the Church of the Messiah, Park Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street, and on Monday evening they will hold a joint session with the MacDowell Club, by invitation of the President of the club, Frederick A. Stokes. Percy MacKaye and Ernest Harold Baynes have invited the members of the association to attend the Bird conservation conference on Tuesday at the Hotel Astor.

At the time of the conference an exhibit of pageant material is to be given in the Avery Library at Columbia University. This will present to public view for the first time, it is said, an important collection of pageant books, posters, folders, and models. Among the models will be the working model for the pageant and masque at St. Louis next May, of which Percy MacKaye and Thomas Wood Stevens are the directors. The stage model of the recent Irish pageant here, of which Mrs. Anne Throop Craig was the author, and John P. Campbell the designer, will also be shown, together with the symbolic model of the Grace Chapel masque presented here on Christmas by William Chauncy Langdon, the author.

Some of the speakers announced for the conference are John W. Alexander, Percy MacKaye, Prof. George F. Baker of Harvard University, Thomas W. Stevens of the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh, Dr. George F. Kunz, Chairman of the Fourth of July Committee of New York; William Chauncy Langdon, formerly of the Russell Sage Foundation; the Rev. Frederick Edwards, vicar of Grace Church; the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Arthur Farwell, Miss Mary Porter Beegle, director of physical training at Barnard and of the Summer festival school at Dartmouth College; Mrs. Florence Fleming Noyes, John Collier, Ellis P. Oberholtzer, William E. Bohm, and John P. Campbell.

At the Sunday afternoon meeting in the Church of the Messiah, T. T. Noble, organist of St. Thomas's Church, will play the "Triumph" music from the Pageant at York, England, which he composed. Clifford Demarest will follow with the music of the interlude "Principle" from the pageant at Darien, Conn.

MACY ASSOCIATION'S DANCE.

More Than 8,000 Persons Help to Make It Enjoyable.

More than 8,000 persons attended the twenty-sixth annual entertainment and reception of the Macy Mutual Aid Association of R. H. Macy & Co. at the Grand Central Palace last night. There was a vaudeville show by actors and actresses from the Hammerstein, Keith and Proctor theatres, and there were numerous intermissions for dancing. The music for the dances was furnished by Van Baar's orchestra of 40 pieces. The programme called for twenty-four dances.

The proceeds of the entertainment, amounting to more than $4,000, will be devoted to the payment of sick and death benefits to members of the association or their dependents. The association is composed of employes of Macy's and has no connection with the business establishment itself. These honorary members of the association occupied boxes last night: Mr. and Mrs. Jesse I. Straus and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Straus and family, Mr. and Mrs. Percy S. Straus and family, Nathan Straus Jr., Charles B. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond B. Wise, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kohns, and Sylvester Byrnes, General manager of R. H. Macy & Co.

SNOWDRIFTS SAVE THREE.

Women Jump from Window at Fire—Man Falls Five Stories.

A deep snowdrift in the rear yard of 121 Smith Street, Brooklyn, saved two women from injury when they jumped from the second-story window to escape a fire in the building early yesterday morning. They are Eleanor Moynera and Josephine Tremp, two domestics employed in the family of Mrs. Theodore Katz, who conducts a bakery on the ground floor. Mrs. Katz and her two children were saved by policemen.

Henry Hastings, 39 years old, of 332 East Fortieth Street, went up on the roof yesterday afternoon to sweep off the snow. He slipped near the edge of the roof and fell over. He landed five stories below in the back yard in a pile of snow. He is now in Bellevue Hospital with a dislocated shoulder.

Young Italian Then Turns Gun on Himself in Crowded Clothing Factory.

WILD RUSH FOR THE EXITS

And Police Reserves Are Called Out to Restore Order—Both the Injured May Recover.

About a year ago Mary Cheverino, 17 years old, entered the employ of the Rosenthal Clothing Company, manufacturers of cloaks and suits on the northeast corner of Broadway and Prince Street. Her earnings were needed to help support her father, mother and four younger children with whom she lived at 27 Stanton Street. Mary got a seat at one of the tables in the big loft room next to Tony Cannerelli, who had been with the Rosenthal Company for about three years.

It was not long before Tony became infatuated with Mary and she showed a slight partiality to Tony because of his good clothes and nimble tongue. For some time Tony confined his attentions to Mary to the workshop, but a month ago he began to call on her at her home. Mary's father took occasion to look up Tony's character and was not at all pleased with the results of his investigation. He learned that Tony had spent one term in Elmira for burglary and had been arrested three years ago for horse stealing but was discharged.

As a result of his discoveries, Mary's father commanded her to have nothing further to do with Tony, who had asked her to marry him several times. Mary's sense of duty was stronger than her affection for Tony and she obeyed. On Tuesday night Tony called at her home and was ordered away. Yesterday morning, shortly before the day's work began, Tony waited for Mary in the hall of the building and again begged her to marry him. Mary replied that it was impossible and asked him to cease his attentions.

They entered the elevater together and rode to the eighth floor, where seventy-five girls and 150 men had already gathered for work. After hanging up her coat in the cloak room, Mary took her accustomed place at the end of the long table which accommodates twelve workers. A little later Tony came in and took his seat, which was about five feet away from Mary's. Just as the first bell rang at five minutes to 8 o'clock yesterday morning, Tony turned to Mary and said in Italian, "For the last time, will you marry me?"

"Never," was Mary's reply, also in Italian.

Tony is left-handed. He thrust that hand into his pocket and pulled out an automatic revolver, which he aimed at Mary and fired. The bullet struck her in the right arm, and screaming with fright and pain, she jumped to her feet. As she did so Tony fired a second time, this shot taking effect in the girl's chest. She sank to the floor. The man stood for a few seconds looking at her and then placed the muzzle of the revolver behind his left ear and pulled the trigger.

The two shots and Mary's cries created a panic in the room. The girl employes rushed to the exits, followed by the men. Just as the first of the crowd started down the stairs, H. G. Weltman, Secretary of the company, stepped out of the elevator, near the entrance to which is th ebell that rings the alarm of fire. Weltman pressed this button three times. The employes have been accustomed to form in a line at this signal and habit prevailed over their fright. They were soon quieted by the Secretary and sent into another room.

Meanwhile, Samuel Satenstein, the foreman of the shop, had telephoned to Police Headquarters. Sergt. Patrict Cavanaugh, at the head of the reserves, hastened over to the scene of the shooting. Mary's parents were also notified, and when they arrived Mary's mother became hysterical, while her father had to be restrained from attacking the youth who had shot his daughter.

Sergt. Cavanaugh sent a hurry ambulance call to St. Vincent's Hospital, and also sent for a priest. As Dr. La Rotunda was placing Mary in a chair the Rev. Father Dominick Epifanio of St. Patrick's Cathedral, on Mott Street, arrived to administer the last rites. Tony was lying on the floor with his hands clasped behind his head looking at Mary, who had turned her back to him. As the priest bent over him Tony unclasped his hands and stretched them toward Mary. Father Epifanio understood the gesture and walked over to Mary.

"He is dying," said the priest. "Will you forgive him?"

"Yes," said Mary, slowly, "I—I forgive him."

Mary and Tony were placed in the ambulance and taken to the hospital. It was said last night that while each was in a very serious condition, there was a slight possibility of their recovery.

Tony has been known as "Gimp" because of a limp in his walk, due to an injury to his right leg when a boy. He was placed under arrest at the hospital on a charge of attempted homicide.

CHANGA TRIES TO 'PHONE.

But Being a Peruvian Monkey, He Only Causes Confusion.

His name is Changa, but for short his owner calls him Bill. Down where Changa came from they would probably lengthen his name as a diminutive, and end it in "ito." But over at the Waldorf, where Changa occupies the bathroom of Suite 325, Bill goes.

This is by way of explaining the mysterious ringing of a telephone bell from that room yesterday, and the puzzlement of a bellboy who was sent up to investigate when the usual efforts of the telephone operator to communicate with the person who seemed to want a number, and who had read that French story about a murder by telephone—as she explains it—began to fancy something of the sort had happened upstairs.

When the operator had repeated "Hello!" in a tone that was first of inquiry, then of latent hostility, then of real anger, and then of bewilderment, she reported the matter to the office. There it was known that Capt. J. Campbell Besley, who had come from the Peruvian and Brazilians jungles the day before, was the occupant of the room, and the boy who was sent to the third floor was told to be very polite, but to ask what was really wanted.

No answer came to his knock. He summoned the chambermaid, who opened the door. Nobody appeared to be in the room. As the investigating committee was about to close the door a tinkle came from the telephone, and in the dark corner where it was they were startled to see a tiny black shape shinning down the green cord leading to the battery. It was Changa. Who is Changa? A tiny brown monkey that Capt. Besley brought all the way from Peru, much of the way on his coat sleeve.

Capt. Besley tells of entertaining the mother of Changa at dinner one night—served hot—and how that night a shivering, hairy little object crept beneath his blanket, and attached itself to him. The little thing clung to him the next day so much that he could not bear to leave it behind, and so he gave it a name and added it to his expedition. When he arrived at the Waldorf on Tuesday the monkey was on his overcoat sleeve, and it immediately became the centre of attention in the lobby. It showed its appreciation of its surroundings by hopping from one clerk to another, until it found the letter boxes and inspected them.

When seen after the telephone episode yesterday, Changa was carefully inspecting the toilet articles on the bureau. Capt. Besley explained that he tried to keep Changa in the bathroom, where an even temperature is preserved, but where there is nothing the monkey can climb upon, but sometimes the door is left open, and Changa comes out to investigate the jungle of chairs and bedposts and table legs. As the Captain spoke, a little jingle was heard at the telephone. One looked, and there was Changa, in his favorite occupation of trying to lift the receiver. He had climbed up the green cord.

Capt. Besley says some people call his pet a marmoset, but it is a real monkey. Its body is about six inches long. It is very affectionate, and Capt. Besley thinks its face is nearer human than many he has seen over starched shirts and surmounted by top hats.

GERMAN SHIP 'GERMAN SOIL'

Seaman Cannot Recover Damages in the Courts Here.

Gustav Oehler, a seaman in the employ of the Hamburg-American Line, fell between two decks when his ship was three days out from this port and had a leg broken, a rib fractured, and a hip dislocated. He began suit against the company in the Supreme Court here, but the company's lawyers protested, and said that the suit should have been begun in Germany, where there is a court for the settlement of such claims. It was also contended that the decks of a German ship were "German soil," and that the American courts had no jurisdiction.

An agreement was entered into between the lawyers to have the case decided here, with the stipulation that if the decision was in favor of Oehler he should receive $3,000. Yesterday Justice Cohalan decided against Oehler. He said that the accident should be treated as if it had occurerd in Germany.

"The progressive workmen's compensation law, recently passed by the Legislature," said the Justice, "recognizes that employes on foreign vessels, even when in our territorial waters, are not to be subjected to the operation of the law."

$3,000 COAT RECOVERED.

Man Who Stole It from Miss Kelly Pawned It in Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—A mink fur coat worth $3,000, the property of Miss Jeannette W. Kelly, daughter of William J. Kelly, a wealthy New York business man, was recovered for the owner to-day on a writ of replevin. It was in the possession of a pawnbroker. It was placed in cold storage after its recovery, and unless the pawnbroker files a property bond for its return in seventy-two hours it will be sent to Miss Kelly. The coat had been left with the pawnbroker as a pledge for a $200 loan.

Last New Year's Eve Miss Kelly went with her brother and two other companions to a New York restaurant. The members of the party checked their coats, and at the end of the evening it was found that Miss Kelly's had disappeared.

It was found here on Jan. 26. Lawrence Buckley was arrested in New York, and is in the Tombs awaiting trial for the theft.

THREE OTHER STATES VOTE

Presbyterian Church Has 250 Ministers in the West with "Movies" and "Dry" Literature.

Prof. Charles Scanlon of Pittsburgh, General Secretary of the Board of Temperance of the Presbyterian Church, and one of the leading men in the temperance movement, told yesterday at the Savoy of the big meeting of the Temperance Commission, representing thirty church denominations, which is to be held in Philadelphia to-day, and sketched the campaign which the Presbyterian Board is launching in four of the Western States with a view to put them in the State-wide prohibition column at the next election. Prof. Scanlon was a delegate for the United States to the last three biennial International Congresses against Alcoholism.

"The various denominations which will be represented by the commission which meets in Philadelphia number 16,000,000 members," said Prof. Scanlon. "On Nov. 3, four States, California, Colorado, Washington, and Oregon will vote on the subject of State-wide prohibition, and we expect to line up all the churches represented for an active campaign in those States.

"The Presbyterian Church is getting 250 ministers and laymen to do temperance work in those States during the next few months, the Temperance Board paying their expenses. We are sending out 100 men to work in California, and to Colorado, Oregon, and Washington, fifty each. The work has begun in California now. These men will lecture and distribute literature. In that State already a 'Dry Federation' has been formed. The State will be divided into large districts, and in that comprising San Francisco and sixteen counties around the bay, we are putting one of the associate secretaries of the Board of Temperance to organize the work. We are using stereopticon views and purpose putting in moving picture films illustrating the scientific, economic and political side of temperance, with a little ginger thrown in now and then.

"The temperance movement is on the rising tide everywhere. In the international congresses I have attended, thirty-two countries were represented by some of their cabinet officers, members of parliaments and professors, with the medical profession predominating."

"Do you believe State-wide prohibition is a solution of the drinking problem?" Prof. Scanlon was asked.

"Legal prohibition and education constitute the best method," he replied. "With West Virginia, which becomes dry next July, there will be nine prohibition States, and the new law of West Virginia will be very drastic. It will require all public carriers to keep what they call a 'booze book,' and whoever receives liquor must call for it in person, and sign his name in the book, which is open to the public. In the States that have adopted prohibition, there are about 15,000,000 people, and all these forces are working for a constitutional amndment in the shape of a national prohibition law.

"The efforts of temperance advocates for twenty years have been largely political, but the educational feature of the question is now being given much more emphasis. However, there is no abatement of the other features. Signing the pledge is going on with increased vigor. It is true people sometimes forget pledges, but when they sign the second time they are apt to remember."

Millions from Chicago Income Tax.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Seven million dollars will be paid the United States Government this year in the northern district of Illinois under the new income tax law, according to Collector of Internal Revenue Fitch, who estimates that more than 15,000 corporations will file schedules. More than $1,000,000 revenue will be received from corporations in excess of the amount received last year, he believes. The total from corporations will be about $4,000,000, it is estimated, and the total amount from individuals, to the number of about 14,000, will be about $3,000,000.

SMOKERS OF AMERICA SPEND MORE MONEY FOR FATIMAS THAN FOR ANY OTHER CIGARETTE

Now, in this country, where there are so many different brands of cigarettes, it is indeed a remarkable achievement to reach such a popularity. "Who's who" in America are evidently smoking Fatimas, and smoking them because they like them best! This paying fancy prices for fancy looking packages of cigarettes is not so popular as buying the plain looking Fatima package and getting 20 uncommonly good cigarettes at a moderate price!

Again, Fatima is the one happy blend of tobacco that has caught the popular taste—you might try to make another blend that would do this and keep trying and not get it. With all the knowledge possible about tobacco there still remains that unknown quantity, the public taste. The public are not fickle, they know when they are pleased, and they show it instinctively, whether it be music, art, tobacco or anything else that concerns the whole people!

Therefore, when smokers pay more money for Fatimas than for any other cigarette in this country, it shows positively that there can be no mistake in the merit of this popular smoke.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN TRADE BOARD BILL

Eliminates Imperfections, Contradictions, and Doubtful Validity of Original Measure.

WILSON'S VIEW PREVAILS

Sub-Committee Studies Court Decisions to Make Commission's Powers Constitutional.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The first tentative draft of the new Interstate Trade Commission bill has been completed, and was handed to-day in confidence to the members of the sub-committee delegated by the House Interstate Commerce Committee to draft a substitute for the Clayton measure.

The text of the new bill has been withheld by Chairman Covington because there are still some important points of law to be settled before the bill will be presented to the full committee. These points regarding the measure's scope and character were learned to-night:

First—It will adhere strictly to the recommendations respecting the creation of a trade commission contained in President Wilson's recent trust message to Congress.

Second—It will eliminate the imperfections, contradictions, and matters of doubtful constitutionality embraced in the so-called Clayton bill.

Third—It will provide for a commission of five members, taking the place of the Bureau of Corporations.

Fourth—This commission will exercise all the powers and perform all the functions heretofore imposed on the Bureau of Corporations.

Fifth—It will require interstate corporations doing an annual business of $3,000,000 gross or more to furnish to the commission reports, statements, and records of organization.

Sixth—It will not require smaller corporations, doing less than $3,000,000 gross business annually, to furnish such information or file such reports except where there is specific complaint that the smaller corporation has violated the anti-trust or interstate commerce laws.

Seventh—The proposed commission will aid the Department of Justice in investigating questions referred to the commission in connection with any pending suit under the anti-trust laws, but it is understood the commission will not have the broad powers of search and seizure that was proposed to be conferred on it by the Clayton bill.

Eighth—The commission will be allowed to provide for publicity along certain specific lines without disclosing trade processes, names of customers, or trade secrets, and the bill will be so framed that the President will have to be consulted before certain kinds of corporate information is made public.

Two additional members of the Interstate Commerce Committee were added to-day to the sub-commitee in charge of framing the modified Trade Commission bill. They were Representatives Knowland, Republican, of California, and Montague, Democrat, of Virginia. The other members of the committee are Representatives Covington of Maryland, Chairman; Sims of Tennessee, Talcott of New York, and Rayburn of Texas, Democrats, and Representatives Stevens of Minnesota and Esch of Wisconsin, Republicans.

It was learned to-night that the sub-committee had encountered considerable difficulty in trying to frame that portion of the bill requiring the corporations to make reports on demand of the commission, so as to be sure that it would stand the test of the Supreme Court. The sub-committee is now scanning certain Supreme Court decisions in an effort to accomplish this purpose. The sub-committee has agreed tentatively that the commission shall have power to call for reports from all corporations engaged in interstate commerce, but the section granting this power will be so framed as to limit it to obtaining them from corporations doing a gross annual business of $3,000,000 or more, except where there is specific complaint of violations of anti-trust or interstate commerce laws.

The plan of the committee is to clothe the commission with power to require such reports from the corporations of $3,000,000 gross business or over, regardless of whether such corporations as charged with violation of the law.

The original Clayton bill proposed to require all corporations to furnish the commission with information, and to clothe the commission with unlimited power of search through all their records. Serious objections have been raised against this right of seizure and search on constitutional grounds, and the sub-committee has been greatly impressed by the argument that this would violate the fourth amendment of the Federal Constitution.

Wilson and McReynolds Confer.

President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds spent two hours to-night at the White House examining in detail the various bills pending before Congress dealing with the trust problem. It was the first opportunity the President had for a lengthy discussion of the subject with Mr. McReynolds.

The Attorney General later expressed the opinion that the whole question would have to be worked out gradually, but an idea of the principles which the Administration desired embodied in the proposed legislation was gained from an authoritative quarter.

Some of the proposals in the tentative measures on which hearings are being held will be entirely revamped and others will be dropped, so as to make the legal machinery, carrying out the proposed reforms, as simple as possible.

The Attorney General and the President are in agreement that the proposed Interstate Trade Commission can be made a valuable instrument for dealing with the trust problem provided its powers are properly restricted.

Both the President and Mr. McReynolds realize that there are a multitude of decisions already on the Sherman law, and they desire not to add in any way to judicial complications over that statute. They agreed that it might take years to interpret some of the features in pending bils, and that the effect might be to restrict the Sherman law. This is one of the problems of detailed phraseology which the Attorney General and his advisers are going to work out. Some of the proposed specific additions to the law relating to price-fixing may be dropped entirely, and prevention of evils arising in this connection left to the Department of Justice for prosecution as at present.

MAIL WAGON DRIVER FINED.

Singer Refused to Obey Bluecoat's Order—Drove on Wrong Side.

Drivers of mail wagons who act on the theory that they may laugh at the orders of the traffic police, received a surprise yesterday when Magistrate Marsh in the Tombs Court fined Martin Singer, a mail driver. Singer blocked traffic at Broadway and Broome Street Tuesday afternoon by driving on the wrong side of the street, after Traffic Patrolman Edward J. Donohue had ordered him to halt. Donohue ran after the mail wagon, and was ordered off it by Singer and his companion, a postman. He then served a summons on Singer.

Magistrate Marsh decided that simply because a wagon was carrying mails, its driver could not act in such a way as to block other traffic without being guilty of disorderly conduct. He fined Singer $2 on this theory. Singer pleaded so piteously that his family needed all the wages he received that Magistrate Marsh remitted the fine. Singer said the postman had charge of the vehicle and had ordered him to disobey the traffic policeman's instructions.

USED DEPOSITORS' MONEY.

Meng Tells How He Bought Justice Bischoff's Bank.

Further details of the transfer of the banking house of Henry Bischoff & Co. from the late Justice Henry Bischoff to James S. Meng and William T. Becker were brought out yesterday at the hearing in bankruptcy before United States Commissioner Gilchrist. Mr. Meng testified that of the $60,000 to be paid for the concern $30,000 was taken from the depositors' money, while the other $30,000 was raised on four notes for $7,500 each, which were indorsed by the Justice and were discounted by Andrew Freedman. These notes were negotiated, Mr. Meng said, in 1911.

In the following January the Bischoff Banking House, Incorporated, was formed. This was merely the carrying out of a plan long under consideration on account of legislation hostile to private banks. The new firm, said the witness, took over from Henry Bischoff & Co. business worth from $16,000 to $18,000 a year, consisting of foreign exchange, discounting, foreign drafts, and so on.

Mr. Meng is one of the trustees of the late Justice's estate. It consisted, he said, largely of securities, the value of which he was not yet prepared to estimate.

"Did Justice Bischoff know," asked Mr. Ernst, counsel for the creditors, "that you went on using stationery and bankbooks which represented that he was still a member of the firm?"

"He did," Mr. Meng replied, and then went on to say that every day the Justice would drop into the bank up to the time of his fatal fall in the Emigrant Bank Building. "These visits were only of a social nature," he asserted.

In explanation of the losses of Henry Bischoff & Co., Mr. Meng said that their troubles were due to the fact that Mr. Becker and he entered on a business of which they knew absolutely nothing. It was actually managed by a certain Mr. Post, who was formerly a banker. He came with them on the understanding that they would stand the expense and that he would get 50 per cent. of the profits. He also had the privilege of drawing on account of his commissions. Mr. Meng said Post owed them $18,000 or $20,000.

The hearing will be resumed in a few days.

SUIT AGAINST MAX PAM.

Title Guarantee & Trust Co. Asks $99,828.15 on Two Notes.

Max Pam, the corporation lawyer of Chicago, was sued yesterday in the Supreme Court by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company of this city for $99,828.15, said to be due on two notes given by Mr. Pam to the Thompson-Starrett Company on Nov. 1, 1912. Mr. Pam is the senior member of the law firm of Pam & Hurd of Chicago. Louis J. Horowitz, President of the Thompson-Starrett Company, made an affidavit in the proceeding, saying that since 1908 he has been directing the erection and construction of buildings in which Mr. Pam has been interested. The notes in the suit were given by Mr. Pam, it was said last night, in the matter of office buildings now being erected in Chicago.

The complaint says that the notes were discounted for the Thompson-Starrett Company on Dec. 7, 1912, and that they were to be paid in one year.

Mr. Pam is known to "big business" all over the United States and in many foreign countries. He was one of the lawyers who had charge of the legal part of the consolidation and organization of the United States Steel Corporation. He is counsel for many big corporations.

First Cabin Passenger Excluded Must Meet Misappropriation Charge

Johann Coolen, a first cabin passenger of the Red Star liner Lapland, which arrived from Antwerp yesterday, was taken to Ellis Island by an Immigration Inspector at the request of the Dutch Consul in this city. Coolen, who is about 45 years old, seemed not to be disturbed when he was told that he would be detained. He had $1,000 in cash in his possession and a loaded revolver wrapped in a handkerchief.

After a hearing in the afternoon before the Board of Special Inquiry an order was made that he should be excluded from the country on the ground that he was accused by the Dutch Government of the misappropriation of a trust fund of $12,000.

E. H. Goodwin's Bachelor Dinner.

Elliot Hersey Goodwin, whose marriage to Miss Isabel M. Geer takes place to-day at 4 o'clock in St. Paul's Chapel, lower Broadway, gave a bachelor dinner last night at the University Club. His guests included his best man, John H. Thomas of Boston; his ushers, Major James A. Logan, Capt. Frank McCoy, Basil Miles, and Charles W. McCandless of Washington, and also his brothers-in-law, Dr. Robert B. Greenough, Reginald H. Johnson, and John Bertram Read.

Miss Geer's aunt, Mrs. Samuel H. Ordway, gave a tea yesterday afternoon for the bridal party and their near relatives only, at her residence, 123 East Seventy-first Street. There will be no reception after the wedding to-day.

PRODS NEW YORK ON PANAMA TRADE

Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston Says This City Should Take a Lead,

NOT WAIT FOR UNCLE SAM

Confers with Business Men Here on Plans to Develop Business with Latin America.

Ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, who retired from his second term as Chief Executive of Boston on Feb. 2, discussed with a number of business and financial men here yesterday ways and means to develop the South American trade of the United States in connection with the opening of the Panama Canal. He is Chairman of the Foreign Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Boston.

The ex-Mayor believes that the most essential step is the upbuilding of the American merchant marine. Great trade relations cannot be obtained nor long maintained, he contends, unless the trasportation links are allied closely with the United States commercial interests.

"Now that we have adjusted the tariff situation and settled the currency problem we should take up immediately the great question of meeting the new conditions of business in the southern republics, in Cuba, the Philippines, and other countries abroad," said Mr. Fitzgerald. "We have delayed far too long in giving these matters the practical consideration they deserve.

"We have been so contented with our prosperity and the wealth that has come from our internal development that we have ignored the large possibilities so near us to the south, possibilities that are bound to be potent factors in our future commercial development and have an effective bearing on our continued prosperity. This is in evidence now, when we see that our manufacturing interests can supply all domestic wants by operating on a schedule of two-thirds time and capacity. We must find markets for the other third, and for additional development.

"To accomplish this there should first be co-operation between States to encourage improvements in shipping and development of trade relations, and, second, with the aid of the Federal Government a plan should be worked out for organizing a national merchant marine. Important seaboard cities, like New York, may well take a lead in this without waiting for Government aid to develop their own natural resources for meeting competition in the foreign shipping trade.

"If a railway like the Pennsylvania can profitably afford to expend in improvements here $100,000,000, surely this great city, with so much more at stake in the way of future profit, may safely invest to meet natural development in the trade relations with the South American countries. The plan of the German cities of expending dollar for dollar with that appropriated by the general Government has worked to advantage to the whole nation."

Mr. Fitzgerald says one of the most important features of doing business with the Latin countries is in knowing the language. He suggests that Spanish be made a special course in the public schools, and that Chambers of Commerce and other commercial bodies cooperate in providing for such instruction for representatives of commercial houses desiring to establish permanent agencies in South American countries.

SIEGEL DEPOSITORS ACCEPT

150 Vote to Take 30 Per Cent. Cash and Balance in Five-Year Notes.

More than 150 of the 15,000 depositors of the failed private bank Henry Siegel & Co. held a meeting last night at the University Settlement, 184 Eldridge Street, and almost unanimously decided to accept from Henry Siegel and his partner, Frank E. Vogel, should they effect it, a cash payment of 30 per cent. of the depositors' claims with the 70 per cent. balance secured by notes maturing in five years.

The entire situation was discussed at length for the illumination of the depositors by members of the Advisory Committee headed by Jonah I. Goldstein, who also is legal representative for the University Settlement.

This morning at 10 o'clock Ex-Judge George C. Holt, sitting as special master, will hold a public hearing for the creditors and stockholders of the Simpson Crawford Company, the Fourteenth Street Store, and other enterprises of Henry Siegel, including the bank, at which reports of the receivers will be heard. The meeting will act on the continuance or discontinuance of the business, and bids will be received for the purchase of the assets.

DISCUSS SCHOOL PROBLEMS

Dr. Maxwell and Dr. MacCracken Talk to State Superintendents.

At the second day's session of the annual convention of the State Association of District Superintendents of Schools yesterday in the New York University Building at Washington Square, Dr. William H. Maxwell, City Superintendent of Schools, delivered an address in which he warned his hearers that the first and most important duty of a District Superintendent was to secure good teachers.

"You must be good judges of human nature, and at the same time not permit yourselves to be influenced in your selections or recommendations by any political or social organization," he said.

Dr. John H. MacCracken, Syndic of New York University, was also a speaker. He said in part:

"New York City has not been so successful in its school system that it can tell you with any assurance just how the problems in the smaller cities and the districts of the State should be solved. In fact, the City of New York has some country school districts of its own down in Richmond, out in Queens, and up in the Bronx, where many vexing questions remain to be successfully answered."

Continuing, the speaker said that in his opinion what was most required for the modern school was a realization of the fact that the time a child spends in school is not a preparation for life but is life itself, and that furthermore, it is unnecessary to teach each child the same things. He advocated a keener observation on the part of the teachers, so that each child should have a freer opportunity to follow its own natural bent under proper and wise guidance.

The next session of the convention will be held to-day, beginning at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

MAIL CARRIER ARRESTED.

Flashinck of Station J Caught by Decoy Letters.

Two decoy letters were mailed yesterday by Postal Inspectors Jacobs and James in a trap set for Samuel B. Flashinck, a mail carrier, of 20 East 117th Street, for five years attached to Station J, on West 125th Street. The letters failed to appear at Station J, and the Inspectors overtook Flashinck on his route and brought him into the station to be searched. He laughed good-naturedly when the search, to which he had cynically submitted, disclosed that the letters weren't on his person.

While he was in the station being searched, two other Inspectors were covering his trail from mail box to mail box. They came in with the two letters, which they had found crumpled up in the upper corners of mail boxes on Flashinck's route of collections. He had removed the letters and stuffed them into corners, so a following collector would not get them, with the plan of recovering his loot at leisure, the Inspectors said.

Detective Daly of the West 125th Street Station locked up Flashinck to await arraignment before a United States Commissioner to-day on the charge of delaying the mails. The Inspectors said there had been many complaints that matter mailed on Flashinck's route had been tampered with. They said the trick of leaving stolen lettess in other mail boxes, tucked up so that a collector following them would not get them without searching the whole interior of the box with his hand, was a new device of thieving postmen.

BURGLARS USE CHLOROFORM

Muslin Family Awakes in a Daze—Girl's Fingers Searched for Rings.

Burglars, who, it is believed, used chloroform, early on Tuesday morning entered the apartment of Morris Muslin of 952 Fox Street, the Bronx. Mrs. Muslin awoke at 7:30 o'clock in a semi-stupor to find a cold wind blowing through the apartment. The door, it was found, had been forced open with a jimmy.

Mrs. Muslin had to shake her husband, her twenty-year-old daughter Annie, and her niece, Lillian Siegel, before she could arouse them from their dazed slumbers. She remembered, she said, that in the night she thought she had felt a hand on her face, but as everything was quiet she paid no heed. She found that her pocketbook containing $4 was missing. Her husband's wallet containing $20 had been taken from beneath his pillow. Her daughter's purse containing $10 also had been stolen.

Miss Muslin said that in the night she was partially awakened and that she thought some one had taken her hand and was stroking each finger. She believed that one of the burglars searched her fingers for her rings. The members of the family had retired at 1 o'clock, after hiding their diamond jewelry of which they have a considerable amount.

Residents of the Bronx said yesterday that burglars were working nightly in that district, where only 81 detectives are assigned to safeguard 600,000 of population.

NEW LAWS TO HELP RADIUM PRODUCTION

Senator Walsh Promises Amendments to Open Lands Known to Bear Deposits.

PREDICTS A GREAT INDUSTRY

Engineers at Dinner Are Told That it Remains to Discover Uses for Waste Products.

The possibilities opened to the mining engineer through the discovery of radium and the manifold uses to which it may be put were the chief topics last night at the annual dinner of the American Institute of Mining Engineers at the Waldorf-Astoria. Senator Walsh of Montana, Chairman of the Committee on Mines, was one of the guests of honor who spoke on radium.

Introduced by the toastmaster, W. L. Saunders, President of the European Department of the International Harvester Company, as one of the few men in public life who take an active interest in mining, Senator Walsh said:

"The distinguishing characteristic of the present Administration is a striving for efficiency, and I have come here to gain knowledge in my special Senatorial department of mining. The modern mining engineer is the alchemist, and his greatest field will probably be in the extracting of radium from lands which are useless for other purposes."

Large radium fields would eventually be open, Senator Walsh said, as the present laws, which he described as obstacles in the way of all mining development, would be shortly amended.

"Deposits of radium-bearing ore are more common in the West than most people believe," he said. "They differ in richness of product and in the ease with which they may be reached, but the product is there and it remains only for science to discover new uses to which the waste in making radium may be placed.

"Everybody realizes that the present rating laws and those governing the properties opened to private purposes are in a state of utter confusion. The Government has placed obstacles in the way of this development, but we are now investigating in what manner these obstacles may be removed, and it will not be long before you engineers are turned loose on this richness of nature."

The promise of a change in the mining laws was received with enthusiasm.

Thomas B. Stearns, President of the Denver Chamber of Commerce, also spoke on the radium fields of the West. The two great questions confronting his State, Mr. Stearns said, were woman suffrage and how to extract radium from properties where it was known to exist. The first question, he said, had settled itself. Although there were, according to him, twice as many persons voting in Colorado as there ought to be, the result was the same as before the new order. Of radium Mr. Stearns said:

"I do not wish to belittle the medical use of radium but it is capable of other use little dreamt of. The greatest interest of course is in the treatment of cancer, and the greatest value will always be placed on the medicinal qualities of the radium rays. But the waste products in the making of radium will bear a great part in developing the lands of the country. Uranium will increase the productiveness of the land. From the waste of the manufacturing of radium a metal similar if not identical with lead may be obtained. The greatest fields for radium are in the West and the mining problems of the future will deal principally with the opening of these to the world."

Among the other speakers were Benjamin B. Thayer, President of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company and President of the American Institute of Mining Engineers for the coming year; ex-Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, Charles F. Rand, President of the Spanish American Mining Company; Dr. A. E. Barlow, President of the Canadian Mining Institute, and W. R. Raymond.

Those who attended the dinner held at the close of the Institute's meetings included Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Atwater, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ledoux, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Stearns, A. G. Atwater, A. E. Barlow, E. A. Beck, George D. Barron, H. B. Cox, W. L. Harper, D. M. Riordon, and W. A. Leonard.

OPIUM IN LAVERY'S COFFEE.

Tombs Doctor Says Drug Users Chew Now Instead of Smoking.

A new way of smuggling opium into the Tombs was discovered by Keeper Eugene McCormack yesterday. He had passed in the supper of John Lavery of 23 Macdougal Street, after examining all the food for traces of drugs. He then recalled the trusty who was about to deliver the supper to Lavery and fished in a can of coffee with his pocket knife. He brought up a three-ounce package covered with tin foil. This Dr. Litchenstein pronounced to be pure gum opium. Dr. Litchenstein said that many opium users now chew their opium to avoid the investigation which usually follows escape of the fumes in smoking. Gum opium is usually smoked.

Lavery, who is awaiting trial on the charge of selling opium, is confined on a tier occupied exclusively by drug users. His supper was brought last night by a well dressed young woman.

Commissioner of Correction Katharine B. Davis was in the prison making her weekly visit when McCormack made his discovery. She complimented him.

SIX HURT IN CRASH.

Third Avenue Elevated Train Bumps Into One Standing at Station

Despite the application of emergency brakes a northbound Third Avenue elevated train bumped into the train ahead of it at Pelham Avenue station yesterday afternoon. Pelham Avenue is just one station south of the end of the line and there were few passengers aboard either train. Though the shock was slight about a dozen persons were thrown to the floor.

Dr. Dolan of Fordham Hospital attended six who were injured. They were Eliza Levy, 67 years old, of 2,871 Webster Avenue, contusions of the knees and abrasions of the right hip; S. Holland of 636 East 230th Street, hip bruises; Michael Rodman of 11 West 124th Street, bruises of the head and arms; Anna Bowden of 1,627 Madison Avenue, bruises of the back; Neil Slevin of 648 West 225th Street, bruises, and James Mullen, a guard on the second train, bruises. J. H. Newton, motorman of the second train, said that the slippery condition of the rails prevented his stopping the train.

HUDSON Light Six Cabriolet, $1950 f. o. b. Detroit

HUDSON Convertible Roadster

You show good judgment in selecting this new-type Roadster.

No car is more comfortable or convenient than the Cabriolet, the latest improvement on the Roadster design.

The HUDSON Light Six Cabriolet is ideally arranged to furnish a closed or open car of the highest type. With top up it is perfectly storm-proof, absolutely protecting its occupants from snow, rain, wind or dust. In pleasant weather the top may be folded and the side windows dropped into recesses in the doors. It then has all the snappy style and attractive qualities of the open roadster.

A Most Useful Model

This Cabriolet—or Convertible Roadster—is a most useful model. Business men who like to drive their own cars find it ideal for going to and from business, and for quick trips through the day.

Ladies like it for shopping. It is delightfully designed for calling and for matinees. Very many women prefer it to the electric.

The motor is started by the pressure of a foot pedal. The car, like all HUDSON Sixes, is easier to handle than an electric. It is faster; its radius of travel is unlimited; it is powerful enough for any hill or any road conditions.

So flexible is the motor, that at every speed and on practically every type of road or hill, the car speed is controlled by the throttle. Shifting of gears is rarely necessary.

Built on the Hudson Six-40 Chassis

The Cabriolet is built on the standard HUDSON Light Six chassis. It is electrically started and lighted. Control is so simple that a young girl can handle the car with ease.

It is an economical car to operate and a very moderate-priced car to buy. It is little more than half the cost of an electric of less capacity and much less power and travel radius.

Call and see what a remarkable car this really is. You may drive it yourself and learn that we have been most modest in our statements of its numerous advantages.

WILLETT IN COURT AGAIN.

Cassidy Hears His Plea for a Certificate of Reasonable Doubt.

William Willett, convicted of having bought a nomination to the Supreme Court bench, was before Justice Blackmar in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday when an order requiring the District Attorney of Kings County to show cause why a certificate of reasonable doubt should not be issued in his case was argued. If granted the certificate of reasonable doubt will act as a stay of execution and make it possible for Willett to be released on bail pending his appeal to the higher courts.

As counsel for Willett Robert H. Elder said in his argument:

"I must object very seriously to the admission into the evidence of a newspaper editorial headed 'Tammany's Tainted Touch,' because the article was designated to influence the political prejudices of the jurors. We have in this Second District a more exalted idea of courts and judges than they have even over in the First District, and Your Honor can see how very damaging it was to put such an article as this before Kings County men. If the article went into evidence in violation of some established rule of law, it readily follows that the judgment should be reversed. The situation made it unnecessary, and the article threw no light at all on the controversy."

In closing Mr. Elder referred bitterly to the attitude of Justice Jaycox, who presided at the trial of Willett. While making this criticism he was interrupted by Justice Blackmar, who said:

"A Judge has a right to comment on the evidence and to tell the inferences that may be drawn, provided he clearly states that it is left to the jury to determine the fact."

Opposing the application District Attorney Cropsey reviewed the evidence at length. Both sides will submit briefs. Justice Blackmar may hand down his decision before the end of the week.

Joseph Cassidy, who was convicted of having sold the nomination to Willett, was an interested observer of the proceedings.

POINTS TO LUNACY PERIL.

Dr. Hillis Urges Passage of Laws to Regulate Marriage.

At a luncheon of the City Club, held yesterday afternoon at the Imperial, in Brooklyn, the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Church, drew attention to the alarming increase of insanity in this country and urged that marriage laws be enacted for the purpose of keeping the number of lunatics as low as possible.

Dr. Hillis pointed out that if the present growth of insanity and defectives continued for 400 years the number of insane persons would outnumber the sane.

"Every time you double the population of this country," he said, "the feeble-minded children are multiplied by four and the insane by three. Multiply that a few times and you will have more crazy people than sane."

Cannibals

And the newly discovered Inca Cities in the jungle wilds of Peru.

The Besley Expedition of London has just returned to New York with a most thrilling report of experiences and discoveries in the jungle wilds of Peru; a country never before visited by explorers. Capt. Besley's story reads like some of the earlier explorations of David Livingstone in Africa. He found wonderful palaces of the Incas and earlier civilizations with meeting rooms larger than the rooms of our biggest hotels; buildings more marvelous than anything in the civilized world; and battlements and fortifications which would require the best engineering talent even in this day. Capt. Besley will remain in New York only a few days. His story will have full page presentation in the Magazine Section of next Sunday's New York Times. Illustrated with photographs.

MURPHY

Charles Francis Murphy—Human Being.

It sounds like "John Halifax—Gentleman," but it's different. It isn't fiction. The story refers to the broad-shouldered, athletic, clean-shaven man who is the leader of Tammany Hall. It would spoil this story to tell any part of it in an advertisement. For the details the reader is referred to The New York Times for next Sunday.

IS THE ASSEMBLY IN EARNEST?

The Assembly's resolution to investigate the State departments is excellent. Its appointment as counsel for the investigating committee of Mr. JOHN KIRKLAND CLARK, District Attorney WHITMAN's chief assistant, meets the unqualified approval of the public. If it is to be a serious and non-partisan investigation it must be supported with cash.

JAMES W. OSBORNE, special investigator for Gov. GLYNN, has already spent $25,000, and his work has been chiefly the thrashing over of straw that has passed through Mr. WHITMAN's machine. The utility of the Assembly investigation is in the fact that it can enter departments not under the jurisdiction either of Mr. WHITMAN or the Governor—for example, the department of State Engineer and Surveyor, with its authority over the canal millions. Yet the appropriation of only $5,000 for what promises to be the most important inquiry since Gov. TILDEN's investigation of the Tweed Ring is all that has been mentioned for the work of this committee.

The initial appropriation for the Armstrong Committee that investigated the insurance scandals in 1905 was $50,000. Evidence has accumulated that scores of millions of dollars, spent and being spent, have been handled loosely by State officials for the enrichment of corrupt politicians and contractors. If the Assembly is in earnest in its desire to expose the guilty and to check the stealings and extravagance it will show its earnestness by devoting a sufficient sum to the purposes of its committee. The Senate can hardly refuse its assent, and Gov. GLYNN has already signified his willingness to sign the appropriation bill.

THE NEW POLITICS.

Addressing the Baltimore Traffic Club on Tuesday Judge PROUTY declared that Government ownership of railways would be a great political issue in the near future. The need of any more politics is not apparent, and the Judge's reasons are not convincing. He says that the question is urgent "because the railroads have not given satisfactory service." Yet they have given at least a fair approximation to as good service as could in human reason be expected. Their rates are the lowest in the world, and they pay the highest wages. American railways are not the best imaginable, nor above criticism, but they are the best men ever made.

The reason they are not better is given by Mr. PROUTY. "They cannot "give satisfactory service without the "necessary money." That would not be a hindrance to Government railways. The money would be voted, like the good roads money, by Congress. Everything else is mere detail. The money would move if the freight did not. The reasons why the service on the Government railways would be worse than under private ownership would be plentier than the reasons why the rates should not be raised now. The railways say that their service would be better if they were allowed to raise rates and get money for improvements. As Mr. PROUTY says that lack of money is the reason why the railway service is no better, and as regulation of the present sort is the reason why the money is not forthcoming, it would seem that there is an argument for making the failure of regulation responsible equally with the railways for their alleged shortcomings. If the regulation were better the railways would be better. But if the Government cannot improve the regulation, what hope can there be for the Government improving the railways?

Mr. PROUTY says that $400,000,000 is the reason why the people cannot afford privately managed railways. He arrives at that sum by taking $20,000,000,000 as the value on which the railways ought to earn a profit, and assuming a difference of 2 per cent between what the railroads would need and what the country would be willing to let them have. The suggestion ought to be dealt with in the manner of President RIPLEY when he demolished the similar suggestion of an Iowa Railway Commissioner, who could not get his figures right within hundreds of millions. The case is worse than the Iowa Commissioner's by as much as Mr. PROUTY's assumptions are more serious than the Iowa Commissioner's mistakes. The $400,000,000 saved by Government administration with the right hand would be squandered many times over by the Government's left hand in hiring more men than necessary, paying them more than necessary, and then giving just the service which might suit the officials. Selfishness privately owned and operated drives railways to as great efforts as human imperfections allow. Nothing moves Government affairs out of their grooves. The demand for more cars, or lower rates, or anything else in the control of Government railways would be considered in the same leisurely and arbitrary manner as the pending application for an increase of rates. Many other things must be considered first, the authorities declare, and there is no way of making them hurry or give the desired reply.

These are only technical reasons against Government ownership. The fundamental reason is one of principle. The promise of lower rates and better service is a form of bribery, and an appeal to motives which ought not to animate an electorate. The people ought not to be asked nor allowed to vote upon anything but matters of government and similar public affairs. But it is characteristic of the new politics that it turns upon private rather than public matters. Voters are asked to give themselves cheap food, or lower rents, or better railways, or compensation for employment, or countless other things. It is the business of each man to supply these for himself, and Government cannot supply them to all men equally, because men's wants are unequal. The question of prices is peculiarly baffling and intricate, and unsuitable for popular decision. The electorate would vote only one way on such matters, unless it is possible to conceive of a majority for lower wages, or higher rents, or worse railways.

Although it would be safe to assume a vote in favor of voters' selfish desires, it would not be possible to take anything for granted regarding the authority of such a vote. Voters might be trusted to vote for lower railway rates, but they could not be trusted to vote with any wisdom upon the question whether in fact Government railways would give them their desires. Voters could be trusted to vote for lower rents, but they could not be trusted to decide by their votes whether the single tax, or halving the tax on buildings, would lower rents.

These issues are not made by the people, but by the seducers of the people. The worst thing that can happen to the promising politicians is the loss of an election on one issue and the necessity of thinking up another. The worst that can happen to the people is the success of such politics.

THE MOTOR VEHICLE LAW.

We are glad that bodies like the City Club, the Citizens' Union, the Merchants' Association, the National Highways Protective Society, and the Automobile Club of America, representing the substantial interests of this city in motor vehicle traffic, are uniting to propose to the Legislature a sound amendment of the law. Everybody admits, we think, that the motor vehicle law is at present defective, that it fails to assure such competence and care in driving as are requisite for the public safety. Many changes are proposed. Some vital modifications of the law are needed.

It will be the task of these public-spirited bodies to decide what the modifications should be. The bill to be drafted with their joint approval will need no other recommendation to the Legislature.

A GOVERNMENT UNIVERSITY.

Prof. JOHN W. BURGESS, "viewing "the educational world from the impartial standpoint of professorial "retirement," gives, in the current number of The Educational Review, a very earnest argument against the creation of a Government university at Washington, for which a bill has been introduced in Congress. He objects strongly to the title of "National University," because we have already a half dozen universities that are truly national and of a high order of efficiency and general excellence. These Prof. BURGESS describes as "free," and the term is not ill-chosen as regards the relative freedom of institutions endowed by general munificence and those supported by taxes and subject to Governmental control.

An interesting feature of Prof. BURGESS's plea, the most interesting, perhaps, is his declaration that "we "already have too many universities "and too many students attending "them." This is a matter to which, as its readers know, THE TIMES has given some attention, and it is a matter that goes to the root of the subject of higher education in the republic. Prof. BURGESS's statement is so terse and comprehensive that we cite it:

> We are not suffering from lack of quantity, but far more from lack of quality, in university professors or university students. The whole world is sufficiently stocked with them, if not overstocked with them, such as they are. It now takes a very large part of the time and energy of those who are capable and valuable to correct the errors and the injuries committed and inflicted by those who are not. We ought not to multiply them if it did not cost us a cent. We ought not to create any more opportunities for attracting the natural hewers of wood and drawers of water into lines for which they are utterly without genius or aptitude, and at least one-half the students now attending our universities are of this class. Nor can it be said that we need a Government university to provide, at the cost of the taxpayers, the already overburdened taxpayers, opportunities for those who, on account of lack of means, cannot attend the already existing universities, since all these universities now offer more free tuition by way of scholarships and also additional stipends in the way of fellowships than can be taken up by properly qualified applicants. There is no man of talent, however poor in this world's goods, who may not now secure university education in our best universities.

We attach more importance to this argument, which seems to us conclusive, than to the objection founded on Governmental control, serious as we believe the latter to be. In the earlier stages of State universities there is a most unfortunate tendency toward subjection to political influence, but we think that it has been shown that in the long run the men of ability and character in the universities are capable of overcoming this and of exerting on the Government a really valuable pressure toward enlightenment. It is a costly process both in money and time, and, sometimes, in moral and intellectual energy as well. We incline to think that it would be worse at the national capital than in the capitals of the States, for responsibility could be fixed with greater difficulty. But back of this question lies the vitally important one of raising the standard of university life and action and concentrating the benefits of higher education upon the students that can make an adequate use of them for themselves and for the community.

"THE SYSTEM" AND THE COURTS.

We think that Mayor MITCHEL is pretty seriously in error in his estimate of the probable effect on the "system" in the Police Department of the abolition of the right of appeal to the courts. He is certainly in error as to the mischief alleged to have been done in the past by that right. The percentage of successful appeals is small; the relation of the successful appeals to the total number of the force is insignificant.

But if the right of appeal is taken away, if the absolute power of removal is placed in the hands of the Commissioner, subject to review by the Mayor, it is clear that the average policeman will be induced to bring all the influence he can command on these two officials, and that influence will necessarily be political, and will be sought primarily through the district leader and the men "higher up." So far from the concentration of power of removal being a restraint on politics, and on the kind of politics involved in the "system," it is likely to be a stimulus to such politics. The changes that Mayor MITCHEL proposes in the laws governing the police are radical. Their actual effect should very carefully be considered before they are enacted, or the Mayor and his model Commissioner will find their second state worse than their first.

MORE PARK POLICEMEN.

Park Commissioner WARD will have the hearty support of public opinion in his demand for an increase in the force of park policemen. He makes a statement that nobody can dispute when he says that a force of fifteen or eighteen men is altogether inadequate for the patrolling of Central Park. That is about what it comes to, for there are only sixty-six policemen assigned to Central Park, and the three platoon system allows but twenty-two to be on duty at one time, and sickness and other occasions of excuse from duty ordinarily reduce this number to less than twenty. It is amazing that the Central Park force should have been reduced to less than one-third the number of policemen assigned to that duty ten years ago. In 1904, Commissioner WARD says, there were 207 men on duty, against sixty-six at the present time.

The need of more efficient protection is made plain every day. It is reflected in the many letters and complaints received by the Commissioner from the people who use the park. Persons resorting to Central Park for pleasure and recreation are insulted by hoodlums, sometimes they are assaulted, young trees are broken down and old ones girdled, and shrubs and plants are destroyed. Bronze ornaments from statues and monuments in the park have been stolen. This is a form of depredation that has become notably prevalent of late. The carrying away of the eagles from the monument in Fort Greene Park in Brooklyn was an example, and there are frequent complaints of the stealing of bronze door knobs and railings from public and private property. This mean form of thievery can be carried on only when some junk dealer is an accomplice. A little more vigilance on the part of policemen and detectives outside the parks would act as a healthy deterrent.

But unquestionably the parks need more policemen. For the ordinary safeguarding of public order and the protection of park property one patrolman cannot satisfactorily cover the long "beat" assigned to him, a "beat" three or four times too long for one officer. It is senseless to spend the public money for park adornments and the creation of rural landscape effects for the public pleasure, and then expose all that has been done to the ravages of vandals. It is not exactly the right thing to invite the public to enjoy the parks and then leave them without proper protection from rowdies. Mr. WARD's demand should receive prompt attention at headquarters.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S SENSES.

The wide geographical sweep of Mr. KIPLING's imagination is typical of his nation. Only the son of a people whose dominion reaches the earth's uttermost parts would say, as he said to the British geographers, that the smell of a fried fish shop "can speak "multitudinously for all the East from "Cairo to Singapore."

To such the whiff of wood smoke may recall "wonderful mornings of "youth in brilliantly lighted lands, "where everything was possible and "generally done," and it stimulates the senses in anticipation of new things. Possibly, when aerial navigation has been perfected, we shall not hear the "lost ports of New York and "Bombay howling like Tarshish and "Tyre," but Mr. KIPLING's words mean that no change which the future has in store can dismay the steadfast British mind. He prophesies:

> There will arise—they are shaping themselves even now—risks to be met as cruel as any HUDSON or SCOTT faced; dreams, as world-wide as those COLUMBUS or CECIL RHODES dreamed, to be made good or to die for, and decisions to be taken as splendidly terrible as that which DRAKE clinched by Magellan, or OATES a little further south.

The new adventures will be in the atmosphere and the immaterial ether. Within a year another of that amazing people, and head of the most considerable body of scientists in the world, has spoken with KIPLING's "devoutly careless passion" of a new continent of the soul, on the uncertain quicksands of which a band of discoverers has already landed. We are in a new age of poetry and dreams, if not of coming realities.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

"Inaccuracy" Hardly the Word.

For anybody who has heard the unpublished, as well as read the published, stories about what happened in Manila Bay before the city of the same name was captured by the American Army, there is much of the surprising in the charge of inaccuracy brought by Count REVENTLOW against the account of those events given by Admiral DEWEY in his book of reminiscences.

Inaccurate in the sense of incomplete that account certainly is, for Admiral DEWEY has told in his book practically nothing that was not disclosed by the news dispatches of the time, and his evident purpose has been to minimize the importance of the trouble caused by the remarkable VON DIEDERICHS, to spare all tender sensibilities, and to avoid the scandalous and the sensational. As a matter of fact, his narrative is, as his conduct was, a very pretty illustration of the diplomatic skill which naval officers are expected to show, especially when they are acting far beyond the control of the Government they serve. His German critic would not be better pleased if the fault he finds in the reminiscences were removed.

Removed it is whenever our army and navy men who were in Manila in those exciting days recount, very distinctly not for publication, the acts by which the German Commander manifested his keen sympathy with the Spaniards and the means by which Admiral DEWEY at last convinced him that further interference with the blockade would have consequences at once immediate and serious. The message taken back to Admiral VON DIEDERICHS by that subordinate of his whom Admiral DEWEY pleasantly describes as "a capable, tactful young officer of the staff," contained, according to many authorities who can be trusted, a word no longer and much uglier than the one from the use of which the plainest speaking of our statesmen recoiled, even in the heat of dispute with an almost impiously audacious antagonist.

That is only one omission from the reminiscences, but Count REVENTLOW risks bringing to light everything that is missing by his rash charges. The simple truth is that the conduct of Admiral VON DIEDERICHS at Manila tried American patience to what would almost certainly have been the breaking point had our fleet been commanded by a man of less self-control, and friends of the German navy might well be content to let the matter rest where Admiral DEWEY left it.

Radium Now Better Understood.

Dr. ABBE, as the result of experiments conducted at his request by Dr. CARREL, has been enabled to announce the acquisition of much clearer, and, therefore, more valuable, knowledge of the various radium emanations. With true scientific frankness he admits that his previous assumptions as to which of the emanations it is that has the desired effect on the cells of malignant neoplasms were wrong. This, by the unthinking, will doubtless be taken as another illustration of the fallibility of science, but to make much or, indeed, anything of the confessed mistake will be absurd, for the object of science is not to hold positions once taken, but to abandon them as soon as others more advanced can be occupied.

It should be remembered that mistaken notions and unsound theories are often useful. The doctors used to tell us—as did common experience—to avoid night air, especially in the vicinity of swamps, if we would escape fevers. It was good advice, too, though we now know that night air is as safe, anywhere, as any other, if only we strain the mosquitos out of it. So victims of cancer were helped or cured while the supposition was that the "gamma" rays did the work.

What the increased knowledge will do, should it be confirmed, is to make the therapeutic application of radium more intelligent and less empiric. And that, of course, will tend, as always, to reduce the number of failures. Empiricism, however, is by no means to be despised. To it innumerable people have owed their lives, for once it constituted the whole of medicine, and is still the greater part of it. Only in comparatively few instances, outside of surgery, do we know why drugs have the effects they do have. But the instances are rapidly multiplying nowadays, thanks to just such investigations as that which Drs. ABBE and CARREL have been carrying on with respect to the radium rays.

It would be too much, of course, to expect the anti-vivisectionists to give attention or appreciation to this discovery, made in the institution upon which in their blind ignorance they are again heaping their abominable slanders. They will prefer to shriek their horror of "experiments on human beings," quite ignoring the obvious fact that every remedy, every operation, and every treatment have had a first trial, and that we are all incalculably indebted to just such experimentation.

Easy When You Know How.

One of our correspondents makes the ingenious suggestion that the snow problem in this and other cities would be solved if every householder got to work after each storm, took the snow in front of his property into the basement thereof, melted it there and let the resulting water run into his waste pipe.

This is a beautifully simple scheme, and the wonder is that nobody ever thought of it before. The inventor figures out that nobody would have to dispose of more than 150 cubic feet of snow, once it had been closely packed, and that amount, of course, could be put into a bin or tank less than six feet each way. Light a gas jet under it for a few minutes and—there you are!

New Yorkers must be willing to try almost anything that promises relief from such hardships and losses as they have suffered this week. Vague doubts as to the practicability of the plan proposed may arise in some minds. The bin described seems small, for instance, and the text books say disquieting things about the amount of heat required for turning snow to water, but who cares for destructive criticism at a time like this?

EMPLOYES' PENSIONS.

Guaranty Trust Company Has Adopted a Liberal Plan.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Guaranty Trust Company has always endeavored to pursue a liberal policy toward its employes, and in drafting its plan for pensions it was our idea to be as liberal as we could consistently be. These are its chief features:

> The pension fund is created by appropriations out of our profits.
>
> The administration of the system is in charge of a board of three, appointed by our Board of Directors.
>
> Pensions are computed at 2 per cent. of the average annual salary paid for the last three years of service multiplied by the number of years of service.
> No pension shall be greater than $5,000 a year or less than $300 per year.
>
> Any employe will be entitled to a pension upon reaching the age of 65 years, providing that he shall have been in our employ fifteen years prior thereto.
>
> Upon the decease of a pensioner his pension may be continued, in whole or in part, to his widow or dependents for such period as the board may decide.
> The Pension Board has power to grant a pension to any employe, irrespective of age or length of service, when directed to do so by our Board of Directors.

You will observe that there is no hard and fast rule governing the age or length of service, and, further, and most important, is the fact that no contribution is required on the part of our employes.

Generally such plans provide that two or three per cent. of the annual salaries be contributed by the employes.

It seems to us that our plan contains the true pension spirit.

URBAN HORSE A WEAKLING?

Easy Life Has Robbed Him of Courage and Endurance.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The horse in this city performs his daily task under ideal circumstances. For 95 per cent. of the year the climate favors him. He travels over perfectly smooth asphalt covered streets, without a pebble to deflect him from his course. The streets are watered in Summer to keep dust out of his nose and are policed throughout the year by emissaries from humane societies to see that he is not overloaded or abused. Hence the horse has legitimate temptation to become a mollycoddle.

Now, yesterday, by afternoon, the main thoroughfares on both sides of Park Avenue got pretty well trampled down; the snow offered little obstruction, and all kinds of horses pursued their way with their usual loads at their usual pace. But I noticed in twenty-three separate instances that when two vehicles met so that both had to deflect out of the beaten track for a little space into the deeper snow on the sides, so as to pass each other, the horses seemed to lose all ambition the instant they felt the slightly harder pull. Some balked; some tried to back; some turned to one side; many made no manifestation, but just stood limp and not trying, until mild inducements from the drivers made them give a couple of jumps and go on. I never witnessed a more craven exhibition of quitting. When I compared these well-fed, comfortable-looking cowards with what I have seen living horse scare-crows endure with dauntless courage in Russia, Mexico, and elsewhere, I wondered what cause is responsible for the deterioration of the common equus Americanus.

GAME LITTLE BRONCO.

Col. Lampton Again "Exposed."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

To-day you print a letter from that notorious free-lance and chief disciple of the literature of to-morrow, W. J. Lampton, headed "Parents' Duty to Children." I wish to say that I have thoroughly searched "Who's Who" and the various biographies of Lampton without discovering that he is, or ever has been, a parent. In fact, in the Encyclopaedia Britannica it is distinctly stated that Col. Lampton is a bachelor, though it has never been suspected that he is a misogynist.

There is a very strong suspicion in my mind that this famous bohemian is again exposing your columns to contumely, in trading upon your confiding credulity. It is now more than two years ago, upon this editorial page, that I disclosed the real aspect of Col. Lampton following upon his public offer of $100 reward to those who would admit not wanting anything at Christmas time. I clearly showed then that Lampton was not a litterateur but a plutocrat. The bohemia of the rotisseries and of the Ragged Edge Club trembled at the blow, but in the main Lampton has lived it down. Then came the disgraceful plagiarism of Abou Ben Adhem, exposed by a righteous and intellectual Jerseyite, to which Lampton made the sole answer that he was bald-headed.

Now we have him posing as a monitor of children. It is too much. G. C.

RUSHING THE SEASON.

Oh, ye laughing Springtime showers,
Come, and fill Contentment's cup;
Come, ye fragrant Springtime flowers,
Up, up!

Springtime air that sorrow eases
Blow the teardrops from our eyes;
Oh, ye sweetly whisp'ring breezes,
Arise!

Up, oh! Queen of rapture breeders,
Spring, up, up! Above this town—
(Voice—apparently the reader's:

NEW TRADE BILLS HIT EVERY BUSINESS MAN

J. E. Bennet Corrects the Impression That This Is Merely Trust Legislation.

SMALL MAN PINCHED MOST

If Present Provisions in the Bills Are Retained He May Become a Lawbreaker Without Knowing It.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read with much pleasure and interest this morning your leading editorial article, in which you express wonder concerning the source of President Wilson's information, to the effect that the business men of the country approve of the bills which have been introduced for the purpose of regulating the business of the country.

I have made quite a close study of these bills, and have appeared before the Committees on Judiciary and Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House of Representatives, and have also talked with a great many business men since the bills were introduced. As a result I am absolutely convinced that a great majority of the business men of the country have not realized that the proposed new laws which are popularly known as the "Five Brothers" will reach and interfere with their business. Nearly all of the newspapers and reports which I see refer to this as "trust legislation," and I notice that all of the hearings before the Judiciary Committee are headed in the same way.

I am convinced that the average business man believes that this is purely legislation to reach the trusts, and, therefore, does not affect him. When he realizes that Bill No. 1 applies to any person in interstate and foreign commerce, and that Bill No. 2 covers "corporations, firms or persons or any two or more of them engaged in trade or business carried on in the United States between the States," and that Bill No. 3 refers to "person who is engaged as an individual or is a member of a partnership, or Director or other officer of a corporation in the business," &c., and that the Trades Commission bill covers "all corporations engaged in commerce among the several States or with foreign nations," then I think he will understand that one or all of these bills will hit him.

Then he will examine them carefully and find that he does not gain any privilege or any advantage, but that each one of these bills will in some way hinder or harass him in the development of his business, whether he is making umbrellas, shirtwaists, clothing, or lead pencils, whatever it may be or however remote he may be from being a trust. In fact, it will even reach and hamper the corporations owning and conducting newspapers.

Bill No. 1 prevents any discrimination in price between different purchases of commodities in the same or different sections or communities, and will, therefore, apply to nearly every business concern in the country. If a man sells a bill of goods in Boston for one price, and then sells to another customer in San Francisco for a different price, he has committed a crime under this bill. If a business man should give another business man the exclusive agency for the sale of his goods as a side line in a certain territory, this would also be a crime under this bill.

Bill No. 2 would declare it a monopoly to enter into any arrangment or arrive at any understanding, directly or indirectly, (which means the same as knowingly or unknowingly,) which serves to prevent a free and unrestricted competition among themselves or anybody else in the sale, production, or transportation of any product, article, or commodity. This is punishable by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, and if an agent of a corporation should do such a thing any of the Directors or officers could be individually punished. This is so broad that it would interfere with almost every sale that is made by any business concern.

Bill No. 3 provides, in effect, that, if a man is a Director in a small bank in Maine, he cannot, at the same time, be a Director or officer or employe of any street car line or other public service corporation or bank in California or any other State. This is so broad that it makes itself ridiculous.

Bill No. 4, the Trade Commission bill, permits a new body of men, to be known as the "trade commission," to require all corporations engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, excepting common carriers, to furnish to the commission from time to time such information, statements, and records of their organization, business, financial condition, conduct, management, and relations to other companies at such time, to such degree and extent, and in such form as may be prescribed by the commission, and the commission at all reasonable times, or its duly authorized agent or agents, shall have complete access to all records, accounts, minute books and papers of such corporations, and failure or neglect shall render the man subject to a fine of not more than $1,000 per day for such failure or neglect. The information so obtained shall be public record.

It is estimated that there are about 350,000 corporations in the United States engaged in interstate commerce. Judge Adamson, the Chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, at a hearing on Feb. 10, defined interstate commerce as follows: "If a man owned a hen in one State and she went across the State line and laid an egg in another State, this would be interstate commerce."

The majority of business men of the country who are engaged in interstate commerce do not realize it. This commission would have a right to search the private business and records of almost every business corporation of the United States, however small it might be, and to give public statements. It would require one hundred or even thousands of special agents to make the investigations. They are not to be under the regulation of civil service, but are ordinary appointees, who may or may not have any qualifications as inspectors.

It is apparent, of course, that all of these bills would hit the so-called trusts, but at the same time they would hit, hinder, and harass thousands of business men, who, as individuals, partners, or corporations, are conducting an honest business in a perfectly legitimate manner.

Another bill exempts from its provisions all corporations which do an annual gross business of less than $5,000,000. This, of course, would exempt the great majority of business corporations in this country. It seems to me that the Administration, instead of shooting at the bull's-eye with a rifle, has loaded a blunderbuss full of all kinds of shot, which will scatter in thousands of directions, where it was not intended to shoot.

During the last month I have talked with many business men, and I have found that not one of them knew of the contents of these bills, or had read them, and as soon as I showed them copies of the bills or explained the provisions they all unhesitatingly said that they opposed the bills as pernicious and dangerous legislation. Personally, I believe this is the opinion of a great majority of the business men of this country. We are not ready yet for supervision of all business agreements. Neither are we ready to have all of our business matters, records, and secrets made public.

There is real humor in this matter of publicity, when we consider that President Wilson and his Cabinet, when they considered this bill, had a private meeting, no record of which has ever been made public, and that when these bills are presented to Congress they will undoubtedly be passed upon by a caucus of the Democratic members, which will also be private, even as were the caucuses on the tariff and the currency bills. It would seem that before Congress requires business men to transact their business in public they ought first be willing to transact their own legislative matters in full view and knowledge of the public.

THEODORE L. DE VINNE.

Associate Sketches the Character of the Master Printer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will you permit me to pay a tribute to the late Theodore L. De Vinne from the point of view of one who has worked by his side through several decades?

As a fellow-founder of the Grolier Club and as an active member of the Committee on Publications of the club during the ten years when the now celebrated publications of the club were printed at the De Vinne Press, the writer had an opportunity to appreciate the skill and the artistic conscience of this great master printer. If the slightest improvement could be secured in the workmanship of a book he would make any sacrifice of time and money to secure it.

The very first of the Grolier Club publications, which is now a great rarity, namely, "A Decree of Star Chamber," concerning early printing, was not only the product of the celebrated De Vinne plant but was actually suggested by De Vinne himself, who was undoubtedly the most scholarly modern historian of his art. He was eagerly sought by nearly all the leading publishers whenever a book of special beauty was on the ways. Nor was it only in the exquisite Grolier books and any other handsome volumes of limited editions that he excelled. He lavished the same care upon the Century and St. Nicholas magazines, and later upon the Century Dictionary, all of which, running into large editions, offered very different problems from editions de luxe.

The limited edition on hand-made paper is frequently printed "four up"; a magazine is usually printed sixty-four pages at once. Many a time I have seen De Vinne have a press "stripped" and keep it idle for a day or so while new overlays were being cut, all this to secure the best possible touch of excellence in the printing of illustrations. We would shake our heads over some slightly unsatisfactory form and then the conversation would usually end this way: "Well, after all, we are here to get quality, aren't we?"

And De Vinne would answer, "You're right; have that press stripped, Hamilton!" Sometimes the ink would be too "stiff," and De Vinne would try a half-dozen different inks before he was satisfied. It is easily imagined how costly this kind of conscientiousness was. Not in the long run, however, for it was just this minute care that built up the reputation of De Vinne and the magazines that he printed. De Vinne was appreciative of every reasonable suggestion and always willing to try experiments. It was his demand for and use of glazed paper that had much to do with the introduction of this kind of surface that has meant so much to reproductive processes. When the half-tone appeared he was among the first to embrace it and bring it to the highest state of perfection.

His handling of his men was a model for employers. I have often seen him encourage an overlay man, never throwing his arm around him or anything of that kind, but saying, "I see you've got your blacks up nicely. Couldn't you take up that sky a little? It seems to be slightly broken."

I remember one case where a workman had made several mistakes on consecutive days, and, worst of all, the mistakes had actually got into print! De Vinne sent for the culprit, and, with great indignation, told him that he would not need his services any longer. The man did not go out promptly. De Vinne looked up and found the employe's eyes filled with tears. The man explained that he had not been to bed for three days and nights, having worked all day at the shop, and having attended his sick wife through each night.

Knowing the man's integrity, he promptly reversed his decision and told him to draw his pay for a week in advance and go home and look after his wife.

It was through many kindnesses like this that won widespread affection for this high-minded unselfish master of his craft. It is a keen personal satisfaction for one who was associated with him for more than fifty years to submit this brief testimony.

A. W. DRAKE.

WHAT H. B. JOY SAID.

He Would Hang Only Those Editors Who Unjustly Assail Character

THE TIMES on Sunday last printed an Associated Press dispatch from Washington which said that Henry B. Joy, the Detroit motor car maker, had urged the House Commerce Committee to "create an Interstate Trade Commission whose members should be appointed for life, with powers so broad that appeal only could be taken to the Supreme Court, and with authority to hang any newspaper owners who criticised its acts."

Mr. Joy has sent the following letter to THE TIMES:

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In appealing for fairness I said, (and I took it with me written out, so there's no controversy about stenographic notes):

"Any newspaper owners or editors publishing anything derogatory to the characters of the members of the commission, excepting the truth, should be promptly hanged."

This was figurative, if you please, for penalized. I think better hang 'em, though. Such a commission must have the confidence of the public. The public mind to-day is largely poisoned against even the most upright public official. They say the Supreme Court is a bunch of grafters, and they are taught to say it by some of the press.

Your dispatch says—you say in your columns that I urged a trade commission "with authority to hang" any newspaper owners who criticized its acts.

This is all serious. I do not care anything about the fact that possibly the committee Chairman rather interfered with my presentation. It was not the committee I was really trying to talk to; it was the press and the public. The record is there, and stands for what it's worth. But I do resent the untrue statement as to what I did say.

I know the high principles of your paper. I know you do not wittingly want to misrepresent and falsify, and yet there is your record and there is mine. I feel and believe every word I said is true. I feel and believe you will indorse every conclusion I draw from the true facts as I stated them when you have the picture I presented.

Does Congress want information as to actual business? Does Congress need it? I make this earnest appeal for fair business.

HENRY B. JOY.
New York, Feb. 15, 1914.

The stenographic notes of Mr. Joy's statement before the commission in Washington confirm his assertion as to what he did say.

Wilson to Join His Class.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, Feb. 18.—Announcement was made here to-day that President Wilson was planning to attend the thirty-fifth reunion of his class at Princeton. The celebration will be held on June 13, which is the Saturday of commencement week at Princeton. He will arrive on Saturday morning and will leave Saturday night.

WARD WOULD LIMIT PARK PLAYGROUNDS

New Commissioner Doubts if More Space Should Be Allowed in Central Park.

BEAUTY TO BE PRESERVED

Wants More Policemen to Put a Stop to Destruction—Offenders to be Punished.

Speaking before the Public Forum of the Yorkville Civic Centre in Public School 66 last night on "Our Public Parks—Landscapes or Playgrounds?" the new Park Commissioner, Cabot Ward, outlined in part his policy with respect to the city's parks, and asserted that the playground problem could not be solved through the use of park space.

He pointed out that the establishing of playgrounds in park spaces was an easy matter, but that the restoration of the park thereafter must be ever a matter of many years and great labor, and he called upon his audience, especially the boys in it, to bear this in mind and to help him preserve the parks for the city's people through the years.

In an interview earlier in the day Commissioner Ward complained of the widespread and ruthless vandalism carried on in the parks and announced that he had obtained a promise of cooperation from the Police Commissioner to stop it, and that he himself would prosecute in court the cases of all offenders brought there.

Commissioner Ward at the Yorkville Forum last night followed J. C. Boyer of the Recreation Alliance of the Playground Association, who advocated the use of parks as playground centres in addition to other playground spaces. Mr. Boyer had maintained that "the boy without a playground is father to the man without a job," and that the main question now confronting the city in respect to its parks was whether it could afford to sacrifice the usefulness of the parks for the sake of their beauty.

"Shall we spare the grass and spoil the child?" he asked. "Shall we save the grass and lose the child? Our older parks were all laid out as beauty spots rather than as breathing places and play spaces. Very soon we shall have to utilize them, however; for after all other spaces in vacant lots, school yards and the like are used as playgrounds, the parks must still be utilized for the larger athletic fields and playgrounds."

Commissioner Ward said he himself had been one of those who started the second social centre in a New York public school, at Public School 41, and that he had never ceased to cherish a deep interest in the solution of the city's great problem of proper play for its people. What made the problem the more difficult, he said, was the constant shifting of its population, which was destructive of all neighborhood spirit and of the sense in each man, woman, and child of proprietorship in neighborhood facilities.

"You boys can help me more than any one else in the solution of the city's park problem," he said. "The playgrounds we now have are only a drop in the bucket compared to those we need. There are large numbers of vacant lots throughout the city that could and should be utilized for playground purposes, as well as the lots purchased by the city for future erection of school buildings. We ought to be able to compel by law also the establishment of roof playgrounds on every large building hereafter to be put up.

"But, aside from playgrounds, the parks themselves need our consideration. I want you boys especially to use them with the knowledge that they are not merely for your use this year, but that they are your parks and those of the boys and girls and men and women of the city for many years to come. I want you to feel responsible for their preservation as green spots, and to protect them as your own property against vandalism.

"I wish I could start a campaign in this city for window boxes in every house, a get-together campaign for the bringing of the green country and bright flowers into every home of the city. I want help also for the preservation of trees throughout the city, and the replanting of them in every place where a dead tree is removed. In the last two years the city lost 5,000 trees through failure to do this, although there is a statutory provision, I have found, empowering the Park Commissioner to plant trees wherever dead ones are taken from any piece of property."

Commissioner Ward explained afterward that he was oposed to the present system of placing playgrounds in piecemeal sections in various parts of the public parks, inasmuch as that resulted presently in all the intervening green being trampled upon and denuded. Instead, he said, he would concentrate all the playground space in a single unit in a park, and make that unit of gravel, so that the children playing there would come to feel that wherever there was gravel there was their playground, their own property, but that the green belonged as beauty spots to the public. As far as Central Park was concerned, he said, he was in great doubt whether any playgrounds should be established there, since that was pre-eminently the city's landscape garden, for the walks and resting of its tired people.

Commissioner Ward told of the vandalism that had stripped the parks and of his intention to prosecute the cases of all such offenders, in correspondence with Police Commissioner McKay. He said he found only 66 policemen in Central Park when he came into office, as against 207 on duty there in 1904. This gave him only twenty men on duty in the Park at a time, and that number was reduced through sick leave and other causes of absence, very frequently to sixteen or eighteen. As a result one policeman often had to cover five or six posts.

CITY TO FEED SQUIRRELS.

Commissioner Ward Buys Peanuts for 20,000 Little Animals in Park.

Not even the most stingy taxpayer of this city will object to the expense incurred to-day by Father Knickerbocker, when a free feast will be provided for some 20,000 little folk in Central Park. Even students of sociology, who decry the distribution of indiscriminate charity as pauperizing, will not urge that in this instance public funds have been misspent.

The cost of the dinner will not be a considerable item on the budget of the Park Department, in spite of the large number of guests who will be fed. There will be only one course provided, and that will consist of roasted peanuts. Some scientists maintain that there is more nourishment in a pint of peanuts than in a pound of beefsteak. George Gissing, the English novelist, pinched by poverty when he was in America, had little else to eat but peanuts during his stay here.

New York's guests will be the playful squirrels, who in Summer time are the delight of thousands of children. The little furry folk have suffered exceedingly since the snow king buried Central Park under deep drifts and kept the children and grown folk from visiting them. Unlike their country cousins, these urban squirrels are not provident. They have never known the necessity of laying up stores of provender for the Winter season, because throughout the year they are the pampered pets of the children. Visitors toss them peanuts, bits of popcorn, and other delicacies, and they have come to expect this as their right. Since the heavy storm of last Friday isolated them from their human friends the animals have been starving.

Yesterday afternoon Park Commissioner Ward noticed the plight of the squirrels. It occurred to him that the heavy mantle of snow even prevented them from foraging for food, and he decided that they must not be left to starve. Consequently he instructed "Bill" Snyder, the headkeeper of the Zoo, to order a whole cartload of peanuts, and these will be distributed in all corners of the park promptly after their delivery at the Arsenal to-day.

ADRIAN ISELIN TO WED MRS. BRONSON

Banker, 67, and His Fiancee, 63, Get Marriage License and Give Society a Surprise.

SPEEDY MARRIAGE PLANNED

Bride-to-Be the Widow of Frederic Bronson and Mother of Mrs. Lloyd C. Griscom.

Society was surprised yesterday to learn of the approaching marriage of Adrian Iselin, the well-known banker, whose family has been among the most prominent residents of New York for a great many years, and Mrs. Frederic Bronson of 1,140 Park Avenue, who is prominent socially. The first intimation that they were to be married came after their visit late yesterday afternoon to the City Hall, where they obtained a marriage license.

Mrs. Bronson gave her age as 63 and Mr. Iselin said he was 67. They slipped quietly into the Marriage Bureau and hurried away as soon as they had taken out their license. Both said they had been married before.

It was reported that they were to have been married yesterday afternoon. At Mr. Iselin's town residence, 711 Fifth Avenue, it was said last night that the marriage had not taken place, but that it would be celebrated quietly within a day or so, when formal announcement would be made.

While society will be surprised to hear of the match, the relatives and intimate friends of both Mr. Iselin and Mrs. Bronson have known for some time of the romance which came to the couple so late in life. None of the members of Mr. Iselin's family would say anything about the marriage, and Mrs. Bronson's nearest relatives were equally reticent.

Mrs. Bronson leased her house at 1,140 Park Avenue last Autumn when she sailed for Europe. She returned to New York about six weeks ago, and has been seen at the opera on several occasions since then. She is an intimate friend of Mrs. Vanderbilt, and has been a frequent guest at her house at 1 West Fifty-seventh Street.

Mr. Bronson died some years ago. Mrs. Bronson was Miss Sarah Gracie King, daughter of Archibald Gracie King, before her marriage to Mr. Bronson, who was a well-known lawyer of this city. They had one daughter, who is Mrs. Lloyd C. Griscom, wife of the former Ambassador to Italy. Their country seat was at Greenfield Hill, Southport, Conn., the ancestral home of the Bronsons, which Mrs. Bronson still keeps open. Mr. Bronson was a famous whip, and was at one time President of the Coaching Club, succeeding Col. William Jay in that position.

Mr. Iselin has a country place at Davenport's Neck, New Rochelle. In 1872 he married Miss Louise Caylus, who died in 1909. He has been a banker in New York for almost half a century, and is a Director in many railroads, banks and trust companies. He has given much, in time and money, to the development of New York. With his wife he built and permanently endowed the Church of St. Gabriel in that place, and by her will, Mrs. Iselin left a large bequest to the church.

Mr. Iselin established the present system of water works in the town.

In the Autumn of 1912 his daughter, Miss Therese E. Islein, was married to Irwin B. Laughlin of Pittsburgh, who was Chargé d'Affaires for a time at the American Embassy in London, following the death of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid. His younger daughter, Miss Louise M. Iselin, resides with him. Ernest Iselin is a son, who married Miss Pauline Whittier.

ADAM THE REAL RIB, MRS. GILMAN INSISTS

His Sons Only Overgrown Babies Since Motherhood Developed the Talents of Eve.

THEY PRETEND SUPERIORITY

But by the Great Ornitheryncus Paradox the Suffrage Movement Will Show Them Up.

The sacred and time-honored story of Adam and his rib was knocked into smithereens at the Hotel Astor yesterday morning in the first of a series of six lectures on "The Larger Feminism" by Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman. Mrs. Gilman asserted, and quoted sociological authority to prove, that Adam was the rib.

To the applause of 100 assembled and forward-looking daughters of Eve she insisted that not only was woman the original form of life from which man was but a later and insignificant offshoot, but also that since his accidental emergence as an individual entity man had progressed and developed very little, while woman, now subjugated economically and socially, had developed and improved enormously in functions and was by far the higher form, physiologically speaking. And for a large part of the time Mrs. Gilman was physiologically speaking.

She took as her subject "The Biological Base of the Larger Feminism." She said that the feminist movement had grown so tremendously in the last five years that its opponents no longer tried to buttress themselves behind sneers and mockery of it, nor behind the Bible, with its man-made myth of Adam's rib, but had been forced to try to buttress themselves behind biology and science instead.

"And that was a most unfortunate choice," Mrs. Gilman asserted, "for science itself moves and grows; and in one important particular it has changed very greatly. Prof. Lester F. Ward, one of the greatest American sociologists, has recently shown the falsity of the age-long concept of the human mind that man is the race type and woman merely his female. He has shown that woman was the original human organism and the male but a later addition. Of course, the majority of sociologists and scientists deny this, but the majority in science always oppose every great discovery."

Tracing the further changes in the male and female human types subsequent to the time when they became separate coequal entities instead of forming a single bisexual organism Mrs. Gilman asserted that since then the male had developed very little, while the female had developed with rich and varied diversity of functions.

To prove that, she said, she had but to mention the duck-billed Australian Ornitheryncus Paradox—which, because of its name, many of the women thought was male, and sneered at; but it wasn't. The duck-billed Australian Ornitheryncus Paradox, Mrs. Gilman explained, showed the early development of the female animal from a mere simple egg-laying creature to a marsupial creature bringing forth its young amid careful warmth in its marsupial pouch; it was a missing link between the marsupial mother and the order mammalia.

"The order mammalia," cried Mrs. Gilman, "is the highest form of animal life; and we, the female, are the order mammalia, and the female only!"

Mrs. Gilman asserted that it was through her care of the young in motherhood and thereafter that the female assumed so many new functions, while the man became chiefly a hunter and a fighter, his very weapons often fashioned with instruments made by the woman. The same uneven development of the sexes and superiority of the female, she said, were to be noticed in the other animals; and she threatened soon to change the very terms of language itself, asserting that to make a she-lion a mere "lioness" was to employ as absurd a derivative as would be the term "king bee."

"The beginning of industry," said Mrs. Gilman, "is motherhood."

But how, she asked, could those be answered who inquired maliciously for the reasons of the present reversal of the relative positions of superior woman and inferior man? She said she would suggest the following:

"To explain the tremendous and impressive change undoubtedly presented in the later status of the two sexes, we must not look to the conscious forces governing the development of human life, but to genetic forces. The prolongation of the period of infancy required a new development of motherhood; instead of merely finding shelter and food and clothing and the like for her young, she was obliged to make food and shelter and clothing for them. In so doing, she developed a capacity for service. And this service by and by became available to the adult male.

"Therein lay the whole reason for the tremendous change. When the female learned how to cook—ah!" exclaimed Mrs. Gilman, "I see you understand. The power of motherhood then became a profitable thing to the male. He was taken in as a sort of extra child: and he has continued to profit by that service of motherhood ever since. Perhaps this will suggest to you the reason for his terrible fear nowadays that women will neglect the functions of motherhood and the household. It also explains the peculiar change of woman from a dominant to a subservient creature. Nowhere else in animal existence do we find such dependence of the male on the female's service. And woman, in turn, has become dependent on man for everything else."

Mrs. Gilman will lecture on Feb. 25 on "The Economic Relation."

Anti-Suffragists' Theatre Party.

The anti-suffragists are going to celebrate to-night with a theatre party at the Gaiety, where 250 of the members of the New York State Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage have purchased seats for the performance of "Young Wisdom." The members of the organization will all be dressed alike, in black and white gowns, with American Beauty roses. Miss Alice Hill Chittenden, President of the association, will occupy a box. Among the others in the boxes will be Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Stromberg, Mr. and Mrs. H. de Raasloss, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Church, Dr. and Mrs. Gilman Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Bissell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Fairchild and Mrs. Joseph Willis.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Frederick Warde, who formerly starred at the head of his own Shakespearean company, and who is now playing in "A Thousand Years Ago" at the Shubert Theatre, has just published a book entitled "The Fools of Shakespeare."

"When Claudia Smiles" will be moved to the Lyric Theatre next week, opening there with a matinee Monday afternoon.

Frank Craven's new comedy, "Too Many Cooks," with the author in the leading role, will be produced at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre next Tuesday night by William A. Brady.

Henry W. Savage will produce Holman Day's "Along Came Ruth" at the Gaiety Theatre Monday night. The piece is an adaptation of the French comedy "La Demoiselle de Magasin." The cast includes Irene Fenwick, Vivian Wessell, Joseph Kilgour, James Bradbury, B. F. McCarthy, Ethel Langdon, Louise Sydmuth, Mary Turner Gordon, Frank E. Thomas, Edgar Nelson, Sol Aiken, and John [illegible].

BEETHOVEN FESTIVAL OPENS

Damrosch and Symphony Orchestra Applauded—Mme. Culp Soloist.

Five and six years ago Walter Damrosch, with the New York Symphony Oschestra, gave two Beethoven festivals that aroused much public interest. Last night another Beethoven festival, to consist of six concerts, was inaugurated at Aeolian Hall under the same auspices, and there was every evidence that it is to meet as ready a response from the public. There were scarcely half a dozen vacant seats, which proved that the name of Beethoven is still potent; and after the concert had started there was the close attention and the sincere applause that showed the music meant no less than the name.

Last night's programme comprised the first and second symphonies, with a group of songs sung by Mme. Julia Culp between. As the series progresses it will be borne in more and more how varied a sequence of programmes can be made up from this composer's works without taking a single thing that is put in "just to fill up." Indeed, the principal dilemma of Mr. Damrosch must have been concerning what could be left out. Those who attend the whole series, and it is hardly to be doubted that the audiences will be unchanging, as the appeal of the concerts lies chiefly in tehir aspect of giving a fairly comprehensive perspective of the composer, will see Beethoven as a master in many mediums.

As far as the playing of the music goes, nobody could have been disappointed in last night's performance. The orchestra was in good form and played fluently, with good precision and plenty of shading. Mr. Damrosch's attitude as the conductor was that of expounding the composer's intention and not obtruding any "reading" of his own, which is eminently as it should be. There was no exaggeration or straining after effect, which would be so especially inappropriate to these first symphonies where the emotional quality is not conspicuous, but suavity and graciousness rule.

Probably because her appearance came between the two symphonies, Mme. Culp's songs were chosen to strike a balance on the lighter, more homely side of the composer. It may have surprised some of the audience to find that Beethoven had written a song that they could laugh with, as they did in the case of "Der Kuss," or that he had set music to Scotch poems, as they found out in "Faithfu' Johnie" and "The Cottage Maid." The others were "Bitten" and "Ich Liebe Dich." These songs Mme. Culp gave to the audience with exquisite sympathy and feeling. Coenraad V. Bos played her accompaniments and Messrs. Saslavsky and Renard played obligatos in the two last.

NEW SOPRANO SINGS.

Mme. Peroux-Williams Gives Song Recital in Four Languages.

Mme. Péroux-Williams, a name new to New York concert-goers, made a pleasant impression at a song recital which she gave in Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon, although it cannot be said that she will contest the first place in Lieder singing. Mme. Péroux-Williams's voice is a mezzo-soprano of considerable power and of agreeable quality when it is heard at its best. That it is not always heard at its best is due to a not wholly perfected manner of tone production and a placing of the tone not always correct. From this also results an occasional slight uncertainty of intonation. Her voice has expressive power, and the singer commands no small gamut of emotion and sentiment. She has artistic appreciation and understanding and an unmistakable musical feeling, which guide her well in the interpretation of songs in many styles. Mme. Péroux-Williams's phrasing is intelligent and musical, and her diction is unusually good in the four languages in which she sang—Italian, German, English, and French. It was, perhaps, best and most finished in her French songs.

Among her old songs was a dramatic air, "Sommi dei," from Handel's Italian opera "Radamisto," to which she imparted dramatic power. There was charm in her delivery of Paradies 'o "Quel Ruscelletto" and Caldara's "Selve Amiche"; her lack of a completely finished vocal style was also evident in them. Mme. Péroux-Williams likewise gave sympathetic and discerning interpretations of songs by Schubert, Brahms, and Wolf. Her French songs, wherein she was particularly successful in the matter of style, were by Duparc and Fauré.

Mrs. Ethel Cane Cole accompanied Mme. Péroux-Williams with much skill and a sensitive appreciation of values in accompaniment; in some of the songs, as in Dupar's "La Vagne et la Clocche," with the brilliancy of a virtuoso.

Brinkley Bachelorettes' Dance.

The Brinkley Bachelorettes, of which Miss Marion Van Marter is President and Miss Gertrude E. O'Connor the Vice President and Treasurer, will give a subscription dance at Bretton Hall tomorrow evening. During the evening vocal and instrumental music will be given. Dr. Lazarus Schoney.

Dr. Lazarus Schoney, surgeon and author of several volumes on sciences, died Tuesday night at his home, 2,899 West Eighth Street, Coney Island, from heart disease. Dr. Schoney was born in Budapest, Hungary, on Oct. 18, 1838, and was graduated from the Kaiser Carl Ferdinand University at Prague, in 1857. He came to America in 1860, and two years later was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. When the civil war began, he served as chief contract surgeon, with offices at the Senate Chamber, and while there he became intimate with President Lincoln. Dr. Schoney served in the field at many battles, including Gettysburg. After the war, he went to Paris and Berlin to study and returned here in 1868 and practiced medicine. He was for a number of years professor of pathology and clinical microscopy at the New York Eclectic Medical College. He was a Fellow of the New York Academy of Sciences, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a member of the American and New York State Medical Associations, the American and New York Microscopical Societies, and the Torrey Botanical Club. Dr. Schoney is survived by his widow, Theodosia F. Schoney, who is also a physician.

DR. ROBERT K. DUNCAN DEAD

Chemist Widely Known by His Writings on Scientific Subjects.

Dr. Robert Kennedy Duncan, Director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research of the University of Pittsburgh, died yesterday after an illness of several weeks at his home in Pittsburgh. He had made himself widely known in this and in foreign countries by his writings on radio activity.

Dr. Duncan was born at Brantford, Ontario, Canada, on Nov. 1, 1868. With first class honors in physics and chemistry he received his Bachelor's Degree from the University of Toronto in 1892, and in 1892-93 was Fellow in Chemistry in Clark University. In 1897-8 he did graduate work in chemistry in Columbia University. At intervals between 1900 and 1907 he studied abroad, and at the same time occupied the chair of chemistry in Washington and Jefferson College, 1901-6; Industrial Chemistry, University of Kansas, 1906, until he became Director of Industrial Research at the University of Pittsburgh in 1910.

Dr. Duncan discovered and patented a new process for manufacturing phosphorus, and a new low-melting glass. He also found new processes for decorating glass. In 1907 he inaugurated at the University of Kansas a plan of industrial fellowships which subsequently has been developed to large proportions in that institution and at the University of Pittsburgh.

He was the author of "New Knowledge," 1905, "The Chemistry of Commerce," 1907, and "Some Chemical Problems of To-day," 1911. Dr. Duncan was a member of the Chemical Society, Society of Chemical Industry, Kansas Academy of Science, and the Royal Society of Arts. He was a fellow of the Chemistry Society of London, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Benjamin Allen Eaton.

Benjamin Allen Eaton, for more than thirty years a newspaper writer, died yesterday in the Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn, from a complication of diseases in his fifty-fourth year. He was born at Pierceton, Ind., on May 24, 1860, and was graduated from the Chicago High School in 1876. He later studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1878. In 1880 he joined the staff of The Fort Wayne Sentinel. Later he was one of the pioneers of The Kansas City Star in company with the owners of The Fort Wayne Sentinel, and acted as managing editor of that paper until 1886, when he and his associates purchased The Wichita Beacon. A few years later Mr. Eaton disposed of his interests and became general manager of The Indianapolis Sentinel. Since 1894 he had been an active newspaper worker in this city. His wife and three daughters survive him.

Richard Coxe Weightman.

Richard Coxe Weightman, for many years a contributor to newspapers and magazines, and Secretary of the War Investigation Committee appointed by President McKinley, 1898-1899, died of heart disease on Tuesday at his home in Washington, D. C. Mr. Weightman was born in Washington on Oct. 25, 1845. He was educated at St. Timothy's Hall, Catonsville, Md., 1855-7, and married Miss Laura Jurey of New Orleans in 1878. He served in the Confederate Army from 1861 to 1865, and afterward entered newspaper work on the New Orleans Times-Democrat, subsequently he went to Washington, where he became an editorial writer on the Washington Post. For several years he also was an editorial contributor to The New York Sun.

Mrs. H. RIEMAN DUVAL, wife of the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Beet Sugar Company, died at a hotel in Baltimore yesterday. Her death is believed to have been hastened by the accidental swallowing two days ago of a dose of medicine from a glass containing a quantity of liniment which her maid overlooked in preparing the draught.

CHARITIES.

The Servants of Relief for Incurable Cancer

working for the last fifteen years for the destitute of this class of sufferers, and having two Homes in and near New York City, have great need of acquiring some additional city property for the benefit of the male patients. Donations for this purpose are earnestly begged for, according to the advice of the Right Rev'd Bishop Thomas F. Cusack, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the charity. The Sisters especially appeal to men to bless their sadder contingent with relief in this effort to please them. Kindly send letters of gift to

GEORGE W. NEVILLE DIES.

Ex-President of Cotton Exchange Succumbs After Operation.

George Wilder Neville, for two consecutive terms President of the New York Cotton Exchange, died yesterday in a hospital in Elizabeth, N. J., following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Neville was removed from his home in Colonia, N. J., on Tuesday, and was operated on Tuesday night. His death was announced on the floor of the Cotton Exchange yesterday, and a little while after the announcement a cablegram was received from the Liverpool Cotton Association expressing sympathy "in the loss that the New York Cotton Exchange and the cotton trade of the world had sustained in the death of George W. Neville." A telegram of condolence also was received from the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

Mr. Neville was born in Portsmouth, Va., on Aug. 4, 1862, the son of Willis Henry and Mary E. Cushing Neville. He was educated in the schools of his birthplace, and later by a private tutor. He first entered the cotton business as agent at Norfolk, Va., for Ralli Brothers, cotton merchants of London. Subsequently he was sent by them to take charge of their agency at Houston, Texas, and when Ralli Brothers went out of business Mr. Neville started an independent business for himself. Later he became associated with Gen. Stephen M. Weld of Boston, in the firm of Weld & Neville. He came to New York twelve years ago. In February, 1910, he was called to testify before the House Committee on Agriculture, and he then defended cotton future transactions. He was elected President of the New York Cotton Exchange, in June, 1911, and was re-elected in June, 1912.

Mr. Neville was a member of the New York Athletic Club, and the Southern Society. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mamie A. Cardwell, daughter of John Cardwell, Consul General in Egypt during the first administration of Grover Cleveland, and four children, Miss Estelle, George Wilder, Jr., John Cardwell, and Miss Mary Gracia Neville.

F. Joseph Vernon's Funeral To-day

The funeral of F. Joseph Vernon, President of the Vernon Carton Company and treasurer of the Samuel Vernon Estate, who died of pneumonia on Monday night, following an operation at the Manhattan Eye, Ear, and Throat Hospital, will be held this afternoon from the home of his brother, S. E. Vernon, 89 Remsen Street, Brooklyn. Mr. Vernon was suffering apparently from laryngitis when he was transferred from his apartment, 41 West Twenty-seventh Street, to the hospital. Mr. Vernon was born in the old Vernon homestead, Brooklyn. In 1885 he was graduated from Yale. After graduation he became interested in the manufacture of papeteries and novelties, until he assumed management of his father's estate. He was one of the founders of the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn. He also was a member of the University, Calumet, and Yale Clubs of New York City and the Hamilton and Atlantic Yacht Clubs of Brooklyn. He was a member of the Sons of the Revolution.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

PARIS, Feb. 13.—Rain to-day interfered with the plans of the tourists to make trips to various points of interest by automobile, which had to be postponed until to-morrow. We were able, however, to find much enjoyment at the noted art galleries here, and most everybody in the party visited the Louvre and the Luxembourg. The opera took up our attention this evening, and altogether it was a most enjoyable day despite the weather conditions.

To-morrow we are to be guests at a luncheon, at which one of the speakers will be President Poincaré. Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, Consul General A. M. Thackera, and M. Guyon, President of the Paris Municipal Council, and a number of prominent Americans, including Frank Gould, will also be in attendance.

Mr. Comiskey has recovered and his appearance would indicate that he is again enjoying the best of health. Our meeting with him here has been one of the most pleasant features of the tour, as we had all been worried about "Commy's" health. Everybody in the party rejoiced to find him looking so well.

Games have been arranged for Saturday and Sunday, and the players are anxious to get busy again on the field. All are in fine condition, and there is great rivalry between the two teams, now that the tour is nearing the end. From the start the teams have been close to each other in games won and lost, so each side is anxious to make a strong finish for the "around-the-world" title.

Our trip from Nice to Paris was very enjoyable. The beautiful farms and villas which we passed en route at Toulon, Marseilles, and Lyon were a revelation to the globe trotters, who have gazed on many interesting sights since we left the States.

FROMME SIGNS CONTRACT.

Giant Pitcher Had Been Holding Out for More Pay.

Arthur Fromme, the Giant pitcher, who has been spending the Winter in Los Angeles, has signed a contract for next season and will report to the Giants at Marlin on Saturday. With Arthur Wilson Fromme has been holding out for more money and both have been considering offers from George Stovall of the Kansas City club of the Federal League. Wilson is still doubtful about reporting to the Giants, as he had received a big offer from the outlaws. He was not satisfied with the contract which the New York club offered him and says that the Federal League is willing to give him, in addition to his salary, an amount equal to his share of world series money.

Eddie Brannick, Assistant Secretary of the Giants, will be in charge of the baseball party which will leave here to-day for Texas. Larry McLean is the only regular to go from here, but several players will be picked up along the way. McLean is enthusiastic about Bob Bescher and thinks he will have his best season under McGraw this Summer. Larry says in Cincinnati they would not let Bescher run bases the way he wanted to, and because they did not let him get away soon enough he was often thrown out last season. McGraw plans to teach Bescher the fallaway slide, which should increase his base-stealing ability considerably.

Silent John Hummel, the Brooklyn utility player, who has played nearly every position on the Dodger Club except pitcher, signed his contract yesterday. Hummel has been spending the Winter on his farm at Bloomsburg, Penn., where he has been so busy that he did not have time to sign the document before. The only Brooklyn players who have not signed are Joe Tinker, Gagnier, the short stop drafted from Newark, and Tommy Romanach, the Cuban short stop.

President Ebbets has engaged Pepe Conte, the Cuban correspondent, to go to Havana to try to persuade Romanach to report to the Brooklyn club. If the Cuban decides to play in Brooklyn it is understood that Cincinnati will not press its claim for the played. Romanach is backward about signing, because he insists on getting a bonus of $500. Some one told him that he could get it if he would hold out long enough, and the Cuban is making the experiment. President Ebbets says that he will not give the Cuban a bonus.

New League for New England.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 18.—Stephen D. Flanagan of this city and John H. O'Brien of Fall River, Mass., promoters of the proposed new Class C. Baseball League, announced to-night that a meeting of the men who plan to head clubs in different cities will be held here next Tuesday afternoon. Brockton, Fall River, New Bedford, and Taunton, Mass., and Woonsocket, Newport, and Pawtucket will probably be represented. It is expected that a circuit committee will be appointed for a six-club league. Brockton, Fall River, and New Bedford were in the New England League last year, but the franchises have since been transferred to other cities.

Yankees Lease a Houston Hotel.

The New York Americans closed a lease of Rice's Hotel at Houston, Texas, yesterday, for the use of the players who will report there on March 1. A number of the men will leave here on Feb. 26, to be joined by others in Cincinnati the following day, in order to arrive at the camp on scheduled time. The players now in Hot Springs will leave there for Texas on Feb. 27, in the care of Coach Daly. Manager Chance will have thirty-five regulars and recruits in line when the training season begins. On the way north the second team will play two exhibition games in Mobile, Ala.

PHILLIES LOSE PITCHER.

Seaton Jumps to Federal League—To Play for Brooklyn.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Thomas Seaton, last year pitcher with the Philadelphia Nationals, signed to-day to pitch for the Federal League, it was announced from headquarters. Seaton will be assigned to Brooklyn. He declared that he had not come to any agreement with President Baker of the Philadelphia Club.

Seaton's salary with the Brooklyn Club will be $7,000 a year, it was announced, and he was paid one year's salary in advance. He was one of the greatest pitchers in the league last season.

Seaton's contract calls for his services for three years, and it is understood he received in advance some of the $25,000 given President Gilmore by R. B. Ward of the Brooklyn Federals, with instructions to sign a player and manager. The manager wanted by Brooklyn is Jake Stahl, and Ward will reach Chicago to-morrow to talk personally with the former leader of the Red Sox.

Seaton's contract was approved by his wife, who accompanied him from Kansas City. Ad Brennan, the other former Philadelphia National pitcher who joined the Chicago Federals, and his wife, also came from Kansas City. Brennan expects to go to Paw Paw, Mich., to visit William Killifer, over whose services the Federals and organized ball threaten a legal battle. Brennan said he believed Killifer would play with the Federals.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—"We will protect our rights to Seaton to the limit," said President Baker of the Philadelphia Nationals when he learned that Seaton had signed with the Federal League. "I do not believe that he has signed for three years. If he has done so, we will take him into court and prove our claim. Seaton as good as signed with us on Jan. 22, when we accepted his terms for a two-year contract."

EVERS TO PLAY SECOND.

Sweeney to Captain Braves and Probably Play Third Base.

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—John J. Evers, the former manager of the Chicago Nationals, who was acquired a few days ago by the Botson Nationals came here to-night from his home in Troy, N. Y. He was informed that he would play at second base, and that Sweeney, who was second baseman last season, would be in competition with Deal, a recruit from Providence, for the third base position. This was the statement of Manager Stallings, who also said that Sweeney would act as Captain. Evers said he was very glad to be a member of the Boston Club.

President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals telegraphed President Gaffney of the local team to-night: "Neither Perdue nor Sweeney have reported. What is the situation?"

Gaffney's reply was to the effect that he would be in Cincinnati soon and would talk the matter over with Murphy there. In commenting on the telegram, Gaffney said that the acquirement of Evers did not involve delivery of Perdue and Sweeney to Chicago and that both players had been ordered to report here.

DEFENDS RESERVE CLAUSE.

Gov. Tener Says Without It Only Rich Clubs Could Hold Players.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—The reserve clause in baseball contracts was defended by Gov. John K. Tener, President of the National League, in a speech here to-night at the tenth annual dinner of the Philadelphia Sporting Writers' Association.

"Under the present rules," he declared, "baseball has prospered while the public, the player, and the owner alike have been protected." He said that the reserve clause must be preserved, otherwise only the richest clubs would be able to hold their players.

Others who spoke in favor of the present methods of organized baseball were John A. Heydler, Secretary of the National League; William F. Baker, President of the Philadelphia Club; Charles H. Ebbets, Sr., of Brooklyn, and George M. Graham, President of the Tri-State League.

PENN MAY GET ROBERTSON.

Irish-American A. C. Trainer Sought by Football Team.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Feb. 18.—A concerted move has been started among athletes of the University of Pennsylvania to secure a trainer for the football team in the place of the late Mike Murphy, and, while the names of many men have been mentioned, that of Lawson Robertson, coach of the Irish-American Athletic Club of New York, seems to have met with the greatest favor.

"No official of the University of Pennsylvania has asked me to consider such an offer," declared Mr. Robertson over the long-distance telephone to-day. "Therefore it would not be wise for me to discuss the subject too freely. I will say this, however, that my contract with the Irish-American Club of New York would not prevent me from accepting an offer, and that I would like to become connected with the University of Pennsylvania's athletic teams."

Several of the more prominent of Pennsylvania's athletes to-day expressed themselves strongly in favor of Robertson's coming. "Robertson has been a trainer for four years and has made good," declared Albert Journeay, Captain of the football team. "Every one knows how badly the football team needed a trainer last year, and we shall be equally bad off next year unless a competent man is secured. Robertson is my choice first, last, and all the time."

Ted Meredith; Wallace McCurdy, Track Captain; Charles Seelbach, Basket Ball Captain; Donald Lippincott; Jimmy Patterson, 100-yard intercollegiate champion; Louis Maderia, and oththers expressed like sentiments.

Steffens to Coach Carnegie's Eleven

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Walter Steffens, quarter back of the University of Chicago football team in 1907-8, announced to-night that he had signed a contract to coach the football team of Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh next year.

Brown Defeats Moon with Cue.

Morris D. Brown, former title holder, defeated George T. Moon, Jr., last night in the amateur handicap 18.2 balk line billiard tournament at Keeney's Billiard Academy in Brooklyn by the score of 300 to 84.

The Friars Honor "Jack" Gleason.

On account of his many activities on behalf of the club, The Friars will give a dinner to "Jack" Gleason on Sunday evening at the clubhouse in West Forty-fifth Street.

NEW YORK TO HAVE CONTINUOUS RACING

Season to Open at Belmont Park May 26 and Close at Syracuse Sept. 5.

New York's Racing Dates.

Norfolk, April 1 to 17, (15 days.)
Havre de Grace, April 18 to May 5, (15 days.)
Pimlico, May 6 to 23, (16 days.)
Belmont Park, May 26 to June 13, exception June 3 and 6, (15 days.)
Piping Rock, June 3 and 6, (2 days.)
Jamaica, June 15 to 25, (10 days.)
Aqueduct, June 27 to July 14, (15 days.)
Empire City, July 15 to 31, (15 days.)
Saratoga, Aug. 1 to 31, (26 days.)
Syracuse, three days between Sept. 1 and 5.

New York State is to have continuous thoroughbred racing from May 26 until the first week in September, while at a later date announcement will be made of the plans for the sport in the Fall. At a meeting of the stewards of the Jockey Club, held yesterday, there was official approval of 132 days of sport over the tracks that operate under the jurisdiction of the parent body and of these days there are 87 for the State of New York. This is 31 days more racing in the State than during 1913.

There will be racing every day as opposed to three days a week last year and the sport will be conducted by the Westchester Racing Association at Belmont Park; the Metropolitan Jockey Club at Jamaica; the Queens County Jockey Club at Aqueduct; Empire City Racing Association, at Yonkers; Saratoga Association, at Saratoga; Piping Rock Association at Locus Valley, L. I., and the Syracuse State Fair at Syracuse. As far as was possible there was an even division of the time among the larger associations, and, with the exception of Saratoga, with the entire month of August, an effort was made to furnish each other association with fifteen days. This proved impossible and the Metropolitan Jockey Club agreed to have its dates reduced to ten days.

It was the intention to postpone the racing on the days of the International polo matches, but later it was agreed that on those days the racing would begin at noon and be completed in time to reach the polo game. On each of these days special trains will be run direct to the polo grounds where the games will begin at 4 P. M.

This allotment of dates leaves only Sheepshead Bay, Gravesend, and the Brighton Beach track of the old ones that are not provided for. These associations made no application for dates, and at no time have they been considered in the plans for the coming season of sport. While these associations are practically out of business it is probable that all of the big stakes of both the Coney Island Jockey Club and the Brooklyn Jockey Club will be taken care of at the other meetings that have already been announced.

The officials that were appointed for the season are practically the same as those that officiated last year. They are C. H. Pettingill and E. C. Smith, judges; H. U. Homan, clerk of the scales; Al Burlen, assistant clerk of the scales; J. L. Hall, paddock and patrol judge; W. H. Barretto, timer; Mars Cassidy, starter.

A number of jockeys and trainers had their applications for licenses acted upon favorably, while some were not so fortunate. The jockeys whose applications were not granted are Arthur Wrispen, J. Davenport, Thomas McTaggart, and T. H. Johnson.

C. M. Johnson, who with his stable of horses and Jockey Adams was suspended during the Norfolk meeting, appeared before the stewards on his own behalf, but he failed to clear himself. The suspension was ordered continued, and associations racing under the jurisdiction of the Jockey Club were requested to refuse all his entries.

The offense for which Johnson was suspended was the running of his horse, J. H. Barr, during the Norfolk meeting. After running a bad race J. H. Barr was started the following day and won very easily, though it had been published the same morning that the horse was broken down. It was proven to the satisfaction of the track stewards that Johnson had failed to back his horse when he was beaten, while the following day he played him heavily.

J. W. Hedrick, who also appeared before the stewards, was more fortunate; he escaped with a reprimand. Hedrick was charged with intimidation in selling races, and it also grew out of the racing at Norfolk. The charge was made by R. I. Miller, that Hedrick had proposed for a consideration not to run up Water Welles after that horse had won. The stewards warned Hedrick that if he further violated the rules of selling races, either expressed or implied, he would be severely punished.

Miss Hyde Equals Golf Record.

Special to The New York Times.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 18.—Miss Lillian B. Hyde, the former metropolitan champion, equaled the record of 76 for the Palm Beach golf course to-day in the first round at match play of the annual woman's tournament for the championship of the State. Miss Hyde, who was defending her title of State champion, had four threes on her outward round, reaching the turn in 35. She played Miss Alice Conners of Buffalo, and was followed by a large gallery.

Miss Ethel Campbell of Philadelphia, who yesterday tied with Miss Hyde for the qualification prize, was defeated by the runner-up in last year's event, Mrs. Henry S. Phipps, who triumphed in the sixteenth hole. Mrs. Edwin H. Fitler, Merion, former Florida champion, had an easy win from Mrs. C. G. Powers, Decatur.

Hackensack Golfers Elect Officers.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Feb. 18.—The Hackensack Golf Club, which last Summer purchased its extensive course when the owners refused to grant another lease, last night elected the following officers: John W. Thomson, President; Charles F. Uebelacker, Vice President; George E. Wells, Secretary, and Charles H. Plenty, Treasurer; Governors for two years, William C. Gregg, Lewis W. Hyde, Jr., Charles S. Conklin, and E. B. Craft. The various reports showed the club to be in a most flourishing condition, with a full membership and several on the waiting list. The social season this Winter has been one of the most successful in the club's history.

Twenty-third Street Games.

Five events comprised the athletic entertainment at the bimonthly games of the Twenty-third Street Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association last night in the gymnasium, and close competition resulted. A flip of a coin was necessary to decide the winner of second place in the standing high-jump event, in which L. Lhuillier and F. J. Seco were tied at 4 feet 4 inches. The former won on the toss. The summaries:

25-Yard Dash.—Won by J. Murphy; C. Johnson, second; M. Roos, third. Time—0:03 2-5.
600-Yard Run.—Won by C. Fink; C. Johnson, second; S. Haines, third. Time—1:21 1-5.
Standing High Jump.—Won by J. Allen, with 4 feet 5 inches; L. Lhuillier, second, with 4 feet 4 inches; F. J. Seco, third, with 4 feet 4 inches.
Hop, Step, and Jump.—Won by W. Bartells, with 27 feet 5 inches; J. Allen, second, with 27 feet 2 inches; M. Roos, third, with 26 feet 8 inches.
Eight-Lap Relay Race, 704 Yards.—Won by First General Group team, composed of H. O. Clayberger, J. Murphy, H. Stegmeyer, and F. J. Seco; Second General Group team, composed of A. Mole, C. Fink, M. Roos, and Donahue, second; Intermediate Group team, composed of Williams, C. Johnson, Smith, and S. Haines, third. Time—1:26 3-5.

European Drivers for Auto Race.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 18.—Five automobile racing drivers, the pick of Europe, sent in their entries to-day for the fourth annual 500-mile race to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day. The pilots are: Jules Goux, who won the race last year; Chassagne, who holds about half of the racing records of England; Boillot, Christiaens, and Guyot. Twelve entries have been received at the headquarters here thus far, and it is expected at least 40 cars will start in the race.

New Race for Yale-Harvard Regatta

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 18.—A proposition to abandon the race for four-oars and substitute for it an event for second 'Varsity eights is expected to be put forward by Yale during the negotiations with Harvard to arrange for the regatta on the Thames River at New London next June. This change has been discussed before. Yale believes that it will stimulate and sustain interest in rowing.

SWIMMERS' NAMES GIVEN.

Champions Among N. Y. A. C. Men Who Infringed A. A. U. Rules.

Arthur McAleenan of the New York Athletic Club yesterday appeared before a special session of Amateur Athletic Union officials in connection with the recent breaking of the rules of the union at a swimming series held in the Naval Academy pool at Annapolis, in which ten wearers of the Winged Foot disqualified themselves by competing against the Middies who are not affiliated with the A. A. U.

McAleenan willingly gave the names of the men who took part in the races, and announced them as Arthur McAleenan, Jr., Nicholas Nerich, H. L. Vollmer, Bud Goodwin, George South, T. F. McCarthy, R. U. Bennett, Walter Ramme, J. C. Wheatley, and James H. Riley. In this list are several national champions, and McAleenan stated that he personally was responsible for any misapprehension which might have occurred in connection with the series, and that if there was any punishment to be meted out he was the one who should be censured.

Those who were at the session were Dr. William Burdick of Baltimore, Chairman of the Middle Atlantic Association Registration Committee; George Turner of Baltimore, a member of the National Championship Committee, and several members of the Metropolitan Association Registration Committee who had been asked to aid in obtaining the names of the swimmers.

The men who took part in the meet disqualified themselves from future sport controlled by the A. A. U. until such time as the union officials see fit to lift the ban. It was stated that Dr. Burdick would immediately call a session of his committee of the Middle Atlantic Association in Baltimore and announce the decision in a few days.

ATHLETES REPRIMANDED.

Gifford and Hocking Had Violated A. A. U. Rules.

R. B. Gifford of McCaddin Lyceum and Horace Hocking of the New York A. C. were exonerated last night from the charges lodged against them for recent performances in amateur athletics at the monthly meeting of the Registration Committee of the Metropolitan District, Amateur Athletic Union, at St. Bartholomew's Parish House. Gifford, at the recent New York A. C. games, was disqualified for infringement of the rules, but continued in the race. He was ordered from the track, but claimed that he was not properly cautioned and not being certain of the identity of the judges who were acting refused to quit. He was reprimanded and his suspension lifted.

The Hocking case was brought about by a complaint lodged by the West Side Y. M. C. A., to which organization Hocking belonged before joining the Mercury Foot club. It was stated that he had represented the New York A. C. in competition before the necessary time allowance of unattached competition had expired. He was also reprimanded.

The decision of the tie for point honors between the New York A. C. and the Long Island A. C. at the annual Father Matthews T. A. B. games at Newark, when both clubs scored a total of 24 points, was settled when Paul Pilgrim, representing the Mercury Foot club, waived his organization's claim and permitted the trophy to go to the smaller club.

O. J. Bell of the Irish-American A. C. drew a six months' suspension for false reporting of performances on entry blanks. Evidence showed that he did not record his best performances on several occasions.

Columbia Freshmen Win on Ice.

The Columbia freshman hockey team defeated the Columbia Grammar seven at St. Nicholas Rink yesterday morning by a score of 8 to 0. The line-up:

Columbia '17.	Position.	Columbia Gram.
Wadelton	Goal	Schmelzel
H. Miller	Point	Vernon
Park	Cover point	French
Kennedy	Centre	Dolan

Goals—Langstrom, (3,) Kennedy, (3,) Von Bernuth, (2,) H. Miller. Substitutes—Shimmon for Longstrom, H. Heimerdinger for Vernon, C. Gershel for R. Miller. Time of halves—Twenty minutes. Referee—C. White.

Kent Defeats Pawling Hockey Team

Special to The New York Times.

KENT, Conn., Feb. 18.—The Kent School hockey team won from the undefeated Pawling School team on the former's rink today by the score of 3 to 2. The game was very fast, and was not won until the last minute of play, when Ash scored the winning goal for Kent. Hersey made the other two goals for Kent, and Van Schack scored both goals for Pawling. Richmond, the Kent goal-keeper, made several spectacular stops.

Yale Beats Williams at Hockey.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 18.—Yale easily defeated Williams at Hockey to-night, 5 to 1. Burgess, the Blue's new left wing, scored the first goal after a minute and a half of play. Other Yale goals were made by Capt. Heron, (2,) McDonald, and Sweeney. Williams did not score until after ten minutes of play in the second period, when Gillette caged the puck.

HORSE SALE PRICES DROP.

$2,100 for Guy Axworthy the Highest Bid at Garden Auction.

The mid-Winter auction of harness horses ended yesterday at Madison Square Garden with much better prices ruling than in the sales of the previous day though no horse approached the figure brought by Peter Billiken on Tuesday. The top price yesterday was received for Guy Axworthy, by Axworthy—Lillian Wilkes, and the sire of many noted trotters. H. C. Moody of Lexington, Ky., was the purchaser with a bid of $2,100.

The consignment of fifteen two-year-olds from W. E. D. Stokes's Patchen Wilkes Stock Farm, created some spirited bidding yesterday afternoon. These colts and fillies were sired by Peter the Great. Walter Cox, the noted driver, purchased Peter Potempkin, a two-year-old bay colt by Peter the Great—Adioo Dillon for $1,600, and David Tod of Youngstown, O., paid $1,575 for Lady Booker, a roan filly by Peter the Great—Tuskegee Chimes. The Stokes consignment of fifteen head brought an average of $452 per head.

More high prices were registered when the consignment of Ex-Senator Joseph W. Bailey was put on sale. Guy Axworthy was one of this consignment. Gertrude Dillon, a nine-year-old mare with a record of 2:10¼, made last season, was sold for $1,000 to the Curl's Neck Farm of Cotman, Va. The twenty head in the Bailey consignment averaged $572.

Tigers' Final Hockey Practice.

The Princeton hockey team had its final practice at the St. Nicholas Rink last night for the play-off game with Harvard to decide the intercollegiate championship at the local rink Saturday night. Both Hobey Baker of Princeton and Willetts of Harvard, the rival captains, have recovered from the effects of the collision in the game last week and they will be in the coming contest. The Irish-Americans and the St. Nicholas team will take part in the Amateur Hockey League game to-morrow night.

TOUCHARD EASILY DEFEATS SHAFER

Champion Advances to Semi-Final Round in Indoor Lawn Tennis Tourney.

Gustave F. Touchard, the indoor lawn tennis singles title holder, reached the semi-final round of the indoor tournament yesterday at the Seventh Regiment Armory, when he defeated G. C. Shafer in straight sets. The victory of Touchard completes the semi-final round, the other players being B. M. Phillips, Dr. William Rosenbaum, and Arthur M. Lovibond. The two former occupy the upper brackets, while Dr. Rosenbaum and Lovibond fill the lower section. The four players will compete to-morrow for the honor of deciding the champion for 1914.

The doubles championship requires one more match to bring it to the same stage as the singles. Three matches were decided in the doubles, with the public choices surviving in each contest. The champions, Grant and Shafer, scored a straight set victory over L. V. Robinson and G. G. Grenze. Touchard and William B. Cragin, Jr., won from Karl Behr and B. S. Prentice, while George S. Groesbeck and J. C. McKay triumphed over H. F. Guggenheim and H. A. Williams.

Touchard experienced very little difficulty in defeating Shafer, in spite of the previous excellent court work of the latter. Touchard opened his service in the first round in an aggressive manner and quickly assumed a commanding lead. Shafer drove a number of balls into the net, while the champion excelled in placement. The first set was decided by a 6—1 score. Shafer woke up in the second set and kept the champion busy. Three times the score was even until it was carried to 5—all. In the deuce games Touchard showed his superiority and won two points in succession, giving him the match.

The downfall of Karl Behr and B. S. Prentice in the doubles proved of considerable assistance to Touchard and Cragin in the latters' effort to retain their doubles title. The Yale and Harvard combination proved a formidable one, and it was only the superior team work of Touchard and Cragin that carried them through the match. Behr and Prentice made a promising start, and before their opponents could get properly set they captured the first set 6—4. The champions rallied in the second set, and before the college pair returned the attack the former had opened up a commanding lead. Touchard and Cragin did not let up, and evened up the score 6—3. The third and deciding set was a ding-dong affair, but the champions appeared to always have just enough in reserve, and by good combination play won the set and match.

Wylie Grant and Shafer found little opposition in their progress to the semi-final round. Robinson and Grenze proved no match for their more experienced opponent, and secured but three points in the two sets. The victory of Grant and Shafer brings them against Frederick Alexander and Theodore R. Pell in the lower section of the semi-finals.

The most interesting contest of the day was between Groesbeck and McKay and Guggenheim and Williams. The latter put up an unexpectedly strong defense to the attack or Groesbeck and McKay, each set going to deuce. The later pair steadied at the right time and won each set by the same score, 7—5, 7—5.

William B. Cragin, Jr., was the only player to reach the semi-final round in the consolation singles, and, judged by his form, he should have little difficulty in winning the first prize. The summary:

Men's Indoor Singles Championship.—Fourth Round.—Gustave F. Touchard defeated G. C. Shafer, 6—1, 7—5.

Men's Indoor Doubles Championship.—Third Round—Gustave F. Touchard and William B. Cragin, Jr., defeated Karl Behr and B. S. Prentice, 4—6, 6—3, 6—4; H. F. Guggenheim and H. A. Williams defeated George Aranyi and Dr. John Minkus by default.

Fourth Round—George S. Groesbeck and J. C. McKay defeated H. F. Guggenheim and H. A. Williams, 7—5, 7—5; Wylie C. Grant and G. C. Shafer defeated L. V. Robinson and G. G. Grenze, 6—1, 6—2.

Men's Consolation Singles.—Second Round—W. D. Bourne defeated L. V. Robinson, 3—6, 6—3, 6—0; H. W. Robinson defeated Livingston Platt by default; Dr. J. W. Travell defeated J. F. Patterson by default.

Third Round—King Smith defeated M. S. Hagar, 6—2, 6—3; W. D. Bourne defeated C. C. Edwards by default; H. W. Robinson defeated N. E. Petterson, 6—0, 6—0; H. S. Mellick defeated C. A. Sparks, 8—6, 6—4, 6—1; William B. Cragin, Jr., defeated A. C. Postley, 6—1, 6—2; Dr. J. W. Travell defeated H. B. Caldwell, 6—2, 6—1.

Fourth Round—William B. Cragin, Jr., defeated Dr. J. W. Travell, 6—0, 6—1.

Defaults in National Racquets.

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—Many defaults marked the opening of the national singles racquet championship to-day. One match in the preliminary round was played during the forenoon, H. D. Scott, Boston, defeating G. M. Hecksher, New York, 18—14, 15—6, 15—12. Hecksher demonstrated that he had good command of all the strokes, and forced Scott to play his strongest game. W. P. Burden, New York, defaulted to Norman Cabot, Boston; George C. Clarke, Jr., New York, to Dwight F. Davis, St. Louis; Gordon Douglass, New York, to G. A. Thorne, Chicago, and R. D. Wrenn, New York, to Barrett Wendell, Jr., Boston.

Heavyweights at Empire A. C.

Heavyweights will be the star attraction to-night at the Empire A. C., with Tony Ross of New Castle, Penn., opposing Jim Coffey, the Dublin Giant, in the main event of ten rounds. Coffey trained for the event at the New Polo A. A. and received the expert advice of Mike Gibbons, while the latter was here in an attempt to get Packey McFarland to come to terms. The card will comprise two other ten-round bouts, in which well-matched boxers have been slated. In the semi-final Sam Robideau of Philadelphia will be the opponent of "One-Round" Hogan, the California lightweight, who has not boxed hereabout for nearly a year. The opening bout will bring together Phil Cross and Jimmy Harvey of Harlem. Cross has been resting up for some time, but has decided to get back into action, and in stacking up against Harvey will engage a formidable opponent.

Ladies' Jumping Class at Central.

A ladies' jumping class and polo game of two periods furnished the equestrian entertainment last night at the Central Park Riding Academy, following the weekly music ride. The jumping class developed keen competition with eight nominations, and M. J. Alyward and G. von Karlowski in making their decisions had to deliberate some time before announcing their choice. The blue rosette finally fell to the lot of Miss M. Content on the bay gelding Hunter. Second was awarded to Miss F. Slee on a brown mare, Nellie, third and fourth ribbons being awarded to Miss D. Spooner on Dimple and Miss T. Galvin on Elwood. In the polo contest the White Team, composed of O. W. Coleman, W. Gilman, and R. Morgan lost an exciting game by one goal to the Red Team, composed of N. Wilder, J. E. Maher, and T. Giblin, the score being 4 to 3.

COLUMBIA TEAM ROUTED.

Cornell Wins at Basket Ball, 41 to 21—Two Players Fight.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Cornell crushed Columbia in a keenly contested basketball game here to-night by the score of 41 to 21, playing the New Yorkers off their feet in the first half and checking a Columbia rally in the second period. Cornell's smashing offense brought down Columbia's defensive game. Lunden and Brown starred, throwing six field goals each, some of them of sustained character. So fast and hard did Cornell press the Columbians in the first half that the Ithacans piled up 18 points to the New Yorkers' 4.

The Columbia team was hard hit after seven minutes of play, when Benson was put out of the game for four personal fouls, and in the second half the enforced retirement of Capt. Meenan was also a blow. Meenan and Hal Halsted engaged in a fight, the Columbia Captain taking several jabs at the Cornellian, which the latter ducked. It took ten men to hold them from each other. The line-up:

Cornell.	Position.	Columbia.
Lunden	Right forward	Dwyer
Brown	Left forward	Meenan
G. Halsted	Centre	Wegener
H. Halsted	Right guard	Lee

Goals from field—Lunden, (6,) Brown, (6,) G. Halsted, (3,) Jandorf, (2,) H. Halsted, Lee, Meenan, (3,) Wegener, Dwyer, (3.) Goals from foul—G. Halsted, (5,) Lee, (5.) Substitutes—Ashmead for H. Halsted, Snell for Wegener, Reynolds for Benson, Burghardt for Meenan. Referee—Mr. Sommers of Pennsylvania. Umpire—Mr. Wendell of New York City. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

Church A. L. Basket Ball.

In the Church Athletic League basket ball series the Christ Church quintet last night defeated the Madison Square team 28 to 24. This victory leaves a triple tie for first place between Christ Church, Madison Square, and Grace Church.

Results of Basket Ball Games.

The Evander High School quintet of Westchester was defeated yesterday by the Cathedral College Midgets by the score of 36 to 0. The feature was the playing of Shanahan.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Feb. 18.—The Hackensack High School girls' basket ball team retained its title to-day by defeating the girls' team from Paterson High School by the score of 19 to 4.

LAWRENCEVILLE, N. J., Feb. 18.—In a fast game the Princeton freshman basket ball team to-day defeated Lawrenceville by the score of 19 to 32.

The first and second teams of Kingsley School were successful in their games with the first and second teams of Westfield High School, yesterday, on the former's court at Essex Fells, N. J. In the first team game Kingsley won by the score of 47 to 12. The preliminary game, between the second teams, resulted in a victory for the Kingsleys by the score of 27 to 4.

High School of Commerce yesterday defeated the St. Paul's School quintet, on the latter's court at Garden City, L. I., by the score of 32 to 4.

BOSTON FENCERS LOSE.

Fencers' Club Dueling Sword Team Best in Eddy Trophy Bouts.

There was a good bit of realism in the dueling sword team competition for the Eddy trophy last night at the Fencers' Club, when each touch registered was easily discerned by the aid of a bloodlike substance on the point of the weapons of the contestants, several of whom were pinked so forcibly on body and arms as to leave red clots, which had all the appearance of blood.

The Fencers' Club trio, composed of Dr. D. W. Cairns, George C. Haas, a former Yalensian, and Arthur S. Lyon, were victorious in the tourney after a series which required trials and a final round. Their opponents in the bouts for the team and individual prizes represented the Boston Athletic Association, the members being Dr. F. W. Allen, F. S. Curtiss, and J. R. Gilman.

These teams had triumphed earlier in the session by defeats of the New York Turn Verein and New York Athletic Club, respectively, when the ultimate team winners beat the Turn Verein men by five bouts to three, and the Unicorn trio almost got through unscathed by defeat when they lowered the colors of the Winged Foot team by five bouts to one. The summary:

Boston Athletic Association vs. New York Athletic Club.—Curtiss, B. A. A., defeated Parker, N. Y. A. C.; Gilman, B. A. A., defeated MacPherson, N. Y. A. C.; Allen, B. A. A., defeated Curti, N. Y. A. C.; Curtiss, B. A. A., defeated MacPherson, N. Y. A. C.; Curti, N. Y. A. C., defeated Gilman, B. A. A.; Allen, B. A. A., defeated Parker, N. Y. A. C. Won by Boston Athletic Association, 5 bouts to 1.

Fencers' Club vs. New York Turn Verein.—Brancato, N. Y. T. V., lost to Haas, F. C.; Haas, F. C., lost to Broncato, N. Y. T. V.; Cathcart, N. Y. T. V., defeated Lyon, F. C.; Cairns, F. MOTOR TRUCK CLUB HEARS ROAD TALK

Dr. Hewes of U. S. Office of Public Roads Tells of Highway Expenditure of $1,700,000,000 in Decade.

At a meeting of the Motor Truck Club of America, held at the Automobile Club of America last night, Dr. L. I. Hewes, chief of the Bureau of Economics, United States Office of Public Roads, gave an illustrated talk on road conditions and statistics in various parts of the country. Dr. Hewes pleased the members of the club greatly by saying that in his opinion the cost of road maintenance, although it had been increased in the gross by the advent of the motor vehicle, had not been increased greatly in proportion to the units carried. He said that in the last decade about $1,700,000,000 had been spent upon roads in this country; that a total of $160,000,000 had been expended in State aid alone, for which some 25,000 miles of excellent roads had been constructed, and that the total of road bonds of all characters issued before 1914 amounted to $446,000,000.

More than $6,000,000 in motor vehicle fees had been collected in 1913, the speaker said, and he added that in Massachusetts last year the cost of highway maintenance was very nearly met by the automobile fees alone. Dr. Hughes outlined the findings of the various international road congresses to the effect that the principle restrictions necessary for motor trucks, in order to safeguard roads were those of weight on the heavy axle, weight per inch of tire width and speed. The consensus of opinion on these three points seemed to be, he said, that the maximum weight on an axle should be 8,000 pounds, the maximum per inch of tire width 800 pounds, and the maximum speed about 15 miles an hour. The talk was illustrated by a series of interesting pictures of road conditions before and after improvement in the South and West.

At the third annual dinner of the Automobile Dealers' Association last evening Mitchell May, Secretary of State; Horace A. Bonnell of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, A. G. Batcheller of the American Automobile Association, and Herbert L. Carpenter, President of the Brooklyn Motor Vehicle Dealers' Association, were guests. R. H. Johnston acted as Chairman of the dinner committee. The following Directors were elected to serve for one year: M. J. Budlong, C. M. Brown, Frank Eveland, R. H. Johnston, John F. Plummer, Sidney B. Bowman, William Parkinson, C. H. Larson, H. L. Stratton, and William C. Poertner.

REFUSE TO AWARD PRIZE.

Judges Fear Wrath of Women Riders at Durland's Horse Show.

A novel situation arose at the weekly horse show last night at Durland's Riding Academy, Sixty-sixth Street, near Central Park West, when two judges declined the honor of judging a class in which the silver cup was offered for the best woman rider. It was intended to combine the award with the women's saddle horse class, but the judge decided to separate the awards. After making the award for the horse, the women changed horses and the judge asked for assistance in his task. A second judge was secured, but after a short session in the ring he retired, and was followed by the original judge. The duties of judging then fell to the donor of the cup, whose award pleased the big crowd of spectators and satisfied the riders.

In the opening class a complication arose which required considerable diplomacy to adjust. The event was for the best lady's saddle horse, with women to ride on side saddle for a cup presented by William Durland. A second silver cup was donated for the best rider. J. Garner West, the judge, declined to take the responsibility of selecting the winner of the second cup. Godfrey Preece was impressed into service, but after being in the ring for some time Mr. Preece withdrew and B. F. S. Gregory, the donor of the cup, was substituted. He accepted the difficult task and relieved Mr. West. The premier award went to Mrs. J. von Klein, who rode Miss A. A. Dodsworth's bay gelding, Highland Laddie. Miss Louise van Wyck was second and Miss Sophie Pond third.

In the saddle horse class, the entries were judged, their manners, performance, and conformation. Seven horses competed for the prize and it was expected that George Chipchase's splendid bay gelding Superman would repeat his victory of the previous show, but the judge selected W. B. Miller's black mare, Sallie Baldwin, ridden by the owner's daughter, Miss Helen Ryder. The decision hardly met with the approval of the spectators and the rail experts, who thought Superman not only went through his paces in a more approved manner, but showed to advantage in conformation. Superman was placed second after being well ridden by Miss Louise Van Wyck. The riding had much to do in securing the cup to Sallie Baldwin, as Miss Ryder brought out all the best qualities of the winner. The summaries:

Ladies' Saddle Horse, side saddle only to be used; lady riders; manners, performance, and conformation; prize presented by William Durland.—Won by W. B. Miller's blk. m. Sallie Baldwin, ridden by Miss Sophie Pond; George Chipchase's b. g. Superman, ridden by Miss Louise Van Wyck, second; Dr. Ryder's ch. g. Tip, ridden by Miss Helen Ryder, third; Miss Clara Jefferson's b. g. Penny Royal, ridden by owner, fourth.

Riding Class; best woman rider in Ladies' Saddle Horse Class.—Won by Mrs. J. Von Klein, who rode Miss A. A. Dodsworth's b. g. Highland Lassie; Miss Louise Van Wyck, second; Miss Sophie Pond, third.

Harness Horses, 15.1 hands and over, to be driven to a gig.—Won by Emil Seeleg's b. g. Sportsman; O. J. Gude's b. g. Lord Cimbeo, second; B. F. S. Gregory's b. m. Lady of the Manor, third; M. S. Weil's ch. g. Chapple, fourth.

Horses suitable to become hunters, (walk, trot, and canter;) conformation and manners to count.—Won by N. J. Hess's ch. g. Cadbury; Mays Stock Farm's b. g. Viking, second; George Chipchase's b. g. Sapotis, third; J. Hannsens's ch. g. Reve d'Or, fourth.

Jumping Class, over 4 feet and 4 feet 6 inches.—Won by Miss Marshall's Blackbird; George Chipchase's Sapotis, second; Mr. Rolling's Cricket, third; J. Hennsens's Reeve d'Or, fourth.

Brooklyn Yacht Club Dinner.

Members of the Brooklyn Yacht Club, the oldest incorporated yachting organization in the country, held their fifty-eighth annual dinner at the Assembly, in Brooklyn, last night. Commodore Conrad V. Dykeman presided. Flag officers of the various clubs that the Brooklyn tars visited last Summer were guests. Among others were Paul R. Towne, President of the Marine and Field Club; W. W. Butcher, Jamaica Bay Yacht Club; Edgar F. Luckenback, Commodore of the yachting department of the Crescent Athletic Club, and J. Stuart Blackton, Commodore of the Atlantic Yacht Club. W. F. Higgins, Chairman of the Regatta Committee, announced that the annual regatta of the club would be held on Gravesend Bay, off the Atlantic Yacht Club, on Aug. 1.

Knickerbocker Yacht Club Election.

More than a hundred yachtsmen, whose power and sail craft fly the pennant of the Knickerbocker Yacht Club, mustered at the Hotel Manhattan last night at the annual dinner of that organization, which has its club house at College Point and its station at Port Washington. At the annual meeting, preceding the dinner, it was shown that the club is in a sound financial condition, with a large membership and a fleet of about 200 yachts. The officers elected were as follows: Commodore, W. F. Duffield; Vice Commodore, C. L. Carson; Rear Commodore, E. C. Marsh; Secretary, J. O. Sinkinson; Treasurer, George H. Cooper; Measurer, W. C. Leiber; Fleet Surgeon, W. H. Peer, M. D.; Board of Directors, Rodman Sands, Harry Stephenson, W. B. Beam, F. L. Kraemer, and Alfred Schoen.

DRAFT AGREEMENT ON BOSTON & MAINE

Provides Complete Divorce from New Haven, Whose Directors Will Consider It To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. — Howard Elliott, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad system, left Washington at midnight for New York, taking with him the draft of a tentative agreement for the dissolution of the merger of the New Haven and the Boston & Maine Railroads. It provides that there shall be a complete divorce, not only in stock ownership, but in management.

The agreement was reached late this evening between representatives of the New Haven, the Department of Justice, and the State of Massachusetts. It will be submitted to the Directorate of the New Haven at a meeting in New York to-morrow. The agreement is incomplete, however.

On two of the most vital points involved, those who participated in the conference were unable to agree. These points at issue related to the personnel of the Trustees to manage the Boston & Maine properties and the period that the trusteeship should continue. It was said to-day by one of the parties to the conference that the matter of the term of the trusteeship might be referred to the Federal courts.

Chairman Elliott and the other New Haven representatives insisted that the trusteeship should last for at least ten years. They contended that at the present low market value of Botson & Maine stock the holdings of the New Haven in the Boston & Maine could not be disposed of without great loss to the New Haven, which had paid for this stock several times its present value, and could not hope to get back the purchase price until the road was in better financial condition.

The representatives of Attorney General McReynolds resisted this argument. They indicated that in no event would the Government consent to make the term of the trusteeship longer than five years. In fact, they indicated that the Attorney General would not consent to a trusteeship having a life longer than two years. The difference that arose over this problem was not adjusted when the conferees adjourned late to-night.

Differences arose over the selection of the trustees, the number of whom it had been agreed should be five. Gov. Walsh of Massachusetts, who took part in the conferences, submitted five names and explained that his nominees were all men of standing in character and that all of them lived in New England. Chairman Elliott, for the New Haven, submitted the names of twelve New Englanders.

The representatives of the New Haven insisted that the Trustees should be men of the highest financial standing who would have the confidence of financial interests. They contended that, as the Boston & Maine would be obliged to meet obligations amounting to $47,000,000 next Summer, it was essential that the Trustees should be of such high financial character as to insure their ability to obtain money to meet these obligations.

On the other hand the representatives of the Department of Justice and Gov. Walsh held that the board should represent all shades of public opinion. Apparently, however, Gov. Walsh has modified this view somewhat, for he said to-night that he thought the Trustees should be men of the highest standing in the financial community.

One of those suggested by Gov. Walsh for a trusteeship is ex-Chief Justice Knowlton of the Massachusetts Supreme Court. Mayor Curley of Boston suggested J. J. Martin, President of the Boston Real Estate Exchange. It was agreed by those who took part in the conference that one of the Trustees should be a New Hampshire man, and a suggestion was made that Allen Hollis, a brother of Senator Hollis of New Hampshire, be chosen.

LAWYER SAITTA INDICTED.

Lemon Exporter in Italy Says Payment for Fruit Is Withheld.

Philip S. Saitta, one of the lawyers who appeared for members of the Musica family when they were brought back from New Orleans to answer charges of stealing $600,000, was arrested yesterday on a bench warrant issued by Judge Wadhams in General Sessions. Saitta was indicted on a charge of grand larceny, preferred by Joseph Fazio, a lemon exporter of Catania, Italy. Saitta gave $5,000 bail.

According to the indictment, Saitta has refused to transmit to the exporter $1,863, the proceeds of auction sales of Italian lemons. This money, it is charged, was turned over to him by the auctioneers who sold the lemons. Fazio, it is said, had received circulars in Italy from a man who had a name similar to that of a well known agent for importers, and in response had sent two shipments of lemons.

According to the complaint, the lemon growing district of Italy was flooded with these circulars.

Saitta denied emphatically yesterday that there had been any fraud.

SULZER SETTLES A CLAIM.

As Result, May Be Liable for Bills He Thinks State Should Pay.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 18.—In settling a bill to-day rendered by a man employed as gate tender at the Executive Mansion during the recent impeachment proceedings, William Sulzer is believed by attorneys to have made himself liable for many accounts he contracted personally during the proceedings.

Ralph B. Tompkins was the gate tender, and he brought suit against the former Governor for $96. The case was settled for $109.40, being the full amount of the claim, costs, and interest.

Mr. Sulzer maintained that the claim was a charge against the State, and in settling he took an assignment of it from Mr. Tompkins. The case probably will be appealed to the Board of Claims. Should the board refuse to allow the account it is believed that holders of a great number of unpaid claims of a similar nature will seek to hold the former Governor personally responsible for their money.

WINS EFFECTS FROM WIFE.

Mrs. Hood Ordered to Turn Over $50,000 Furnishings.

A decree in favor of Richard Haden Hood, a mining engineer, of New York, was signed yesterday by Vice Chancellor Stevens in Newark in the personal property suit brought by Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood of Plainfield, N. J. Mrs. Hood recently obtained a decree of divorce from her husband.

The decree directs that Mrs. Hood return to Hood about $50,000 worth of etchings, rugs, bric-à-brac, and other furnishings in the Plainfield home. It is further directed that the ownership of about twenty-five other articles be determined by Frederick F. Guild, as special master, as the Hoods and their counsel have been unable to agree.

LABOR ACCUSES U. S. JUDGE.

Dayton of West Virginia Alleged to be Hampered by Prejudice.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Charges against Federal Judge A. D. Dayton of the Northern West Virginia District were filed with President Wilson to-day in a petition by a committee of the United Mine Workers and the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly, asking for an investigation.

Judge Dayton was charged with prejudices which incapacitated him from sitting as a Judge, and the petition contained allegations intended to support that charge. President Wilson promised to consider the petition and refer it to Attorney General McReynolds.

MUST ACCEPT TICKETS.

Sufrin Bill Validates Steamship Agents' Sales.

A bill has passed the Assembly, and will go to the Senate to-morrow which provides:

> Every steamship ticket for the transportation of a person upon or across the Atlantic Ocean, bought and paid for by any person, shall be valid and not subject to cancellation by the person, firm, association, or corporation operating the line or lines of steamships upon which transportation is covered by such ticket, if such ticket was sold either by a lawfully authorized agent of such person, firm, association, or corporation or by a sub-agent of such agent or by any sub-agent deriving his authority through a series of one or more sub-agents, even though, by agreement or otherwise, between the agent and principal, the constituting of such sub-agents may have been invalid.

The bill carries with it a penalty of $500 for each refusal to recognize the ticket as valid, or to refuse transportation to a person presenting it. Assemblyman Solomon Sufrin of the Eighth District, who introduced the bill, gave these reasons yesterday why the measure should become a law:

"The bill is intended to reach the installment steamship ticket peddlers, of whom there are many on the lower east side. A man here, for instance, may desire to bring his wife and child from abroad, or he may have three or four relatives whom he wishes to have join him here, but he cannot raise sufficient funds to pay at once the full price of the tickets. He therefore buys the tickets from a peddler, agreeing to pay a bonus of $10, and 6 per cent. interest on the cost of the ticket or tickets, making payments in sums of $2 or more a week.

"Now, it has frequently happened that the agent of a steamship, a banker or other firm representing the steamship company, from whom the peddler gets his tickets, has been unable to collect, or for some reason terminates his dealings with the peddler, and has thereupon notified the steamship companies to cancel certain tickets when presented on the other side. This system has caused much suffering and loss to immigrants and others who were the innocent victims."

RUN ON CUNEO'S BANK.

Depositors Have Been Making Withdrawals Since Saturday.

Reports of property losses through fire to corporations with which Andrew Cuneo is identified have caused a run for several days upon the private bank at Mulberry and Park Streets of which he is the head. The bank is one of the oldest private banks in this city, and, according to Frank Motone, the cashier, it is perfectly solvent. All day yesterday a long line of depositors stood in front of the bank and at times there were as many as a hundred persons inside the doors waiting to be paid off. All who sought to make withdrawals were promptly accommodated. Since last Saturday, it is said, $200,000 of the total deposits of $300,000 have been withdrawn.

J. H. Tencheon, one of the Managers of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, in charge of the Long Island branch of that institution, in which are kept the deposits of the Atlantic Macaroni Company of Brooklyn, of which Mr. Cuneo is President, visited the bank yesterday afternoon with $50,000 in bills of small denominations with which to help to pay off the depositors.

The Atlantic Macaroni Company's plant burned last November and a distillery in New Orleans which Mr. Cuneo had opened two weeks ago was destroyed by fire last Saturday night. A telegram was sent to Mr. Cuneo in New Orleans asking him to return to this city and he is on his way here to take charge of affairs at the bank.

HITS AT BARGAIN FOLLIES.

Housewives' League Wants Standard Prices and Standard Goods.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Representing the Housewives' League of America, Mrs. Christine Frederick of Philadelphia aroused intense interest before the Judiciary Committee of the House when she arraigned the "folly of women who spend half a day, 6,000 calories of energy and 10 cents in carfare to rush downtown to take advantage of a cut price, a 25-cent toothbrush selling for 15 cents."

The cost of doing business to the department store, Mrs. Frederick said, was about 30 per cent., and that from 90 to 98 per cent. of retailers in all lines favored price maintenance. She asserted that the price-cutting stores let the sincere manufacturer spend money to tell consumers his standard and his ideals and then publicly assaulted him and tried to rob him and the consumers of the benefits of the standardized fixed quality and price, so valuable to consumers.

Mrs. Frederick asked for legislation that would enable full and frank knowledge about every article and encouragements to the manufacturers to bring about price decrease and service increase to the consumer.

NOW TO SUE FUEL COMPANY.

Follows Government's Conviction of 3 Officials of Customs Conspiracy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Suit to recover $21,633 in customs duties from the Western Fuel Company of this city is to be filed by the Government, according to announcement made to-day by W. H. Tidewell, chief agent of the Treasury Department, as a sequel to last night's conviction of conspiracy of the Vice President and two employes of the company. The amount, Tidewell says, represents an excess the Government paid in customs drawbacks on imported coal over the duty collected on the same shipments.

James B. Smith, Vice President and General Manager; F. C. Mills, Superintendent, and E. H. Mayer, a weigher, convicted in the United States District Court, are to appear Saturday for sentence.

BIG YALE DINNER PLANNED.

First Since 1909 Now Being Arranged for March 13.

A Yale dinner, the first to be given here since 1909, is being arranged for March 13 at the Waldorf. It is expected that it will be one of the largest gatherings of Yale men that ever met in New York as graduates and undergraduates of all departments, to say nothing of Yale men who began and didn't graduate, are included in the general invitation.

Ex-President Taft and President Hadley of Yale will be among the chief speakers.

S. Reading Berton is Chairman of the Dinner Committee and Marshall J. Dodge of 40 Wall Street is Secretary and Treasurer.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has promulgated the eligible list for Inspector of Repairs and Supplies, Grade 3. The examination was held on Nov. 26, and was taken by 212 persons, of whom 57 were successful. Those who obtained a rating of more than 75 per cent. are as follows: Leo J. McDermott, 86.40; Hugh M. EARLY RATE RULING DESIRED BY WILSON

But It Is Denied That He Asked Commerce Board to Expedite Decision on Advances.

WOULD BENEFIT BUSINESS

Party Advantage in Presidential and Congressional Campaign Seen in Granting Increases.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Following a conference at the White House to-day between President Wilson and E. C. Clark, the Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, reports were circulated that the President had asked Mr. Clark to expedite the commission's decision in the 5 per cent. freight rate advance. The reports were denied later by Chairman Clark and at the White House, but it was added that the President hoped for an early decision.

Mr. Clark had gone to the White House at the President's invitation to furnish information desired by Mr. Wilson in regard to the progress the commission was making in its investigation of the physical valuation of railroad properties, and as to the opposition in the Senate to the confirmation of the nominations of Winthrop M. Daniels of New Jersey, and Henry Clay Hall of Colorado to be Interstate Commerce Commissioners.

After seeing the President Mr. Clark was asked about the status of the advanced rate case and his explanation of the intention of the commission to expedite action was in some way interpreted to mean that he had discussed this phase of the subject with President Wilson.

The President has said that he would not discuss the advanced rate matter while it was pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission any more than he would discuss a case pending in the courts. There has been a general belief, however, that the President would be much gratified if the commission should grant the 5 per cent. advance in freight rates asked for by the fifty-seven Eastern railroads.

This belief is based on the fact that persons close to the President who have the political interests of the Wilson Administration at heart are openly in sympathy with the cause of the Eastern railroads. They hold that if the rate advance is granted by the commission business conditions will be produced that will be of material help to the Democratic Party in the next Presidential campaign, and even in the Congressional campaigns this year.

The attitude of the commission in regard to expediting the advance rate cases was made known in a Washington dispatch printed in THE TIMES of Tuesday. The statement was in explanation of the action of the commission on Monday in issuing an order further suspending until Sept. 12 the operation of the 5 per cent. advance freight tariffs. Following the announcement that the order had been issued there was depression in railroad stocks. It was explained on the authority of officers of the commission that the order was of the merest routine character, and followed the customary practice of the commission.

The commission's order for a further suspension of the proposed advanced rate does not mean that the commission will not hand down its decision in this case until Sept. 12. It means only that at some time within that period the decision will be rendered. As a matter of fact, the commission, according to statements of members, is making every effort to expedite the conclusion of the case, and it is confident that the decision will be announced not later than June.

ADVOCATES RATE INCREASE.

J. Stevens Ulman Says It Is Necessary to Business Revival.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 18.—J. Stevens Ulman of New York, in an address before the local Board of Trade today, expressed the view that there would not be any solid revival of business until the Interstate Commerce Commission had rendered its decision in the matter of the 5 per cent. freight rate increase asked for by the Eastern railroads.

Mr. Ulman suggested that manufacturers and merchants adopt resolutions urging the commission to grant the increase demanded and thus end the crisis.

"It is a novel experience and unquestionably without precedent," he said, "for meetings to be held requesting the Government to allow those who pay the freight, namely the shippers, to pay more for their transportation, but the shippers, who are the purveyors to the people of the country and cater to their wants, recognize that unless the railroads are in a position to take care of their requirements successfully and satisfactorily and to give employment to the large and varied interests that cater to the railroads, business in general throughout the United States must be in an unsatisfactory condition."

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The southwest depression of Tuesday night has developed into a barometric trough that stretches from Western Pennsylvania to Texas, with lowest pressure in Arkansas.

Rain has fallen in the Ohio and the Middle Mississippi Valleys, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Texas.

A second depression has entered California from the Pacific Coast, causing heavy rains in that State, and moderate rains in other Pacific Coast States.

The temperature has risen in Atlantic Coast districts, and fallen in the Lower Missouri Valley, Kansas, and Oklahoma. The present change to lower temperatures is not so great as the one experienced about a week ago.

The depression in Arkansas will cause rain throughout the Ohio Valley, the Gulf, South and Middle Atlantic States Thursday, and in New England Thursday night or Friday. There will be snow in the lower lake region and the mountain districts of Western Pennsylvania. Temperatures will fall considerably in the Gulf States and Lower Ohio Valley Thursday, and in Atlantic Coast districts Friday.

Winds for Thursday and Friday along the North Atlantic Coast will be moderate northeast, probably increasing; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate east to southeast; South Atlantic Coast, moderate south.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York—Snow Thursday. Friday fair; variable winds becoming moderate northeast.

Southern New England—Snow Thursday. Friday fair; increasing northeast winds.

New Jersey—Rain Thursday. Friday fair and colder; moderate east to southeast winds.

Western New York—Snow Thursday and probably Friday; moderate east to northeast winds.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Rain Thursday; snow in mountain districts. Friday fair, except snow or rain in northeast; colder Friday; moderate southeast to east winds.

Northern New England—Fair Thursday, snow by night or on Friday; moderate variable winds.

	1913.	1914.		1913.	1914.
3 A. M.	19	25	4 P. M.	36	30

COMMODITIES MARKETS

The grain markets lost ground yesterday after early firmness. Wheat declined from ⅛ to ⅜c., corn ⅜c. and oats ⅛ to ¼c. Cotton softened, final quotations showing losses reaching from 3 to 7 points. Cotton oil and provisions were easy.

WHEAT.

The wheat market showed continued firmness during the early session, but there was quite general selling throughout the afternoon, and at the close of the day values were at the lowest point of the session, with net losses of ⅛ to ⅜c. The Liverpool market, while firmer, failed to make a full response to our advance.

In the local cash market No. 2 hard Winter wheat was quoted at $1.00½ cost, insurance, and freight, to arrive; No. 2 red, $1.02¼ elevator; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.05¼ free on board, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.04½ free on board.

COTTON.

The cotton market was unsettled, with prices easing off under scattering liquidation and Southern selling. The close was steady, but from 3 to 7 points under the closing figures of Tuesday.

The New Orleans market will be closed from next Saturday to the following Wednesday morning, as Washington's Birthday will be observed on Monday, while the Mardi Gras festival falls on Tuesday. Southern spot markets, as officially reported, were unchanged to 1-16c lower.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet and unchanged at 12.90 for middling upland.

BANKRUPTCY SALES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—In the matter of SANITARY BEDDING CORPORATION, Bankrupt.

Take notice that, pursuant to an order duly entered in this court on the 11th day of February, 1914, the undersigned receiver of the estate of the above-named bankrupt offers for sale the property described below as an entirety, and will receive sealed bids therefore at the office of Blau, Zalkin & Cohen, 141 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before the 19th day of February, 1914, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which time and place the bids are to be opened by the receiver, and creditors may attend and pass thereon.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for ten per cent. of the amount therefor, the balance of the purchase price to be paid to the receiver within two days. The receiver reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

The property to be sold consists of the goodwill of the business formerly conducted by the bankrupt at No. 524 West 34th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, together with the stock of feathers, hair, and cloth for the manufacture of bedding mattresses, and machinery for the manufacture of bedding and mattresses, and fixtures, consisting of safes, desks, and partitions.

The property may be examined on the premises any day between nine o'clock A. M. and five o'clock P. M.

Special Notice. If the bids at public sale are rejected the property will be offered for sale at public auction by United States Auctioneer Shongood on Friday, February 20th, 1914, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the premises of the bankrupt, No. 524 West 34th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, in which case an additional notice of sale will be published in this paper on said date.

Dated New York, February 11th, 1914.

Prices Higher on Hope of Early Rate Decision—More Activity in Steel Trade.

Practically all other considerations yielded place in the shaping of prices on the Stock Exchange yesterday to the reports from Washington regarding a conference between the President and the Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission at which, it was said, the President had urged as much expedition as possible in arriving at a decision in the advanced freight rate case which is now before the Commission. The market was swayed by this report and by a denial later that any such suggestion had been made. Prices rose, reacted sharply and then recovered, ending the day with a moderate net gain in the general level of prices. Most of the day's changes of exceptional scope were recorded among the advances.

Wall Street received with much gratification the report that the President had used his good offices to bring about as early a decision as possible in the freight rate case upon which much hope for increased trade activity has been built. It was taken for granted that the most the President had done was to suggest the advisability of an early decision in this important matter, but the satisfaction with which the morning's report of the conference between the President and the Chairman of the Commission was received showed plainly enough that the financial community looked upon the report as carrying the inference that the decision would give some relief to the railroads. Despite the denial that the President and the Chairman of the Commission had discussed the rate case, the prevailing assumption was that the Commission's decision would now be forthcoming at an earlier date than had been expected up to yesterday.

The sensitiveness which the market showed to the contradictory reports on this subject brought into very clear relief the importance which is attached to the present effort of the railways to increase their freight rates. Even in quarters where it is assumed that an advance in rates would in no wise definitely solve the railroad problem as a whole it is felt that an advance would for a considerable time stimulate industrial activity by enabling the railroads to order more freely supplies which they have been buying as sparingly as possible. Even under present limitations the steel trade, which would benefit directly and largely by an expansion in railroad orders, has been creeping forward until now, according to yesterday's trade advices, the steel mills are operating at a higher ratio of capacity than at any time since the beginning of the year.

The Iron Age recorded in its weekly review that orders received by the Steel Corporation during the first two weeks of February averaged 10,000 tons a day more than in the corresponding period in January and that the corporation's plants are now operating at 80 per cent. of ingot capacity. Progress such as this in the face of limited railway buying is regarded as furnishing substantial ground for the belief that an increase in rates which would enable the railroads to resume improvement work and the purchase of equipment on a larger scale would greatly stimulate all the industries most directly serving the needs of the country's transportation system. Such a movement would of course very materially benefit the steel companies most dependent on railroad orders. Such concerns are not now experiencing improvement to the same extent as the companies which handle a large variety of steel products. Yesterday's events served to centre more attention than ever on the rate increase case. More definite indication of the time when a decision is likely to be rendered was being awaited with keen interest.

The heavy oversubscriptions to the underwriting of the Western Union stock which is to be sold by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company was in keeping with the eagerness which has lately been shown to join in underwriting ventures which since the beginning of the year have proven uniformly successful. Present money market conditions are making possible the accomplishment of tasks which would have been very difficult except for the radical change for the better which has taken place since the first of the year. In the broad application of this fact lies, indeed, one of the most important elements of improvement which has lately come about. The bond market as a whole is holding its own in sturdy fashion, the demand for seasoned bonds generally maintaining the higher prices lately established for them, and even the newer issues showing but little recession in quotations.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Chances for Profit on Both Sides.

The stock market yesterday gave considerable play to the skill of both bull and bear. On the theory that Great Northern preferred should decline in early operations because of the $19,000,000 new stock to be added to the existing supply, the bears sold this and the other leading railroad shares. The price list took on a heavy appearance in the first hour, and this condition became more marked shortly after 11 o'clock, when a raid was started by the bears and trading signs indicated a further decline.

Then came a decided change in sentiment and prices. Dispatches from Washington saying that President Wilson desired an early decision on the application of the Eastern railroads for higher freight rates not only stopped the raid but encouraged the doubting bulls to send in buying orders. The volume of transactions increased and quotations moved up again. The market later drifted back to its original position on the publication of other dispatches to the effect that the President was not really as actively interested in the Interstate Commerce Commission's doings as had been asserted. In the final trading prices softened substantially, but the net result of the day was still in favor of the bulls.

Railroad Gross Income Shrinks.

Railroads are reporting smaller gross earnings for the second week of February than for the first, and the Street finds the reports discouraging. In the first week of the growth fifteen out of the twenty-six roads which issued statements reported decreases amounting in the aggregate to $989,722, as compared with a total increase for the other eleven of $184,584. Yesterday figures for eleven roads for the second week were reported and of these one reported an increase, which amounted only to $10,764. Gross earnings of the other ten lines decreased $803,659. The roads reporting covered practically all parts of the country, so that the shrinkage of gross revenue, as compared with last year, was not confined to any particular territory.

Stocks Fall Fast, Rise Slowly.

The market adage that stocks fall faster than they climb has especial applications to the Standard Oil shares on the Curb. A few days ago, when the Atlantic Refining Company put out an unexpectedly poor account of earnings in 1913, the stock slumped more than 100 points in less than an hour. Its net loss for the day was about 90 points. Yesterday Standard Oil of California issued a report of operations in the past year which made the good record of the preceding year look commonplace, yet the best the market could do for the stock was to give it a 20-point gross gain, which was shaded down to a net advance of only 3 points. Union Tank Line, whose initial dividend has been awaited eagerly by the traders, showed an advance of 1½ points at the close, which had been saved from a gross upturn of no more than 6 points immediately after the declaration of a 2½ per cent. dividend.

Gas Company's Financing.

If the Street had been informed merely that the Consolidated Gas Company was preparing to sell new short term notes to take up $10,000,000 of other notes falling due toward the end of the month, there probably would have been much adverse comment yesterday on the company's method of financing. With the investment market ready to absorb quantities of long-term securities, there would have been room for criticism if the company had deliberately chosen the more expensive way of borrowing. As it was, temporary financing was made necessary by the fact that the Public Service Commission had not given consent to an issue of $15,800,000 stock by the New York Edison Company and to issues of stocks and bonds by the Astoria Light, Heat & Power Company, the proceeds of which would have gone to the controlling company's treasury to reimburse it for advances made. If these securities could have been realized upon, the Consolidated Company would not have needed to do any immediate borrowing on its own account and could easily have retired the notes. It is expected that the Public Service Commission will soon authorize the issuance and sale of the securities. The Consolidated Gas Company has $15,000,000 notes coming due on Feb. 25. Of this amount $5,000,000 will be paid off in cash and $10,000,000 in new notes of three and six months bearing interest at 4½ per cent.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Declines in Some Markets in London—Prices Slightly Higher in Berlin.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Money supplies are shrinking and discount rates were firmer to-day.

The recent plethora of new issues continues to weigh down the stock market, and trading was quiet and easy to-day. The chief declines were in home securities, rubber stocks, and Russian mines. The Continental favorites hardened in the late trading.

American securities opened quiet and steady. Canadian Pacific advanced 1⅝ and the rest of the list small fractions on covering during the forenoon, but later the market moved sluggishly, and it closed dull.

PARIS, Feb. 18.—Prices moved irregularly on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 87 francs 35 centimes for the account.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—Trading was quiet, but prices were firm and slightly higher on the Boerse to-day.

RUMELY CO.'S FINANCING.

Offer of $3,000,000 Cash Conditioned on Extension of Old Notes.

Bankers interested in the M. Rumely Company held a meeting yesterday to consider plans for raising funds as working capital for the concern's Spring output of agricultural machinery. Afterward this statement was issued in behalf of the company:

> The company has received assurances of approximately $3,000,000 of the $4,000,000 needed to meet the seasonal requirements of the current year. An effort is being made to secure pledges for the remainder. All the pledges, however, are conditioned upon the plan for the extension of the maturity of the two-year notes until March 1, 1918, being declared operative.
> The company is informed that almost half of the two-year notes actually have been deposited with the United States Mortgage and Trust Company as depositary of the Noteholders' Committee, of which John W. Platten is Chairman. Holders of about $2,000,000 additional notes have signified their willingness to deposit. Every effort will now be made to secure the deposit of the remaining notes in order that the funds pledges for the seasonal requirements may become available.

The notes referred to are a $10,000,000 issue and mature on March 1, 1915. Payment of interest on them on March 1 this year, it is intimated in the statement, may not be possible if the plan for extending the notes is not successful.

Mobile & Ohio Directors Re-elected.

N. Y. C. BOND ISSUE INQUIRY.

Commerce Board Hears Testimony on Proposed $167,102,400 Flotation

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—At the Interstate Commerce Commission's investigation of the proposed $167,102,400 bond issue of the New York Central system, which concluded to-day, A. H. Harris, Vice President of the New York Central lines west of Buffalo, said that the consolidation by the bond issue of the obligations of the New York Central, the Lake Shore, and other lines affiliated with them would lead to greater economies and greater efficiency in the operation of these railroads. The time had now come, he asserted, when there was need of a "system security"—that is, that the securities of all the affiliated lines should be guaranteed by the consolidated interests of these railroads. He pointed out that at the present time some of the securities of these roads could not be accepted by New York savings banks, but under the proposed financial arrangement their acceptance would be permitted.

C. H. Venner of New York and the Continental Securities Company protested against the proposed bond issue. His attorney, J. Aspinwall Hodge, declared that ultimately the New York Central intended to take over the Michigan Central, and charged that this would be a violation of the Sherman act, as the two roads were parallel.

Mr. Harris said that the allegation that the proposed bond issue would be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law did not concern the Interstate Commerce Commission. The commission, he said, had nothing to do with that aspect of the case. He asserted, however, that no violation of the Sherman law was involved in the financial transaction proposed.

Two mortgages on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad system, one for $167,102,400 and the other for $500,000,000, were filed in New York County yesterday. This action was taken in course of the New York Central's arrangement of the new plan for financing the properties.

The Bankers Trust Company was named as Trustee of the smaller mortgage, which was described as a consolidation mortgage. For the refunding and improvement mortgage of $500,000,000 the Title Guarantee and Trust Company was named as the Trustee.

SOME GAINS IN STEEL TRADE

But Lack of Railroad Orders Is Still a Discouraging Feature.

Steel trade activity has continued to increase since the opening of February, although the concerns most dependent upon railroad orders are still feeling the effect of scant buying by the railways. The Iron Age in its issue to-day says:

> Rolling mill operations are gradually increasing, and it is the general report that consumers are specifying on their contracts at an unusually full rate, indicating that replenishment is continuous and that some of it is urgent.
>
> Steel companies most dependent on railroad demand naturally find less reason than others for favorable forecasts. The Steel Corporation, with its wide diversity of products and its foreign trade, reports new bookings of 10,000 tons a day more in the first two weeks of February than in the corresponding days of January. It is operating this week at 80 per cent. of ingot capacity. Several independent steel companies are also running fuller than at the opening of the month, due largely to the demand for shipments in wire, sheets, tin plates, and tubular products. With all their efforts to keep from buying, the railroads are more than a negligible factor.
>
> Steel imports due to the lower tariff are so small that what is done gets exaggerated notice. At San Francisco the delivered price on 1,200 tons of bars recently brought in figures out less than 1 cent Pittsburgh. Our German letter tells of the first buying of hoops and bands in that market for shipment to the United States. Canadian wire products have invaded Maine in a straggling way.

The Iron Trade Review says:

> In some directions the recent improvement in buying of steel products seems less pronounced, but what has been gained in recent weeks seems to be maintained comfortably. The restriction of railroad buying still is one of the conspicuous points in which the steel industry is lacking for a prosperous condition of the mills. Rail orders remain backward, and equipment buying is only fair. The extension of the time for considering the Eastern railroads' petition for increased freights has produced some disappointment for those who have been hoping for a very early decision to clear the air, although this postponement had not been unexpected in the steel trade. Pig iron continues to show considerable activity with some advance in price on forward deliveries.

OIL CONCERN'S BIG PROFITS.

Standard of California Earns 42.9%—Tank Line's First Dividend.

The Standard Oil Company of California surpassed the expectations of shareholders by showing in the annual statement of operations for the year ended on Dec. 31 net profits of $19,386,140, as compared with $7,106,156 in the preceding year. The increase over 1912 was equivalent to 172.8 per cent., while the gain over 1911 was close to 400 per cent. The company's profits equalled 42.9 per cent. on the $45,000,000 stock outstanding at the close of the year.

"The increased production from the company's own properties," said President Schofield, "and its permanency during the year 1913, has been most satisfactory, the average daily production during the year 1912 being 10,846 barrels a day and during last year 26,575 barrels a day. In December the daily production was 39,572 barrels, which is still being maintained.

"In the inventories, amounting to $21,724,390, is included 24,310,310 barrels of crude oil in storage, the balance comprising the current stocks of all products handled by the company at its various stations on the Pacific."

The company values its properties at $50,459,206, a gain of more than $22,000,000 in the year. After paying dividends, a balance of $14,892,741 from the year's earnings was carried to the surplus account. A meeting of stockholders has been called for March 16 to vote on a proposal to increase the company's capital from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

The Union Tank Line Company, another of the former subsidiary concerns of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, reported for the year net income of $1,203,229. The Directors declared an initial dividend of 2½ per cent., payable on March 25 to stockholders of record on March 4.

The Best Rails
All railroads want increased rates. Some roads, which have been maintained in good condition over a long period of years, do not need the increases as badly as others.
If you buy the best rails now you can purchase them at prices which are low because of the plight of less fortunate properties.

COBE & McKINNON TO QUIT.

Chicago Financial Concern Organized Assets Realization Company.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The private banking and real estate firm of Cobe & McKinnon, organizer of the Assets Realization Company and identified with many financial projects, is being dissolved. The dissolution plan was decided upon two years ago, although it is intimated that the recent difficulties of the Assets Realization Company probably hastened winding up the affairs of the firm.

Ira M. Cobe is in New York and nothing could be learned to-day at the firm's offices regarding the details. The firm of Cobe & McKinnon has operated in Chicago about eighteen years.

BLAIR OUT OF JERSEY BANK.

Resigns as Its President to Conform to Federal Reserve Act.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Feb. 17.—C. Ledyard Blair of Blair & Co. of New York resigned yesterday as President of the Belvidere National Bank. Ex-Judge George M. Shipman of Belvidere was unanimously elected to succeed him. Mr. Blair resigned to conform to the requirements of the new National Reserve act.

Application was made by the Directors to enter the Federal Reserve system. The contract for remodeling the old bank was given out. When remodeled the bank will be one of the finest in the State.

Financial questions, business conditions, commercial developments throughout the world described in The New York Times Annalist, a high-class and dependable magazine. Every Monday, $4 a year. Single copies, 10 cents. Times Building, New York.—Adv.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Puzzles, Meter Jewels, and a Kind of Cotton Cloth Passed On.

Puzzles are not necessarily "toys," according to a decision of the United States General Appraisers made yesterday. The issue came before the Customs tribunal in the form of a protest by R. F. Downing & Co., representing C. J. Van Houten & Son, the Dutch chocolate manufacturers. It appears that the puzzles, composed of pieces of thin cardboard, are distributed to purchasers of the firm's products, and not ordinarily sold to children. Duty was claimed at the rate of 25 per cent. as printed matter. The Collector at New York returned the articles for duty at 35 per cent. under the provision for toys. Judge Sullivan sustained the importers.

The General Electric Company was sustained in a protest claiming duty at 35 per cent. ad valorem under the old law on sapphire meter jewels, as mineral substances under Paragraph 95. The Collector at Boston classified the jewels as semi-precious stones used in the manufacture of jewelry, and exacted duty at 50 per cent. under Paragraph 112.

It was decided that cotton cloth with a foundation composed of bleached cotton threads and figures formed by extra bleached lappet threads, and scalloped edges, is not an embroidery within the meaning of the old law. Collector Malone held the goods dutiable at 60 per cent. ad valorem as embroideries. W. B. Quaintance, the importer, asked for duty as countable cotton cloth at the appropriate rate under paragraphs 305 to 309 inclusive. Judge Cooper reversed the Collector, and held the goods properly dutiable at 35 per cent. ad valorem and 2 cents per square yard additional under Paragraphs 307 and 313.

CAR COMPANY'S BIG YEAR.

Increase in Net Earnings Follows Large Volume of Business.

The Pressed Steel Car Company had net earnings in the year ended with Dec. 31 of $2,374,816, as compared with $970,343 in 1912. After applying $180,000 to the depreciation account and paying $875,000 in preferred dividends, there was left for the common stock the equivalent of 10.50 per cent. In the preceding year less than 1 per cent. was earned for the junior shares.

President Hoffstot informed shareholders in the annual statement issued yesterday that the results were obtained through the large volume of business done and the fact that the plants were put into first-class condition in dull years.

$12,000,000 J. I. Case Co. Bonds.

A syndicate headed by Potter, Choate & Prentice and the First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago has bought $12,000,000 first mortgage serial bonds of the J. I. Chase Threshing Machine Company. The bonds will mature in yearly lots from Dec. 1, 1914, to Dec. 1, 1926. The company's quick assets exceed the amount of its obligations and the volume of business since Jan. 1 is said to have been larger than in any similar period of its history.

MEN

The railways have a growing rival in the "short haul" business. Millions of tons of freight and millions of passengers are being transported yearly over regularly established motor truck and motor bus lines in the United States. CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

There were rapid changes in the tone of the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Early in the day there was decided selling pressure but later there was a sudden shift with prices advancing sharply. The bears hurried to cover their short commitments. In the late afternoon, however, there came a sharp reaction. There was a transaction in Pacific Mail at 26, the only market for that stock in Wall Street all day.

Thinks Cutting Up Would Help.

Viewing the success that has attended recent jobbing sales of shorts, seconds, and remnants in various lines of textiles and the lack of interest shown by many buyers in merchandise on which they cannot get a special price, a local wholesaler said yesterday that he was thinking seriously of cutting up some of his less staple goods in order to get them moving. While this might in itself result in a loss of a few cents a yard he said that it would doubtless mean better receipts on the whole than letting the goods lie on the shelves practically untouched and allowing them to eat up interest and profit involved in them.

Makes for More Efficiency.

A stock girl in one of the large retail stores in Boston recently evolved an efficiency plan that is working successfully. The scheme is as follows: Each examiner who discovers an error in a sales slip is credited with five minutes time as a reward. Strict account is kept of all time obtained in this manner, and when one of the girls has earned two or three hours she is given that amount of time off on a day when she may want to leave the store early. The plan is resulting in the examiners giving more attention to their work, and the store and girls both benefit by the scheme.

Gray Goods Business Better.

A distinctly better tone was in evidence yesterday in the gray goods end of the local cotton goods trade. Better general buying than for some time was reported, though prices were without quotable change. One of the features of the day's demand was the increased call for sheetings. Among the print cloths 38½-inch, 64-60s, were about the most active, some excellent business having been done on this grade by prominent brokers at 5¼ cents. There were rumors in the market of lower prices than that quoted here, but so far as could be learned they were baseless. Reports of business received in the course of the day from both Fall River and New Bedford were not over optimistic, though there seemed to be a feeling that betterment is not far off.

For Mutual Insurance.

Seven prominent trade associations of this city have instituted a movement for the establishment of a mutual insurance association under the Workmen's Compensation law in this State. Representatives of these associations discussed the project recently at a meeting in the rooms of the Bar Association, at which time a plan was submitted by the Legislation Committee of the needle industries. While the plan was approved in the main, it was referred back to the committee for more definite information on several points, principal among which was the premium question. Now another conference will be called in the near future. These associations are interested in the scheme: Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' Protective Association, the Dress and Waist Manufacturers' Association, the Clothiers' Association of New York, the Wholesale Men's Furnishing Association, the Cotton Garment Manufacturers' Association, the Associated Fur Manufacturers of New York, and the Children's Dress Manufacturers' Association.

Like Jewelers' Resolution.

Hearty approval was expressed yesterday by several prominent local credit men of the resolution passed by the National Jewelers' Board of Trade at its recent convention in this city regarding a change in procedure in bankruptcy cases proposed by Judge Learned Hand. This proposal includes, among other reforms, the appointment of a temporary receiver, who shall act solely as custodian of the bankrupt's effects, and who shall be required within four days after his appointment to give creditors ten days' notice of a meeting to select their own receiver. It was said that this change would be a long step forward in the interests of the creditors in the adjudication of an insolvent estate, and the opinion was expressed that the sooner the change was made the better for the general good of business. Two additional resolutions passed by the jewelers on this point, one to the effect that the time for calling the meeting of creditors to act upon the choice of receiver should be shortened to a period not to exceed ten days from the appointment of the temporary custodian, and the other that it would be a good thing if the custodian should not be allowed to appoint an attorney or dispose of assets except in cases of necessity, were also thought well of.

BOLOGNESI CREDITORS MEET

Banker Puts Liabilities at $249,580 and Assets at $315,826.

The creditors of A. Bolognesi & Co., private bankers and custom house brokers of 52 Wall Street, who made an assignment on Friday to Francis Gilbert, met yesterday in the rooms of the Italian Chamber of Commerce at 203 Broadway. William Hartfield was made Chairman, and more than 300 creditors were present in person or by attorney.

Alesandrio Bolognesi, senior partner of the firm, submitted a statement of the assets and liabilities of the bank at the close of business on Feb. 11.

"At the very outset of my statement," he said, "I assert the fact that in making an assignment for the benefit of our creditors, my son and myself have not reserved or attempted to reserve, hide, secrete, or retain a single penny for ourselves or our family; that we have made no transfers of property in order to prefer one creditor over another, and that so far as we know our books are absolutely straight and in order.

"I make this statement, because I hope that before anything further is done, the creditors will appoint a committee of their own number or of members of the Italian Chamber of Commerce, who will cause my affairs to be audited by a certified public accountant, to the end that if this committee shall find that what I have just said is true, the creditors will aid me in rehabilitating my name and fortune, but if I have not told the truth that I have the condemnation I deserve."

Mr. Bolognesi placed the liabilities of the firm at $249,580, and the assets at $315,826. The latter consisted of cash in hand or in banks, $19,454; Italian currency, $758; stocks, bonds and investments, $82,195; real estate equities, $78,159; furniture, $1,000; accounts receivable, $20,238; bills receivable, $45,119; credit with the American Express Company, $24,033; due from the A. B. Manufacturing Company, $29,112; due from the Wright Storage Battery Company, $15,753.

Of these assets, however, an amount of the nominal value of $127,061 would only realize this value, if the A. B. Manufacturing Company and the Wright Storage Battery Company were permitted to continue in business. If they were closed down these assets would lose all value. The A. B. Manufacturing Company owns land, factory buildings, and machinery at Poughkeepsie and certain patents for the manufacture of automobile generators. The Wright Storage Battery Company owns certain patents, for which application has been made, and a secret process for the manufacture of automobile storage batteries. The A. B. Manufacturing Company has no money on hand, and the Wright Storage Battery Company only $2,000.

"My salvation and the salvation of the creditors," Mr. Bolognesi said later, "depends on what is done with the Wright Storage Battery Company. It is a real enterprise with real merit and real prospects. I firmly and honestly believe that if my son and I receive reasonable support and are permitted a period of a few months in which to work, that we shall be able to show a profit, which within a short time will pay every dollar I owe and entitle me to a return of my home."

The creditors determined to appoint a committee of five to look into the situation.

PAPER MEN IN SESSION.

Topics of Interest to Those in the Business.

With an attendance representing all sections of the country, the annual convention of the American Paper and Pulp Association yesterday opened a two days' convention at the Waldorf-Astoria. Yesterday's sessions were devoted to divisional meetings at which any changes or suggestions regarding trade customs and other matters were taken up.

The work of the various divisions will be presented to the convention to-day, which will also hear the reports of the officers. At to-day's general meeting of the convention addresses will be made and papers read, after which the election of officers will be held for the ensuing year. The convention will end with a banquet to-night in the hotel. Those who will address the convention to-day include F. Reichman, Superintendent of Weights and Measures, State of New York, and Prof. Ralph H. McKee, of the University of Maine, who will discuss "The Training of Young Men for the Manufacture of Paper and Pulp." A paper on "Sufficiency" is scheduled by W. H. Edgecombe, of the Emerson Company, while the "Development of Electrical Drive in Paper Mills," will be treated by W. L. Merrill, of the General Electric Company. Dr. Arthur D. Little, Official Chemist of the association, will make a report covering his activities the past year. Prof. Raphael Zon, Chief of Silvics, United States Department of Agriculture, Forestry Service, is also expected to speak.

At to-night's banquet, to be held in the ball room of the hotel, more than 500 members and friends are expected for the wind up of the convention. The National Paper Trade Association, which has been holding its annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria, came to a close last night with a banquet followed by a vaudeville entertainment. The Associated Dealers in Paper Mill Supplies who have been entertaining the visiting mill men and manufacturers attending the convention of the American Paper and Pulp Association held their annual dinner last night in the Grand Ball Room of the Hotel McAlpin. Many of the visiting paper men were present as guests.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The C. W. Polvogt Company, women's ready-to-wear garments, Wilmington, N. C., has transferred its account to the Joseph New Mercantile Company, resident buyers, 315 Fourth Avenue.

Hillman's of Chicago has turned over its New York account to the Jay Company, resident buyers, 116 West Thirty-second Street.

I. N. Mayer, formerly resident buyer for Hillman's, Chicago, is now merchandise Manager for the firm of Everybodys', El Paso, Tex.

The downtown offices of the Jay Company, resident buyers, have been moved from 70 Franklin Street to 105 Grand Street.

Among the out-of-town mill Treasurers in this market yesterday were Harold Lawton of the Lawton Manufacturing Company of Plainfield, Conn., and N. B. Borden, Jr., of the Barnard Manufacturing Company, Fall River.

WOOL MARKET STILL FIRM.

Week's Sales at Boston 4,520,000 Pounds—Cotton Goods Weak.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—The American Wool and Cotton Reporter will say to-morrow:

"The wool market remains firm and steady, with an undercurrent of optimism relative to prices for the new clip. Sales during the week in Boston have been 4,520,000 pounds, a considerable portion of which has been foreign wools, due entirely to the fact that the domestic supply is extremely limited.

"Yarn prices have advanced and spinners betray no anxiety to contract for large quantities. French spun yarns in half bloods have been in more active demand, though considerable quantities of Bradford spun 2-40s have been sold to manufacturers of men's wear.

"The cotton goods market has shown a slight weakness during the week, some staple fabrics being offered at a concession of one-sixteenth of a cent a yard, and many purchasers are inclined to believe that further concessions may be obtained in the near future. The most desirable cotton fabrics are crêpes, voiles, and novelty yarn cloths, and it is genrally thought that crêpes will be a leading feature for next season.

"The men's wear market is practicaly in full swing, nearly every manufacturer having his lines completed and ready to show the trade.

"The feature of the week has been the opening of many lines of fancy worsteds, most of these in medium-priced goods, such as are adapted to the cutting-up trade. Prices on these cloths do not show the drastic revisions in prices that have been found in the staple lines. Buyers are operating very conservatively, but indications are that a satisfactory volume of business will be accomplished.

"Thus far there has not been a large movement of Fall dress goods, as a majority of sales agents and buyers are still busy on Spring fabrics."

Nor Are Some Other Oils from the Customs Viewpoint.

The Treasury Department, acting upon representations made by S. S. Mack of Austin, Nichols & Co., and B. A. Levett, attorney for a score or more importers of olive oil, has issued an order to Collectors of Customs reversing its instructions promulgated in January directing the assessment of duty on olive oil when imported in packages of 2½ pounds or less at not less than 20 per cent. ad valorem under the provisions of Paragraph 17 of the new Tariff law, providing for "chemical and medicinal compounds."

At the time the Treasury's order was issued, importers objected on the ground that the olive oil in question was in no sense a chemical or medicinal compound, nor a combination of the kind referred to in Paragraph 17. The imposition of the high duty carried in this paragraph was also considered a hardship, as well as contrary to the intent of the framers of the law since olive oil is provided for by name in Paragraph 17, at specific rates according to the manner in which it is shipped.

Besides exempting olive oil from the operation of Paragraph 17, the new order also takes out of this provision oil of lemon, oil of oranges, peanut oils, fish oils and other rendered, expressed, distilled and essential oils, which are not mixed or compounded with other oils, earths, chalk and crude drugs, which are natural and uncompounded, and similar articles.

Morocco Plant at Sheriff's Sale.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 18.—Portions of the plant of the C. & J. Pyle Company, morocco manufacturers, were sold to-day at Sheriff's sale for $31,500. Frederick Pyle, one of the receivers and a member of the concern, was the purchaser. The remaining portions of the plant will shortly be sold at receiver's sale.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

W. Emlen Roosevelt Sells Plot on Upper Fifth Avenue—Buyer to Erect Private Dwelling—Resale of Broadway Apartment Houses—Investors Buying Bronx Borough Plots.

Further evidence of the improved condition of the private residence market in Manhattan was shown yesterday in the purchase for improvement with a high-class home of the plot at 882 Fifth Avenue, between Sixty-ninth and Seventieth Streets. The name of the new owner and prospective builder of another fine Fifth Avenue dwelling was not divulged by the brokers in the sale, William B. May & Co., beyond stating that he is a client of the Lawyers' Realty Company.

The property, fronting 30 feet by 175 deep, was sold for the Four West Fifty-seventh Street Company, controlled by W. Emlen Roosevelt. The latter took the plot last season from August Heckscher in part payment for the Roosevelt property at 4 West Fifty-seventh Street and 3 and 5 West Fifty-sixth Street, adjoining and abutting on the former Whitney corner acquired some time ago by Mr. Heckscher.

The new owner, it is said, will erect in the near future an English basement residence. It is in the heart of the choice residential section in the Lenox Hill locality. One block to the north is the new Frick home, covering the old Lenox Library block front, and on the south corner of Seventieth Street, one door above the plot sold, another fine residence is planned for the future.

The house adjoining the vacant plot just sold, to the north, is owned by John Sloan, and to the south is the Adolph Lewisohn residence, formerly the Heber R. Bishop home.

Broadway Apartments Again Resold.

A new owner has been found for the two apartment houses known as the Saxony and the De Witt, on the southwest corner of Broadway and Eighty-second Street, which were given in part payment a short time ago by Mrs. Morris K. Jesup to Bing & Bing for the seventeen-story apartment house on the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Seventy-ninth Street.

Soon after that deal Bing & Bing sold the Broadway property to Robert B. Dula, former head of the Ligget-Meyers Tobacco Company, and he has now turned the houses over to a buyer, who figures simply as an investor.

The latest sale was closed through the brokerage firms of the Loton H. Slawson Company and Hornor & Co. The Saxony occupies the immediate corner, being a seven-story house, 99.4 by 102, and the De Witt, a six-story house, adjoins on the street, having a frontage there of 55 feet.

Bronx Sales.

Kurz & Uren, Inc., has sold the two-family dwelling 820 East 145th Street, on lot 25 by 100, for the Mitchell McDermott Company, to an investor.

F. William Eggert has sold for Charles F. Halsted the three-story frame building 634 East 241st Street to a client for cash.

Lowenfeld & Prager have sold to an investor the five-story new law tenement occupying a plot 40 by 100.7 on the southeast corner of 180th Street and Clinton Avenue. The property was held at $70,000.

Dr. F. A. Becker has sold to a client of Charles Edelson for investment a plot 50 by 100 on the west side of White Plains Road 100 feet north of Waring Avenue.

Timothy J. Sullivan, who is said to represent a syndicate of investors, has made a number of purchases along upper White Plains Avenue in anticipation of the early completion of that section of the dual subway project.

The acquisitions he has made include the following: White Plains Avenue, southeast corner of 219th Street, a plot 89 by 100, with three three-story frame buildings; White Plains Avenue, northwest corner of 226th Street, a plot 64 by 80; White Plains Avenue, west side, 100 feet north of 238th Street, a plot 38 by 100; a plot, 114 by 100, at the northeast corner of White Plains Avenue and 233d Street, and a plot, 64 by 119, at the southeast corner of White Plains Avenue and 219th Street. The two last sales were negotiated by Max Just.

Ida Brantman purchased from the Martin Tully Company 2,345 Beaumont Avenue, a four-story flat on a lot 25 by 100 feet, and the two-story dwelling 3,075 Hull Avenue, on a lot 25 by 100. Andrew Selkin and David Mintz negotiated both sales.

Brooklyn.

B. J. Sforza has sold for Antonio Madeo the plot 40 by 95 feet on the east side of Fifteenth Avenue, 40 feet north of Sixty-second Street. The same broker also sold for Isabella M. Doig the plot 40 by 94 feet on the north side of Sixty-second Street, 240 feet west of Fifteenth Avenue.

Wood, Harmon & Co. have sold at South Marlboro two lots on Avenue X, near Gravesend Avenue, to R. B. Pennington. At Hyde Park, one lot on Kings Highway, near Avenue D, to J. W. W. Daniel; one lot on East Fifty-second Street, near Clarendon Road, to W. P. Graham, and one lot on East Fifty-third Street, near Clarendon Road, to J. C. Hinton. At East Midwood, one lot on East Twenty-first Street, near Avenue L, to S. A. Greenwood. Also three lots on Eighteenth Avenue, near Seventy-sixth Street, to A. J. Coakley, T. R. Worrell and Robert H. Roux.

Buys Westchester County Farm.

Julia Beverley Higgens has sold for Judge Henry Galbraith Ward and Henry Marquand fifty-one acres, farmhouse and outbuildings, at Katonah, N. Y., to the Rev. William Fincke of Manhattan.

Long Island.

The Ferry Building Company has sold to John F. Finnegan a plot of 100 feet fronting on Fulton Street, east of Ferry Street, Long Island City. There are stores and tenements on the property, and the consideration was said to be $75,000.

The Black Diamond Realty Company has sold to the United Realty Alliance forty lots southwest of the Rockaway Road and east of Ozone Park. The lots, which are in the development of the Interborough Estates, are located between Sutter, McCormack and Blackwood Avenues and Sutter Place.

The Windsor Land and Improvement Company sold at Oceanside to H. A. Brandius, W. Moeller and J. Reimers each a plot 40 by 100 feet on Oceanside Parkway; to C. Harer a plot 40 by 100 feet on Windsor Parkway; to C. N. Hahn a plot 60 by 100 feet on Yost and Oceanside Parkways.

Recent Buyers.

Margaret I. Hoyt is the buyer of the six-story apartment house, 100.11 by 100, at the southwest corner of Seventh Avenue and 115th Street, reported sold last month. The same buyer holds title to the similar building at the northwest corner of 114th Street, adjoining.

Frederick Ayer of Boston is the buyer of the Monroe Building, at 9 to 13 East Fifty-ninth Street, reported sold recently by the Owners' Building Company, Samuel A. Herzog, President. Mr. Ayer gave two acreage properties at Belle Haven, Conn, in part payment.

Moss Estate Buyers Organize.

The recently organized Moss Estate Taxpayers' Association, composed of the buyers of the Moss estate property in the West Bronx, sold at public auction by Joseph P. Day last Fall, was incorporated at Albany yesterday. Among the Directors are Edward J. Redington, George H. Tindall, Alfred Fergess, John Joseph Lord, and Lawrence J. Kelly.

The object of the association is to obtain public improvements necessary for the development of the property and cooperation among lot owners in the character and class of buildings to be erected.

Athletic Track on Broadway.

The vacant property on Broadway and Lafayette Street, below Astor Place, purchased several years ago by John Wanamaker, is about to be improved with a small club house for the Millrose Athletic Association, composed of employes of the Wanamaker store. This property has a front of 121 feet on Broadway, from 726 to 730, and 135 on Lafayette Street, the depth being 275 feet. The grounds around the clubhouse will be improved with tennis courts and a running track. The assessed value of the plot is $875,000.

Commercial Leases.

Budde & Westerman, manufacturers and importers of bottlers' supplies, have subleased from the estate of Frederick Beck the southwest corner of Seventh Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street. The lease is for a term of thirteen years at an aggregate rental of about $143,000. The property, which consists of a six-story building on plot 50 by 100, will be extensively altered by the lessee for occupancy on May 1.

Royal Scott Gulden has leased the residence at 24 East Fifty-seventh Street, adjoining the southwest corner of Madison Avenue, to a client who will alter same with stores for business purposes. This lease is for a term of ten years on a gross basis. Mr. Gulden has recently leased two other residences on this block, which have since been altered for business, to the John Chadwick Company and to F. N. Dowling.

Schindler & Liebler have leased for Henry Hoefener the four-story rear building at 217 East Eightieth Street to Patrick Hardiman for a term of years.

George Ketchum has leased for the Times Square Improvement Company to the Dr. Reed Cushion Shoe Company, for a long term of years, the large corner store and basement in the Hobart Building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Thirty-seventh Street.

J. G. White & Company have leased for Henry C. Heuer the store, basement, and sub-basement 144 Chambers Street, to Michael Lorenzo, for a term of years, at an aggregate rental of $30,000.

FIND MIX-UP AGAIN IN JURY REFORM

Chancellor-Sheriff Law Must Be Straightened Out in New Jersey.

SHIFT BLAME FOR DELAY.

Assembly Puts Onus on the Senate for Holding Back Suffrage Resolution.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 18.—New Jersey's latest jury reform tangle was called to the attention of the Legislature this afternoon in a resolution offered by Assemblyman Carlton Godfrey, Republican, of Atlantic City. Attorney General Wescott probably will be called upon to prepare an amendment to the new Chancellor-Sheriff act so that Jury Commissioners appointed a few days ago to serve for a year may be retired in ten months.

Under the new statute, the Chancellor names a man in each county of political faith opposite to that of the Sheriff and who serves with the Sheriff as a commission to draw all grand and petit juries. Seventeen of the twenty-one counties are to elect Sheriffs next November. If Atlantic County, for instance, elected a Democratic Sheriff next Fall, he and the Democratic Jury Commissioner would have to draw juries until February, when the latter's term would expire. This would be illegal, so, to straighten out the situation, the new law will have to be amended. When this is done, the terms of the present Commissioners will expire as soon as new Sheriffs are elected and the Chancellor will have to appoint others where the political complexion of the Sheriff's office changes.

The Assembly to-day sought to refute the allegations of suffragists that members and officials of that House had been negligent in sending the women's resolution to the Senate promptly after its adoption. The records of each branch were looked up and it was found that the resolution had passed the Assembly on Feb. 3 after the Senate had adjourned and was sent to the Senate Feb. 9, the date upon which both bodies reconvened. This puts the delay up to the Senate, which yesterday laid responsibility on the House.

The Leonard bill, requiring all railroad companies operating in New Jersey to pay their employes semi-monthly in cash, instead of by check, was passed by the Assembly to-day.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Lippincott has asked the Assembly's Judiciary Committee to hold a public hearing at an early date on the pending automobile legislation.

QUESTION $2,000,000 WILL.

Handwriting Experts Examine William Runkle's Testament.

The will of William Runkle, an iron manufacturer of Orange, who left an estate of $2,000,000, largely to friends and charity, is being closely examined by handwriting experts and lawyers for Harry G. Runkle, a brother, of Plainfield, N. J., who has filed a caveat against the will.

The testator left his only brother a trust fund of $250,000, and the residue of the estate estimated at about $500,000. He has engaged as counsel, ex-Gov. John W. Griggsand William J. Kingsey, a handwriting expert. Albert S. Osborneof New York, a handwriting expert, is said to have examined the will for the New York law firm of McCarter & English, counsel for W. E. R. Smith, of Orange, executor of the Runkle estate.

Several peculiar erasures and substitutes, it is said, appear in the testament.

PASSAIC WINS SNOW FIGHT.

Puts Piles Seven Feet Deep on Tracks and Subdues Trolley Co.

Special to The New York Times.

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 18.—Commissioner Reid of the Street Department ended a controversy with the Public Service Corporation to-day when he set 100 men at work piling snow upon the tracks upon which the trolley cars run. The Public Service Corporation after the recent storm had thrown the snow removed from the tracks to the adjoining roadways. In many places this snow was three feet deep.

City employes at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon began to ply their shovels on Passaic Street, between Main Avenue and McLean Street. In a short time they had piled snow seven feet deep on the trolley tracks. The cars were blocked as they could not plow through the snow. Then the city's men went to work on Main Avenue. There is heavy trolley traffic on this thoroughfare, and the Public Service Corporation's employes tried to get the city's employes to abandon their task.

The city's men had been at work about an hour when an official of the Public Service Corporation at Paterson telephoned to Commissioner Reid and said that men and cars soon would arrive in Passaic to celar away the snow. This was the sign of a complete victory for Commissioner Reid and the city. Not until cars arrived did the city's workmen cease their shoveling. Thousands of citizens cheered the city's employes as they piled the snow on the trolley tracks.

No Indictment Against Dr. Kidder.

BAYONNE, N. J., Feb. 18.—The Hudson County Grand Jury voted yesterday no indictment against the Rev. Dr. Scott Kidder, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Bayonne, who was accused by sixteen-year-old Ethel Paine. Dr. Kidder broke down as a result of the strain attending his hearing in the Bayonne Police Court, and he is now in a sanitarium in Connecticut.

IN NEW JERSEY.

BAYONNE.—Michael McBreen, a railroad watchman, found a man lying dead in the snow in a vacant lot near the Twenty-second Street station of the New Jersey Central yesterday morning. On the body was a book showing the membership of William Gray in the International Brotherhood of Machinists, a letter indicating that the dead man had boarded with a Mrs. E. Anderson, and a letter showing that the man's mother lives in Johnstown, Penn.

NEWARK.—Clarence A. Hodes is on trial for manslaughter for shooting to death Stanley Roe at 7 Bleecker Street on March 27 last. Roe and Hodes quarreled over $3. Hodes says the shooting was in self-defense.

VERONA.—After March 1 non-resident drivers of taxicabs and other public conveyances will be debarred from doing business in this town.

NEWTON.—John C. Williams died at his home on Water Street yesterday from injuries he received twenty-one years ago when he was kicked by a horse. He never fully recovered.

BLAIRSTOWN.—Henry Toppin found eleven deer feeding at his hay mow yesterday morning. They had eaten more than half a ton. Three black bears visited the barn yard of Henry Cyphers and killed three pigs and many chickens. One of the bears was almost killed in a battle with two collies. The wild animals have been driven from the mountains by the snow.

MORRISTOWN.—The Rev. George E. Morris of Calvary Baptist Church has accepted a call to the Kaighn Avenue Baptist Church of Camden, and will remove there in May.

TRENTON.—Mrs. Elizabeth V. H. Mansell, Matron of the New Jersey State Home for Girls, before the committee named by Gov. Fielder to investigate conditions at the institution, made a general denial to-day of the charges that corporal punishment is inflicted, and that girls are sent from the place because they are troublesome.

TRENTON.—With more than 250 delegates in attendance from all parts of the State, the annual convention of the New Jersey Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, opened yesterday in Masonic Temple. George H. Hild of Morristown will be installed to-day as Grand Chancellor.

MAY'S LANDING.—Thomas Williams, a chauffeur in the employ of Wilbert Beaumont, a wealthy contractor of Atlantic City, was acquitted yesterday on an indictment charging him with manslaughter. He ran his auto over Rose Amorosi, the seven-year-old daughter of Louis Amorosi, a bandmaster employed on the Million-Dollar Pier.

HAWORTH'S FIGHTING BUNNY

Fierce Dog No Match for Jersey Clergyman's Pet Rabbit.

Special to The New York Times.

HAWORTH, N. J., Feb. 18.—This is a peaceful town under ordinary conditions and little or nothing happens to disturb its calm. In former times the greatest excitement that came to the place was provided by the few persons who beat "Col. Bogey" on the golf course. In the last few weeks, however, a new topic of neighborhood gossip has come to the front. Now, when one Haworthian meets another, he asks:

"Has your dog been licked by Mr. Jones's rabbit?"

This is not asked of outsiders, because your true Haworthian (not Hayworthian, please!) is jealous of the prestige of his town, and man is prone to be skeptical. It is a fact, nevertheless, that the Rev. Mr. Jones's pet has developed scrapping qualities that lead some persons to believe there is more truth than fiction in the story of the potency of "nigger gin."

In some parts of the South it is told that a negro was brought before a Magistrate for disorderly conduct.

"What have you got to say, Sam?" the Magistrate asked.

"Yoh Honor," the defendant replied, "I ain't got no excuse to make 'ceptin' this: I went into Mr. Jim Street's saloon and I took jes' one drink of gin, not no more; jes' one drink. Yoh Honor, one drink of Street's gin would make a rabbit spit in a bulldog's face."

Until the Rev. Mr. Jones acquired his pet, this story was regarded as pure fiction. Now it has been demonstrated that a rabbit will do more than spit in a bulldog's face; nay, that he will fight that bulldog to a standstill.

Dr. Ettinger, Associate Superintendent of Schools in New York, has a dog that is known throughout Haworth as "Bruce" Ettinger. He is so fierce that Dr. Ettinger doesn't dare to allow him to roam at large. For all his life of three years and six months, this dog has been confined on a trolley wire. This wire confines his activities to 30 feet up and 30 feet down. The other day, Dr. Ettinger, as he came from his front door, found "Bruce" whimpering in the middle of his line. His face was scratched and he was thoroughly cowed. Dr. Ettinger could find no explanation for this until he learned that Dr. Cook, the black cat owned by Frank Knapp, a distinguished journalist, had been put hors de combat also under mysterious circumstances.

Then the good people of Haworth compared notes, and it was discovered that Dr. Jones's rabbit had emerged from its hutch and had ravaged the neighborhood.

Haworth feels that it is entitled to distinction, in view of the fact that, so far as records go, it has produced the only type extant of a fighting rabbit.

Fire Drives Students Into Snow.

NYACK, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Students of the Overlook Selleck School were driven out into the snow in their night clothes early to-day by a fire which burned the big building to the ground. The fire was attributed to defective electric wire insulation. The loss exceeded $50,000.

HANDBALL COURT FOR JAIL.

Commissioner Davis Orders an Addition to Queens Lockup.

Commissioner of Correction Katharine B. Davis paid a second visit to the Queens County Jail, in Long Island City, yesterday, this time accompanied by an architect, and she declared her strong belief in prisoners having outdoor exercise. There is a yard in the rear of the jail, but it is now surrounded by only an eight-foot wall. This, in the opinion of the Commissioner, would not deter any agile prisoner from making a dash to liberty, so immediately she is gonng to have the wall raised to a height of twenty feet.

As soon as this is completed a daily routine of outdoor exercises will be outlined for every prisoner in the jail. It is possible a handball court will be established for the younger men. Commissioner Davis learned that it is the custom of the jail authorities to let one prisoner after another use the blankets and bedding. She said this was a fruitful way of spreading disease, and one of the first things to be installed will be a sterilizing plant.

The Commissioner said that among the greatest needs of the institution was a chapel and hospital ward, and these will be included in an addition that will be begun this Spring.

Less Than Wholesale Cost

This year I have contracted to sell every $20, $25 and $27.50 suit and overcoat left in my stock on February 24th to a Western retailer for $12.50; and every $30, $35, $37.50 and $40 suit and overcoat for $16.50.

Before this wholesale closing out takes effect, I am going to allow you to select, for the next three days only, any suit or overcoat in the house at the price that the Western retailer would pay my wholesale department; because selling them this way gives me a chance to make a good customer out of each purchaser.

My position is unusual. Every garment I sell, even at this cut price, represents 100 per cent. profit to me because these 3,165 suits and 2,490 overcoats are part of the profits of the successful year's business just ending.

On Sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday Only
You Had Better Come Early. Plenty of Salesmen, However, to Wait On You.

1537 Smart Suits—1480 Overcoats

Unusual Conditions
My position in the clothing field is unique. I am a manufacturer; but in conjunction with my wholesale business I run a retail store, in which I sell clothing at wholesale prices.

Other manufacturers can't buy raw materials any cheaper than I, nor have they greater facilities for manufacturing; they have but one outlet—the Retailer; I have two—the Retailer and direct to the Consumer.

In this sale you are buying at less than cost of manufacture.

Guarantee Emphasized
These garments are the products of my own workshops, and remember, every suit and overcoat is guaranteed as though you bought it at full price. I am not going out of business. I will be here a good many years yet; so there's no doubt as to who will make good in case the clothes don't.

The Choice of Fabrics
The fabrics from which these garments are made are the product of the country's foremost mills, and are guaranteed both as to their quality and correctness.

The Suitings are blue, brown and gray mixtures, plain blue serges, pencil stripes, checks, club checks, plaids and shepherd plaids, in serges, worsteds, cheviots and all other good cloths. The Overcoatings embrace all the smart new effects, including chinchillas, lofty tweeds, cheviots and plain meltons and kerseys.

Suit and Overcoat Styles
The Suits are made in single and double breasted effects, in over fifteen different styles, ranging from the extreme smart English styles for the young man up to the more staple effects. Some Suits are half lined, others full lined. Most can be worn now and well into the hot weather time. The overcoat styles are new and smart, and include many smart Balmacaan models and Spring-weight topcoats.
